Two Fine Trains.
Big Wet-Dry Fight.
All Skeletons Alike.
France Thinks and Acts.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

THIS is written on the Pennsylvania Railroad's "Broadway Limited" from Chicago to New York.

Downtown Chicago is quiet and peaceful on Sunday, State street empty, the big office buildings vacant, waiting for Monday's rush.

Pulling out of Chicago this Pennsylvania Broadway Limited and the New York Central's "Advance Twentieth Century," roll side by side on parallel tracks.

PASSENGERS and porters look through the windows hoping for a race. But the American engineers are too wise for that. Each is convinced that he could outrace the other, and looks "foul scorn" at his fellow member of the brotherhood.

SOON the giant locomotives separate, the Twentieth Century traveling along the lakes to Cleveland and Buffalo, the Broadway Limited running through Ft. Wayne, Pittsburgh, Philadelphia. Traveling nearly a thousand miles by paths far separated they arrive in New York at the same hour. No other country in the world can show such trains, or anything to compare with them.

CHICAGO and all Illinois are deeply interested already in the coming senatorial fight between Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick, Republican bone dry, and James Hamilton Lewis, Democrat dripping wet. Mrs. McCormick, having beaten Deneen, will get the heavy Republican and prohibition vote in Southern Illinois. What Chicago will do remains to be seen.

CHICAGOANS are not anxious to drink. But Chicago, tired of gunmen, racketeering, hijacking, attributes their activities to bootlegging and attributes bootlegging to prohibition.

QUEEN VICTORIA, of Sweden, a kindly woman, is buried in the royal family vault with former kings and queens. Much ceremony, many of the people gather and weep politely. But once dead, they become skeletons much alike, whether it be the incomparable fighter Charles the Twelfth, superb Gustavus Adolphus, or a royal descendent of the French lawyer Bernadotte, whose son was made marshal by Napoleon and king of Sweden by ingenious intrigue.

THE French people think logically, act promptly. That has kept them a great nation since the days of Pepin the Short and his son Charlemagne.

The French did not like the actions of Chinese Communists on the border of Tongking, which belongs to France.

France sent no protest to Russia about Communism, but sent troops and flying machines to the border, killed 500 of the Chinese, surrounded, bombarded and captured the Communist town of Lungchow.

NEXT the French captured five Russians accused of aiding the rebels, stood them up against the wall with many Chinese Communists and shot them all to death with machine guns.

Pacifism is all right sentimentally, but it doesn't interest the French when there is real work to be done.

OUR kind-hearted United States Senator Lynn J. Frazier, of North Dakota, says war isn't necessary at all. He wants the United States to prove its sincerity and put an end to all war by abolishing our Army and Navy, and writing into the Constitution a clause that would make "war for any purpose illegal."

That would amuse the French. It would also amuse some Americans who remember that not long ago an amendment to the Constitution made all alcohol above one-half of one per cent illegal.

IN Berlin a cock-tail-making competition is won by a moving picture star, Lillian Harvey. Her prescription is one-third lemon juice, one-third gin, one-third cointreau.

Second prize is won by a mixture of port wine, brandy and cordial medoc. Everything mentioned except the lemon juice is a poison.

This country did no favor to Europe when it sent our foolish money spenders over to make popular the cocktail, most harmful of all alcoholic concoctions.

THE foreign naval parley decided that the United States shall junk the battleships Utah and Florida.

It doesn't matter much since battleships are out of date, nothing but targets for airplane bombs.

But it seems a little strange for the United States to be told in London which of its battleships to junk.

What ships in your opinion will the British or the Japanese now sink? Nothing worth keeping, you may be sure.

300 MINERS ROUTED BY FLAMES

Air Supply Is Shut Off But Workers Make Way To Safety at Carnegie

Three hundred miners were forced to flee from the Mansfield mine of the Pittsburgh Coal Company at Carnegie today when fire broke out in a transformer in a fan house supplying fresh air to the mine.

The flames crippled a huge fan and prevented the circulation of air through the workings. Officials immediately ordered the workmen from the mine.

Mt. Lebanon firemen extinguished the blaze in the fanhouse, located in Cochran road, Mt. Lebanon. The damage was estimated at $300.

All work will be suspended at the mine until the ventilation system is in operation again.

DAVID WARFIELD RECOVERING

NEW YORK, April 14.—(AP.)—The condition of David Warfield, veteran actor, was described by his surgeon today as very satisfactory after an operation at Post Graduate Hospital.

Warfield, has been at the hospital three weeks and underwent a "rather serious" operation, the surgeon, Dr. John D. Stewart said. The nature of the actor's illness was not disclosed, but Dr. Stewart said:

"In fact, for a man of his age, his condition is very satisfactory."

Previously it had been reported that the actor had undergone three operations and that he was critically ill, although representatives of the hospital said the actor was out of danger and that his condition was good.

Torn Scraps of Paper Reveal Clue; Friends of Victim Are Questioned.

WASHINGTON, April 14.—A handful of torn scraps of paper found near the body of Miss Mary Baker, 28-year-old Navy Department clerk, was regarded by the police today as an important clue in their search for the person who murdered her and then threw her body into a culvert on the edge of the Arlington National Cemetery.

Although they declined to reveal what had been written on the paper, they said it had disclosed that revenge was at least a partial motive in the case. The scraps of paper were pieced together with considerable difficulty.

CAR LEADS TO SEARCH

Miss Baker's body was found at noon on Saturday after an extensive search which began after the discovery of her abandoned automobile, which was streaked

CEREAL HEIRESS ON RUNAWAY HONEYMOON

C. W. Post's Granddaughter Elopes With Author of 'Strictly Dishonorable'

NEW YORK, April 14.—(AP.)—Eleanor Post Hutton, 20, heiress granddaughter of the late C. W. Post, cereal manufacturer, was on a runaway honeymoon today as the bride of Preston Sturges, playwright.

In the face of opposition to the match by her mother, the former Marjorie Post, and her stepfather, Edward F. Hutton, the couple were married Saturday. Members of the Hutton family have declined to reveal the whereabouts of the honeymooners.

GIRL DETERMINED TO MARRY

The romance between the debutante and the author of "Strictly Dishonorable," one of the season's Broadway hits, has been known in society circles for several weeks. It was also known that she was determined to marry him with or without their consent.

Miss Hutton was presented to society at a ball in the Ritz-Carlton Hotel in 1927. In 1928 she was one of eight American women presented at the Court of St. James. She is a member of the Junior League.

Both she and her older sister, the former Adelaide Brevoort Hutton, who was married in November, 1926, to Thomas Wells, an employe of her stepfather's brokerage firm, are daughters of Mrs. Hutton by a former marriage. Their father is Edward B. Close, whose marriage to their mother was dissolved by divorce in 1919. Mr. Close remarried. His second wife was Elizabeth Taliafero, of Houston, Tex.

Mr. Sturges is in his early thirties. He had been married to the former Estelle M. Mudge, now the widow of Draper M. Daugherty, son of the former United States Attorney General, Harry Daugherty.

SENATORS HEED 'PLAY BALL'

WASHINGTON, April 14.—(AP.)—Yielding to the boy that's in them, members of the Senate adjourned at 1:40 p. m. today until tomorrow to enable members to attend the opening game of the 1930 baseball season.

Low-hanging clouds held a threat of rain as the Washington Senators and the Boston Red Sox prepared to pry the lid off the 1930 American League baseball season here this afternoon. Weather observers provided the army of opening-day fans with some cheer by predicting that the showers probably would hold off until late afternoon or evening.

President Hoover, who is scheduled to toss out the first ball, sent word from the White House that he would not attend the game if rain seemed probable.

Marberry is Washington's mound choice for the inaugural, and McFayden is expected to do the pitching for Boston.

Other clubs in the American League and all clubs in the National League are to start their pennant fights tomorrow.

Nancy Bowen Will Not Plead Guilty

BUFFALO, N. Y., April 14.—(AP.)—Nancy Bowen, aged Indian woman under indictment for murder in connection with the slaying of Mrs. Clothilde Marchand, wife of the artist, Henri Marchand, will not plead guilty to a reduced charge, but will go on trial in the near future, it was announced today.

Lila Jimerson, Indian woman, who pleaded guilty to a reduced charge of murder, second degree, in the Marchand case, and whose trial was halted suddenly by her collapse through illness, still is in City Hospital.

$50,000 SET BY HIGH COURT

Protest on Charge Claiming Fear of Wasson-Calvert $410,000 'Loss' Upheld

The Pennsylvania Supreme Court, sitting in Philadelphia, today sliced in half the $100,000 legal fee which Judge James B. Drew had awarded Attorney A. M. Replogle and the law firm of Thorp, Bostwick, Stewart & Reed for their services to the estate of Mrs. Eleanor H. Davidson.

The lawyers had contended they saved the Davidson estate $410,000, which they charged had been lost by the mismanagement of the estate's committee, former Judge Henry G. Wasson and Attorney George H. Calvert.

CLAIM DENIED

Attorney Frank C. McGirr, counsel for Mrs. Davidson's relatives, had argued that this sum was never in danger as the committee was under bond. McGirr appealed to the Supreme Court following Judge Drew's decision.

In reducing the fee to $50,000 the Supreme Court ordered that the costs be paid out of the Davidson estate.

Wasson and Calvert resigned the committee and disbarment proceedings have been instituted against them.

3,000 Voters Attacked By Bar

The Allegheny County Bar Association today petitioned the Registration Commission to strike off from the registration lists the names of 3,000 voters in the Third Ward who were described as illegally registered.

The first petition was filed by Attorney Don C. Anderson, of the association's election fraud committee. Additional petitions will bring the total to 3,000, he said.

The petition charges that some voted on tax receipts which they hadn't paid for or authorized payment, and that some of the receipts were forged.

Snyder's Sentence $2,500 or 3 Months

POTTSVILLE, Pa., April 14.—(AP.)—District Attorney Charles A. Snyder, former state treasurer, was sentenced in Schuylkill County Court today to pay a fine of $2,500 or serve three months in jail in connection with his conviction last week on charges of contempt of court.

The sentence, however, is automatically stayed by a writ of supersedeas granted last week by the Supreme Court, in connection with the disbarment proceedings against Snyder. Both actions, which resulted in convictions before the County Court, developed from the primary election campaign last September.

'Love' Wired to Wife Here Traps 3 in Mail Fraud

Three men were under arrest in New York today as members of a gang which victimized one Pittsburgher and tried to victimize two others.

They can blame their arrest on a Pittsburgh wife. When she received a telegram signed "Love from John," her husband, who was en route to Europe, she became suspicious, because "John" hadn't used the word "love" in endearment for many years.

This telegram instructed her to accept a C. O. D package which would follow. She notified the police.

She outwitted the forgers, but they succeeded in another case—that of Dr. P. W. Bushong, of 1824 Webster avenue. Dr. Bushong was en route to the West Indies, when his secretary, Mrs. Katherine Ackerman, received a telegram bearing his signature which ordered her to pay for a C. O. D. package which would follow.

When the package was delivered by Railway Express Agency she paid over the necessary $88.

About the same time the secretaries of two prominent business men, who were en route to Europe, received similar wires, but they refused the packages.

In each case the packages were worthless. Dr. Bushong's contained three pieces of cloth.

Police said at least 30 similar frauds have occurred in the last month. The men under arrest are charged with suspicion of forgery.

OUSTED 'BOY SHERIFF' HELD IN PROSECUTOR'S SLAYING

BOOTLEG FOE AMBUSHED IN HOME

Prisoner Under Sentence For Rum Graft; District Attorney Freed of Plot

MAUSTON, Wis., April 14.—(AP.)—Lyall Wright, ousted "boy sheriff" of Juneau County, was arrested today for questioning in connection with the slaying from ambush of Clinton G. Price, district attorney, known as the "enemy of bootleggers." Price was shot by an assailant hidden outside the kitchen door of his home.

There was a large cut on Wright's hand, which was bandaged, and his clothes were bloody. He resisted arrest officers said, and they had to use force. Two youths, Clifford Barr and Ralph Remington, said they had been with Wright on a fishing trip and drinking party.

After his recent acquittal on federal charges of conspiracy to violate the prohibition law Price asserted he would blow the lid off the Juneau County booze situation.

Wright was the principal witness against Price.

'BOY SHERIFF' CONVICTED

Price had started down a flight of stairs from the kitchen last night when a shotgun charge was fired through a screen door into his back. He staggered back a few steps to where his wife stood, and collapsed at her feet. He died early today.

Wright attempted to have released to his custody seven men taken in a raid on an alcohol distillery near Kilbourn, Wis., in the fall of 1928. State agents, left in charge of the still, charged he tasted the alcohol and said he knew it was good because he had it before.

On this information Fred R. Zimmerman, then governor, ousted the "boy sheriff" from office.

Wright was indicted by a federal grand jury last year and convicted. Price was indicted also, chiefly on Wright's accusations that the district attorney demanded a "split" in protection fees. Price was acquitted.

SHOTGUN FOUND

Wright was sentenced to eight months in the Milwaukee House of Correction and a fine of $500, but was at liberty on a two weeks' stay.

Sheriff Hempelman found a shotgun with which it is presumed Price was killed. It was in the water at a spot where a boat had been beached near Price's home.

DEFENSE URGED BY D. A. R. HEAD

WASHINGTON, April 14.—(INS.)—Stressing the need of America for Americans, Mrs. Lowell Fletcher Hobart, president general of the Daughters of the American Revolution, opened the thirty-ninth congress of that organization in Constitution Hall today. She said:

"A constant succession of distinguished men and daring women have brought this nation thus far. Buttressed by their fidelity, the United States has become powerful. What do we propose to do as the result of their labors?

"If they built ships, do we intend to scrap and sink them?

"If they provided for common defense, shall we shackle our defense forces?

"If they counseled 'no entangling alliances,' can they depend upon you to heed their advice based on knowledge of ancient and contemporary government?"

Mrs. Anthony Wayne Cook, of Cooksburg, Pa., honorary president general, appealed for dry enforcement.

Park Laws Ruled Up to State Courts

WASHINGTON, April 14.—(AP.)—The Supreme Court today refused to reconsider its decision sustaining the validity of the Ohio act, creating metropolitan park districts at Cleveland and Akron, and upholding that provision of the state constitution which restricts the powers of the state Supreme Court in passing on the constitutionality of state laws.

GRAIN FUTURES BAN OPPOSED

WASHINGTON, April 14.—(AP.)—Chairman Legge, of the Farm Board, announced today he had advised Chairman McNary, of the Senate Agriculture Committee, that a pending Senate bill to prevent the sale of cotton and grain in futures markets was too drastic.

"We believe," he said, "that decided improvement in the present system could be accomplished if the exchanges were placed under proper supervision and control of the Department of Agriculture, with power to intervene whenever operations are antagonistic to the best interests of producers or consumers."

Informed of Legge's announcement, Senator Caraway (Dem.), Arkansas, who introduced the bill, said off the floor:

"Mr. Legge's statement discloses what I think everybody has realized, that when he is called upon to sacrifice the gamblers in the cotton and grain exchanges or the farmers, he prefers that the farmers shall suffer."

Anti-Dry Rebuttal Testimony Delayed

WASHINGTON, April 14.—(AP.)—Anti-prohibition rebuttal testimony to have been heard Wednesday by the House Judiciary Committee on measures to repeal the Eighteenth Amendment has been postponed by Chairman Graham until April 23, to give his group time in which to consider other business.

Representative Linthicum, Democrat, Maryland, in charge of the wet witnesses, expects again to present Pierre S. du Pont, of Wilmington, Del., industrial magnate, as one of the principal repeal advocates.

SENATE DELAYS PARKER ACTION

WASHINGTON, April 14—(AP.)—Action on the nomination of Judge John J. Parker, of North Carolina, to be an associate justice of the Supreme Court, was deferred for a week today by the Senate Judiciary Committee.

A favorable report was submitted to the committee by the subcommittee which held hearings on the nomination, but there were requests for more time to consider the case.

Some Republican Regulars have been reported in doubt following vigorous protests against confirmation of Parker from organized labor and Negro organizations.

Administration leaders were understood at the Capitol to be satisfied with the program of delay. Answers to the objections of labor and the Negroes have been promised by the administration. Yesterday, the Department of Justice issued a memorandum defending his decision in the injunction proceedings against which the American Federation of Labor has complained.

with blood and more evidences of a struggle.

The pretty daughter of a Virginia Episcopal clergyman, she had been badly beaten and shot three times. One bullet, through the back, had been fired at considerable range. The other two, through the neck and right side, had been fired from very close range.

The authorities have been questioning Miss Baker's friends, and one of them, Fred Wilson, of Takoma Park, Maryland, yesterday was submitted to a rigorous cross-examination. He was released after he furnished police with a satisfactory alibi.

BEATING REPORTED

An unidentified man was seen beating a girl, believed Miss Baker, near the Navy Department Building Friday night.

Police quizzed two young men who reported the incident.

The youths said that while strolling in front of the Navy Building they noticed a couple in a closed parked car, the man administering a severe beating to his woman companion. They notified police, but the car was driven away in the direction of the Highway Bridge, which leads across the Potomac to the spot where Miss Baker's body was found.

LIPTON AND U. S. LAUNCH CUP RACERS

America Puts Forth Four Defenders for Contest; 4 Million Spent on Event

BRISTOL, R. I., April 14.—(AP.)—The Enterprise, the first of four prospective defenders of the America's Cup to be completed, was launched here today shortly after a similar event had disturbed the other side of the Atlantic at Gosport, England, where Sir Thomas Lipton's challenger, the Shamrock V., slid down the ways.

The Enterprise bore the name of a famous little Navy schooner, "The Lucky Little Enterprise," which helped bring the Barbary pirates to terms a century ago.

She is smaller than the other three prospective defenders and slightly smaller than Sir Thomas' challenger.

At the Lawley yard in Boston, that city's contender, the Yankee, is almost ready for launching. The fourth contender, the Weetamoe, built for the Morgan-Nichols syndicate, also is nearing completion.

The Enterprise and the other prospective defenders furnish a marked contrast to defenders of other years. They are sturdy, able vessels, little resembling the racing machines which turned back the doughty Irish sportsman on four previous invasions. The reason for this is the international racing rules agreed upon, which calls for Lloyd's specifications in construction.

Yachtsmen generally agree that Sir Thomas' chances of victory will be better than ever before. This summer's racing will represent expenditure of at least $4,000,000, it has been estimated.

SHAMROCK 'MYSTERY'

GOSPORT, England, April 14.—(INS.)—With appropriate ceremony and a bottle of vintage champagne, the Shamrock V, Sir Thomas Lipton's new yacht with which he hopes to recapture the America cup for England, was launched here today.

Built to specifications that call for an ultimate outlay of approximately $1,000,000, the new Shamrock embodies revolutionary principles in yacht design, and Sir Thomas is confident he will succeed in lifting the America cup in the races off Newport, R. I., next September.

The new Shamrock is something of a "mystery ship," for Sir Thomas has guarded carefully the secrets of her revolutionary design.

The party of four, guided by Denis Finchhatton, famous guide who is now leading the Prince of Wales on his expedition, entered Africa in the North and traveled along the Nile into Uganda.

They covered the northern half of the country getting specimens for the American Museum of Natural History, in New York. The southern section, in which Carnegie Museum has scientic rights, was combed for new specimens.

"Some of this country was virgin territory and we may have some very good things," Boulton said. "We had a great trip but we're glad to get back. Eight months without mail—we were out of touch a long time."

Poison Murder Case Goes to Grand Jury

TOPEKA, Kan., April 14.—(AP.)—Evidence upon which the government will ask indictment of Maj. Charles A. Shepard, 59, Army surgeon, on a charge of first degree murder for the alleged poison killing of his wife at Fort Riley, Kan., last July, was ready for presentation to a federal grand jury today. GIRL AIDS HUNT FOR AVIATOR

CHICAGO, April 14.—(INS.)—Undaunted by the failure of searching planes to locate Ralph Fisher Skelton, artist-pilot believed forced down in Lake Michigan, Miss Betty Cook, wealthy young artist, today planned to lead a flight of planes in search of the aviator.

Skelton disappeared Thursday after his take-off from Ann Arbor, Mich., for a flight across the lake to Chicago. His flight over water was planned as part of his training for a contemplated trans-Atlantic hop this summer. He was returning from the aviation show at Detroit.

Miss Cook, a protege and friend of Skelton, cruised above the sand dunes, the lake shore and cut timberland between Kalamazoo and Holland, Mich., for five hours yesterday. Several other planes assisted in the search, but no trace of the missing flier was found.

40 Planes Seeking Lost Student Flier

VALLEY STREAM, N. Y., April 14.—(AP.)—Almost 24 hours after he left Curtiss-Wright field here on a short flight nothing had been heard today of Ralph J. White, 29, a student flier. Forty planes were in the air searching Long Island and Long Island Sound and as far as 50 miles at sea.

A heavy fog came rolling in from the sea a short time after White took off yesterday and it was feared he had crashed in an inaccessible spot.

UNION TRUCK DRIVERS STRIKE

Walkout Laid to Discharge Of Men by Transfer Firm; Taxi Service Continues

A number of truck drivers employed by the Pennsylvania Transfer Company quit work today, slightly handicapping the movement of freight from railroad stations.

The number of men reported out ranged from 12 to 60, according to the varying estimates of the company and representatives of the truck drivers.

According to J. A. Weber, operating manager of the company, about a dozen drivers refused to join the Pennsylvania Transfer Company Mutual Benefit Association, which was to take the place of their former affiliation with Local No. 249, International Brotherhood of Teamsters, Chauffeurs, Stablemen and Helpers of America. Weber said all trucks were running as usual today.

Striking taxicab drivers belong to Local No. 249-A of the same union, but they have not been officially recognized by the American Federation of Labor.

CLAIMS VARY

Their failure to withdraw from the union and join the association resulted in their dismissal, Weber said. The other 55 drivers remained on duty, he declared.

Sixty men are on strike, according to Jack McCarthy, representative of Local 249. The Pennsylvania Transfer Company was taken over shortly after the first of the year, he said, by Scott Brothers, a Philadelphia concern. The union was recognized by the former local owners, he said.

Within the last few days, several of the union men had been discharged, McCarthy said, and this precipitated the strike. John Clarke, president of Local No. 249, and William Arensberg, steward, are in charge of the strikers.

TAXIS STILL RUN

Limited taxicab service was offered again today in the downtown, Oakland and East Liberty districts. Last night the cabs were operated until midnight, with special police on duty to prevent violence.

Ernest H. Miller, president of the Parmelee Transportation Company, was in the city today, and he declined to comment on the plan of arbitration proposed by local clergymen. E. S. Higgins, vice president of the company, said the plan was being studied and a reply would be made soon.

Walter S. Laird, president of the Yellow Cab Company, today said that more than three-fourths of the drivers now working for the cab companies here are former strikers who have returned to work. He made this statement in the form of an advertisement published in the newspapers.

STRIKERS' HEARING TODAY

Seven striking taxi drivers, charged with contempt of court for alleged violation of the injunction against violence, were ordered to appear before Judge James H. Gray at 3 p. m., today, for disposition.

Three of the defendants—Joseph DeRocco, Louis Drisky and Chlorice Frech—were adjudged in contempt by the late Judge Richard W. Martin, who died before disposing of the cases. The others are Paul J. Reagan, "Bud" Thomas, Jerome King and Philip Azarra, charges against whom were heard by Judge Gray.

Probe Death of Two In Auto Smashup

YORK, Pa., April 14.—(AP.)—Police authorities today were investigating the finding of two men shot to death last night in a wrecked automobile. The dead men, Erich A. Geigle and Sandovis Saturnino, both of Philadelphia, each had 38-caliber bullet wounds in the head. The police theory is that Saturnino killed Geigle and then shot himself.

Geigle and Saturnino were textile workers and had taken parts in strikes. Geigle recently went to work and, police believe, Saturnino was sent to York to take Geigle "for a ride."

Pastor Lauds Cartoonist, McManus Shares Pulpit

NEW YORK, April 14.—(Universal)—George McManus, creator of the newspaper comic strip, "Bringing Up Father," shared the pulpit of the Broadway Temple Methodist Church.

The Rev. Christian F. Reisner, pastor of the church, said to his congregation:

"I am glad to have George McManus, the distinguished cartoonist, in my pulpit tonight.

"He is a representative of a large group who today do much to increase happiness. We need a sense of humor developed. We are too serious and solemn and strenuous. Laughs often save from insanity.

"Cartoonists are forceful, for they catch the eye of the man in a rush or with poor eyesight or even often with a sluggish mind, because they make a joke or humor so vivid."

Brown is aligned with the Davis faction. Commenting on the recommendation given him and Grundy by W. L. Mellon, nephew of the treasury secretary, Secretary Davis said:

"We are always glad to have anybody indorse one of our candidates," adding it was an admission that "we have selected candidates whose ability demands universal support."

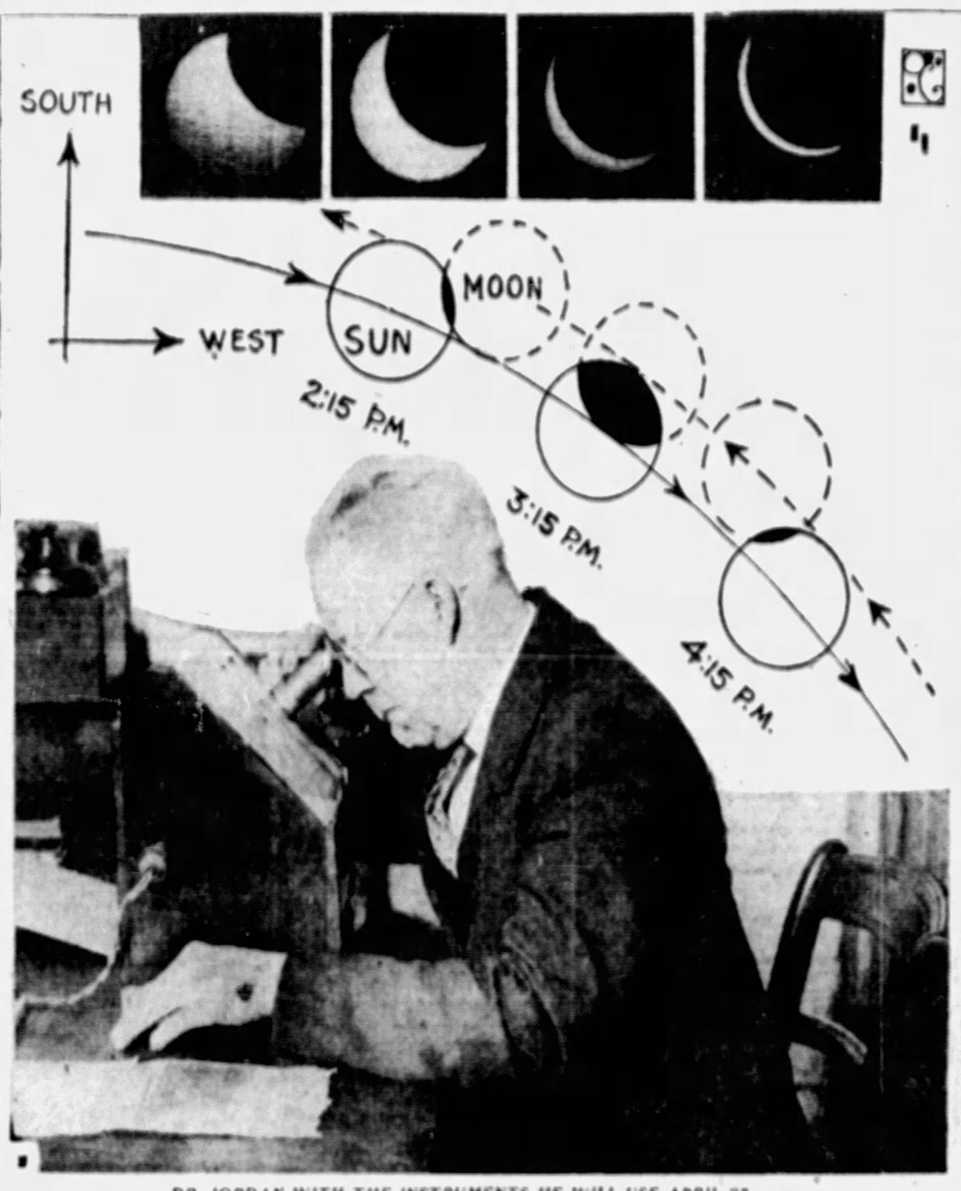
HOW PITTSBURGH WILL SEE PARTIAL ECLIPSE OF THE SUN

IT'S VISIBLE NOW!

Dr. Jordan says the partial eclipse will be visible at 2:05 p. m.



DR. JORDAN WITH THE INSTRUMENTS HE WILL USE APRIL 28

Dr. F. C. Jordan, assistant observer at the Allegheny Observatory, with the instruments he will use during the eclipse. Above is his drawing of the paths the sun and moon will follow, and at the top are photos of the various stages of the eclipse January 24, 1925, taken by a Pittsburgher.

THE LAST ANNULAR ECLIPSE

This photo of the last full eclipse of the sun, January 24, 1925, was taken by a Pittsburgher. Note the effulgence of the brilliant planet visible around the rim of the moon's shadow. The partial eclipse will be visible here on April 28, Dr. Jordan said.

IT'LL BE OVER AT 3:30 P. M.

When the clock's hands reach this position, it will be over.

ECLIPSE OF SUN STUDIED HERE

Astronomers of the Allegheny Observatory, in common with those in other parts of the country, are preparing to study an eclipse of the sun, scheduled for April 28.

It will be only partial in Pittsburgh and will be at its maximum at 3:15 p. m.

In the Pacific Coast states the eclipse will be total for a brief period.

Dr. Herbert D. Curtis, director of Allegheny Observatory, has gone to Gerlach, Nev., to study the phenomenon, hoping in the half minute during which it will be maximum to make a worthwhile study of the flash spectrum.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., April 14.—(AP.)—Forces opposing the merger of Youngstown Sheet and Tube Company with Bethlehem Steel Corporation, quietly worked at laying battle lines last night under the leadership of Cyrus S. Eaton, Cleveland financier.

"The merger has been voted but it is not consummated," declared Eaton. "It will be tried on its merits."

Meantime Washington dispatches have been received to the effect that an investigation of the merger will be made by the Federal Department of Justice to determine whether any restraint of trade might result from the combine.

Eaton forces contemplate filing a suit in Federal Court at Cleveland to test the merger under the Clayton and Sherman anti-trust acts.

This was indicated by Attorney Harold T. Clark, of Squire, Sanders and Dempsey, Eaton's attorneys, when he was here. He said the opposition believed large blocks of stock had been brought by Bethlehem in order to vote it for the merger.

RADIO CONTROL IN COURT TEST

WASHINGTON, April 14.—(INS.)—The fate of the federal radio act was placed in the lap of the Supreme Court today with the filing of a certificate from the Seventh Circuit Court of Appeals in the "WCRU" case of Chicago.

Upon its outcome depends the whole future of governmental control over the vast broadcasting network of the nation.

The case developed when the Radio Commission reduced the power of station "WCRU," owned by Clinton R. White. He sought an injunction, gaining a property right which could not be taken away without violating the federal Constitution.

This claim was vested right, heretofore, often avoided goes to the heart of radio regulation. Senator Dill (Dem.), of Washington, Senate radio expert, declares that a constitutional amendment will be proposed if the courts hold that there is a vested right in broadcasting stations established before federal regulation.

JURY TO PROBE 'BURIAL ALIVE'

GRAYSON, Ky., April 14.—(AP.)—A Carter County grand jury, convening here today, is to be called upon to decide an unusual question—whether Mrs. Susie Vickers, 63, of Denton, Ky., for whom funeral services were held March 29, was buried alive.

Judge O. W. Wolfford has announced that the grand jury will investigate the burial of Mrs. Vickers, after two former employers of the woman, Mrs. George S. Clay and Mrs. Honchell Johnson, of Catlettsburg, Ky., had requested a probe. Mrs. Clay and Mrs. Johnson said their former employe was subject to fainting spells and would remain in a coma for hours, and that they understood she was buried without the services of an undertaker. They told the judge that several persons at the woman's funeral had told them that moisture was wiped from her face twice during the services.

POPE BESTOWS COMMUNION

The Pope will act again in this service Holy Thursday, administering to members of his Ecclesiastical Court, while on Easter morning the Pontiff may bestow the blessed sacrament on several children of diplomats accredited to the Holy See.

This Easter mass usually celebrated in the Pauline Chapel has been for many years attended by members of the Pope's immediate family to receive holy communion from his hands.

4 AID CLUE HUNT IN GANG KILLING

County detectives investigating the barrel murder mystery today announced they have rounded up four witnesses who claim to have seen a car resembling that owned by Phillip Fazio near the spot where the headless body of William J. Gregory was found nearly three weeks ago in Penn Township.

The witnesses told detectives they saw the auto near the place where the murdered man was found the night before the discovery of his body.

Detectives kept the identity of the witnesses secret, but today took them to Clairton to have them attempt to identify Fazio's automobile. Two witnesses are women.

The inquest into the slaying of Gregory was set by Chief Deputy Coroner John S. Aldisert today for the week of April 21.

While awaiting reports from County Chemist F. C. Buckmaster who made chemical analyses of stains found on two bricks, a glove and a wrench found in the Lorigan street wildcat brewery headquarters of Phillip Fazio, Clairton racketeer, suspect in the murder, county detectives planned to confer with Chief George W. Murren as to further investigations into the slaying.

Detectives believe Gregory was put "on the spot" for an alleged "double-cross."

Finger prints found on an electric light bulb in the Lorigan street brewery were identified as Fazio's. One print, particularly, Detective Frank Ritz declares, matches the print of the suspect's right little finger. A smear resembling blood is being analyzed by Buckmaster.

Wales and Native Chiefs In Picturesque Meeting

KHARTOUM, Sudan, Africa, April 14.—(AP.)—The Prince of Wales received 30 native leaders, representative of many sections of public and religious life in the Sudan, at a picturesque reception today in the historic palace of Khartoum.

Among them was Sir Abdel Rahman el Mahdi, eldest living son of the leader of the Dervishes who killed Gen. "Chinese" Gordon in 1885. Many of the guests wore gorgeous, richly-embroidered robes and large jeweled swords.

The Prince and his party reached here yesterday afternoon after a 400-mile flight in 12 airplanes from Malakal.

During the royal party's hunting trip in Africa the Prince and his equerries have taken 7,000 feet of motion picture film.

One of the best pictures was taken on the voyage down the Nile, where 300 elephants were seen crossing a deep gully. When two of them got into difficulties the other members of the herd stopped to assist them, and the Prince, getting within 40 yards of them, took excellent pictures.

Russ Poet Who Criticized Suicide Kills Self

MOSCOW, April 14.—(INS.)—Vladimir Mayakovsky, 36, most famous of the poets and playwrights of the revolutionary period, shot himself to death today. He was believed to have had an unfortunate love affair.

Mayakovsky was expelled from the Communist party several years ago.

The suicide of the futurist poet caused a tremendous sensation in artistic circles. This is the second instance in recent years in which a Soviet poet has killed himself, Serge Yesenin, husband of the late Isadora Duncan, having committed suicide in Leningrad in 1925.

Mayakovsky had frequently condemned Yesenin's suicide, and much mystery, therefore, surrounds his own act. He left a farewell letter to his comrades, saying:

"I know that suicide is not the way to solve our difficulties, but I had to do it. The best memorial for me will be when my friends lead the world to a better future."

NEW YORK, April 14.—(AP.)—Vladimir Mayakovsky achieved his greatest popularity during the Russian revolution, when he accompanied Leon Trotsky on a speaking tour, reciting his poetry after Trotsky's speeches.

He was 36 years old and looked more like a prizefighter than a poet, according to his Russian friends in America.

He is charged with interfering with and assaulting government officers.

Agents testified that young Randa struck Agent Paul A. Reilly during the raid. Then some one in the crowd threw a brick and struck Reilly in the forehead. Another agent, Michael Cimbalista, was knocked down by a brick.

At the hearing, three alleged operators of the still, Tony Furestino, Baldasfare Male and Rocco Emeromso, were held for court under $2,000 bond on charges of possessing and manufacturing liquor.

Raider's 'Hunch' Leads to Big Rum Haul

NEW YORK, April 14.—(AP.)—A "hunch" which came to Deputy Surveyor John H. McGill, head of the customs enforcement bureau, while he was listening to his radio Saturday night, resulted in the capture yesterday of the $25,000 subchaser Junior Annapolis, with a cargo of 2,000 sacks of high-grade liquors, valued at about $200,000, and the arrest of her crew of seven.

The hunch, McGill said, came to him in the form of a song, "Three O'clock in the Morning," on the radio, and was strengthened by a dream in which he saw a sub-chaser "passing a long, protecting point of land." As a result he dispatched a Coast Guard boat to Rockaway Point, and the capture was effected.

There's no law against the old fashioned method of house hunting. But the new way of reading the Classified Ads is much better.

14 MORE JUDGES URGED FOR DRY ENFORCEMENT

West Virginia Congressman Offers Bill, Substitute For Hoover Board's Plan

WASHINGTON, April 14.—(AP.)—A proposal that 14 additional federal judges be appointed to relieve court congestion was advanced today by Representative Bachman, of West Virginia, a Republican member of the House Judiciary Committee.

He urged this program as a substitute for the legislation recommended by the Hoover Law Enforcement Commission to strengthen the enforcement of the prohibition laws. The commission's proposals have encountered considerable opposition.

NEW PLAN FAVORED

It is understood both drys and antis believe the Bachmann plan is a practical means of effecting immediate relief.

The West Virginian has embodied his program in a bill, prepared for introduction today. It is to be brought up for consideration by the Judiciary Committee on Wednesday.

Bachmann termed his program "somewhat conservative" and said he thought two more judges than he proposed could be used to good advantage.

His plan, he added, involves no constitutional question, such as the law-enforcement commission's proposal for juryless trials of minor offenders.

Prohibition Will Die Of 'Neglect,' Says Beck

NEW YORK, April 14.—(INS.)—That this generation will see "the death of prohibition" is the opinion of Representative James H. Peck, of Pennsylvania, former solicitor general of the United States, expressed last night at a mass meeting of women anti-prohibitionists. He predicted that in years to come no attempt to enforce the dry law would be made in sections where it was not popular.

Mrs. Florence Kahn, representative from California, said prohibition had increased dissipation among boys and girls.

DIGEST'S POLL SPLITS DRYS

WASHINGTON, April 14.—(Universal.)—The Literary Digest poll, showing an overwhelming sentiment against prohibition, has split the drys wide open, it has developed.

With other dry leaders calling upon prohibitionists not to vote in the poll, the Board of Temperance of the Methodist Episcopal Church today urged them to get in line.

"No dry should ever lose an opportunity to show his colors," the board declared in a statement.

"If you get more than one ballot, give the extra ballot to some friend who is qualified and who has received none."

Australia Returns Reveals Wet Victory

MELBOURNE, Australia, April 14.—(AP.)—The final count on the question of whether the state of Victoria should go wet or dry showed today that the drys had 419,005 votes and the wets 552,286. It was a record poll, with ballots cast by 95 per cent of those entitled to vote.

The election, held March 29, was a compulsory referendum on extension of the prohibition of alcoholic liquors throughout the state, which is the second largest in Australia. A three-fifths dry majority would have been necessary for prohibition victory.

RETAIL SELLING MOSTLY CASH

WASHINGTON, April 14. — (Universal.)—The bulk of the retail business of this country is still done on a cash basis and the losses resulting from credit extension are relatively low.

These outstanding facts were disclosed by the nation-wide retail credit study completed by the Commerce Department.

According to the final figures, representing an analysis of nearly five billions of dollars of sales through approximately 24,000 retail outlets, 58.6 per cent of total sales were for cash, 32.2 per cent on open credit, and 9.2 per cent on an installment basis. Of the total business, only three-tenths of 1 per cent was lost through bad debts. Of the credit business, amounting to $1,864,000,000, losses from bad debts amounted to six-tenths of 1 per cent on open-credit sales and 1.2 per cent on installment business.

One of the most significant facts disclosed is the excessively high general average of returns and allowances on regular charge account sales of 21.3 per cent. Women's wear and department stores were next with 14.3 and 14.2 per cent, respectively. Numerous individual stores were found with percentages as high as 25 or over.

ART TREASURES, STOLEN, FOUND

BERLIN, April 14.—(AP.)—The police here discovered in the possession of a West End art dealer 250 valuable etchings stolen from the National Library of Madrid in 1928 and 1929, for which the Madrid police have been vainly seeking ever since.

The etchings, which include 57 Rembrandts, five Buerers and five Lucas Van Leydens, were sold to the art dealer for 40,000 marks (about $9,600). The vendor described himself as Antonio Lopez, Madrid Librarian, and posed as the executor of the estate of a distinguished Spanish family.

The authorities have not yet traced him, but have notified the Madrid police.

CAR CONDUCTOR TELLS HOW NEW KONJOLA WORKED

Suffered Three Years — Famed Medicine First To Bring Relief From Ailments

Don't harbor any doubts about the merits of Konjola, the medicine that has been quick to win new fame and friends everywhere it has been introduced and put to the test. Get all the facts about this medicine that triumphs even after all else tried has been found wanting. Hear the remarkable story of this new and different medicine from the Konjola Man at the Dow Drug Store, Penn avenue and Sixth street, Pittsburgh. See for yourself how Konjola, taken after meals, works with the food you eat in cleansing and stimulating the ailing organs, and in aiding Nature in paving the way for the return of new and vigorous health.

Take, as a typical example of Konjola at work, the case of Mr. Mark P. Lovett, street car conductor, 40 East Roseridge avenue, Bellevue, Pittsburgh. After all, results are what count in any medicine, and Konjola's success rests upon its proven ability to give splendid results. Even though Konjola contains no alcohol, no nerve-deadening drugs, no heart-depressing chemicals, it quickly brings relief, and a treatment of from four to eight bottles brings amazing results. Read, now, the words of Mr. Lovett, who recently said to the Konjola Man:

"I was generally rundown in health. I was weak, tired and worn-out each morning. I had stomach trouble that caused gas and bloating after eating. I also had headaches and dizzy spells. I was in this condition for about three years. I spent hundreds of dollars in an effort to get relief. I have paid as high as fifty dollars for examinations.

"Someone recommended Konjola and I got some right away. I didn't notice any results until after the second bottle. Then I felt refreshed each morning and ready for my day's work as conductor for the Street Railway Company. The gas and bloating disappeared and my food digests a lot better. Headaches are less frequent and my bowels are in more normal condition. It is worth so much to get relief that I am glad to indorse Konjola."

Konjola will produce results that will amaze those with the most stubborn ailments. It is recommended that six or eight bottles be taken as a fair trial.

The Konjola Man is at the Dow Drug Store, Penn Avenue and Sixth Street, Pittsburgh, where he is meeting the public daily, introducing and explaining the merits of this new and different medicine. FREE SAMPLES GIVEN by the Konjola Man. Konjola is sold by all Dow Stores in Pittsburgh and vicinity.

Citizens Against League Court Mesh

By JOHN A. KENNEDY, Universal Service.

WASHINGTON, April 14.—That the citizens of America are determined not to become involved in the meshes of European intrigue through membership in the League of Nations' so-called World Court is signally emphasized by the results in Illinois last Tuesday when Ruth Hanna McCormick defeated Senator Charles Deneen by more than 200,000 plurality for the Republican senatorship nomination.

This is the view set forth in editorials from newspapers in widely scattered sections of the country commenting on the Illinois result. Excerpts from some of the more significant editorials follow:

New York Herald-Tribune

The dramatic and decisive defeat of United States Senator Deneen for renomination by Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick in Illinois, bears a vital relation to two important national issues—the World Court and prohibition. It represents more than a victory for a keen, able mind, a vivid, aggressive and positive personality and a woman, daughter of the late Senator Hanna, whose training for public service began in childhood.

The outstanding primary issue was the World Court. Mrs. McCormick is an implacable opponent of our participation. Senator Deneen defended his record of approval. The Illinois verdict will give strength to its opponents in the Senate and may make more difficult ratification of other pacts for cooperation with foreign nations.

Benton Harbor (Mich.) News-Palladium

The World Court is nothing but a League of Nations court. It is created by the League for the purpose of dealing with the League's judicial matters. We voted in 1920 to keep out of the League. In 1930 we're still voting to keep out of the League entanglements and away from League connections. Perhaps if we keep voting long enough and often enough against League involvements, Washington leadership some day will understand that we want to mind our own business and attend strictly to our own affairs.

Chicago Tribune

Mrs. McCormick had put the League Court issue in the foreground of her appeal and made it the chief subject of her very able discussion of public questions.

We believe Mrs. McCormick could have swept the nation as well as Illinois upon that issue, for it reaches the profound instinct and deepest conviction of the American people.

Deep in the consciousness of the American people is the will to be free from the tentacles of European politics. Our forefathers of each generation cherished that determination and have refused to be deceived by any plausible disguise for our entanglement. Mrs. McCormick voiced our ancient, our undying will to be free. She made herself champion of the political independence of the United States in world politics, and she has received an indorsement from her fellow citizens which will not be mistaken wherever there is political intelligence in the world.

Washington Post

Ruth Hanna McCormick's sweeping victory over Charles S. Deneen in the Illinois Senatorial primary is sufficient to send a chill along the spine of every Republican Senator who supports the so-called World Court. William McKinley was defeated for re-nomination because he had committed himself on the World Court and now Senator Deneen is beaten for the same reason. In Illinois any candidate for the United States Senate signs his death-warrant when he favors the adhesion of the United States to the so-called World Court.

There is reason to believe that the Republicans of other states are equally determined to defeat senators who support the court.

Lansing (Mich.) State Journal

The United States is more likely to remain out of the World Court because of the victory of Mrs. McCormick in the Illinois primary than because of anything that has happened in a long while.

Cleveland Plain Dealer

Mrs. McCormick based her appeal almost exclusively on the World Court issue. If elected in November, she will furnish one enthusiastic vote against Mr. Hoover's proposal that America be voted into the World Court under the Root formula.

Cincinnati Enquirer

Mrs. McCormick, so to speak, hazarded her political fortunes on one card—she opposed entry by the United States into the World Court, declaring that if elected she would vote against such entry.

She forced Senator Deneen, an advocate of the court, to meet the issue.

The campaign thus once more indicated with emphasis that American citizenship is not ready to have commerce with the League of Nations, directly or indirectly—a fact which some American pacifists and internationalists appear slow to realize.

The New York Times

The first claim, made by the victrix herself, is hard to refute: That Illinois Republicans are cool to the World Court proposal.

Philadelphia Public Ledger

Nominally, the issues in this senatorial primary contest were the World Court and the League of Nations. Mrs. McCormick is against the United States entering either. Senator Deneen, who had not hitherto exhibited much enthusiasm for this issue, defended his vote for the World Court.

CANCER CLINIC OPENS MAY 1

LOS ANGELES, April 14.—(Universal)—Opening of the permanent Coffey-Humber cancer treatment headquarters in the Kaspare Cohn Hospital has been tentatively set for about May 1, it was announced here.

Rapid progress in the organization of the hospital unit was revealed by Dr. John D. Humber, while several of the nation's leading specialists, delegates from the American College of Surgeons stood beside him at the weekly clinic, closely watching the work and examining the patients.

None of the visiting surgeons would comment on the treatment, but they were plainly interested in the work and anxious to obtain all information possible. They halted patient after patient as the long line passed by the table, asked dozens of questions, and closely examined diseased areas.

More than 700 patients were treated today. Scores of them reported improvement—lessening of pain, no further necessity for drugs, shrinking of malignant growths and the like.

REDISTRICTING HEARINGS SET

Final hearings in the redistricting of five Pittsburgh wards have been set for 3:30 o'clock this afternoon, the redistricting commission of Allegheny County announces. If no written complaints are filed, objecting to the new outlines, plans for the Sixth, Eighth, Twenty-seventh, Thirtieth and Thirty-second wards will be passed finally.

A continuance of the hearing for the Nineteenth Ward, begun April 3, is scheduled for the commission's rooms Wednesday night. It is to be the last open hearing for Pittsburgh. Commissioners David L. Lawrence, Mortimer B. Lesher and George E. Meyers are to preside.

NARCOTIC RINGS REAP HUGE PROFITS

Master Minds Direct Moves Of International Units Which Baffle Pursuers

That 600 per cent profit is made on the illicit sale of drugs by the big international dope gangs is revealed in the third of a series of six articles on the international drug menace.

By G. W. L. DA.:.

(Reprinted by Special Permission of the London Daily Herald.)

LONDON, April 14.—In every serious attack made on the dope traders, it soon became clear that the police were pitted against some of the sharpest brains in the world. Traffickers scarcely ever miss a trick.

They know to a "T" the loopholes in each country's laws. They know just how to shield themselves behind honest shipping firms and forwarding agents.

Their capital is so huge and their ramifications so wide that they can function with the freedom and efficiency of a modern business combine.

An actual instance will illustrate this. Its details were unraveled by the police of half a dozen countries, beginning with the arrest of two Russian merchants and a Russian doctor from Reval.

It was found that these men had built up an extremely closely-knit business in illicit drugs, with a special delivery service to the Far East and the United States.

Strong Backing

BACKED by a powerful American group, whose base was Valparaiso, they operated in Hamburg, then Liverpool and Cardiff, and finally from Copenhagen.

The doctor worked with friends in Rumania, buying large quantities of drugs from reputable German firms, and exporting them to Rumania, under cover of German export permits.

The goods were handed to an unsuspecting firm of Berlin forwarding agents and passed through customs with ease.

As soon as this had been done, bribed employes of the forwarding agents opened the cases at the bottom, removed the drugs and replaced them with harmless chemicals.

These were then forwarded to confederates in Rumania, while the genuine narcotics were passed into the illicit traffic for the Berlin retail market.

Whatever they failed to dispose of in this way was smuggled into Paris in the personal baggage of other accomplices.

Drugs Disguised

AFTER a time they set up a factory in Copenhagen. Here the drugs were dyed with bone carbon and mixed with spirit. Skillfully packed, they were dispatched to Russia as cosmetics, shaving sticks, shoe cream, boot polish and so forth.

The consignees, who were Japanese, received instructions with each lot for the recovery of the narcotics. They, in turn, had representatives all over the world.

When police finally got to the bottom of this amazing organization, simultaneous arrests were made in Berlin, Paris, Copenhagen, London, Harbin and Dairen.

The trading profits, it was found, had run into millions. Cocaine bought in Europe had been sold in Eastern Asia at 600 per cent profit.

In this case the police succeeded in laying bare a whole series of interlocking organizations.

But even then they had not arrested the heads of the black hierarchy, the arch criminals, who are ready with their untold millions to employ new tools for their villainous work.

Men Higher Up

OF THESE men we know scarcely anything. We can only probe back as far as two gigantic congeries of trafficking, behind which they sit as safe as the war makers behind the trenches of Armageddon.

The first of these is an enormous, closely-knit ring of Europeans, Japanese and Chinese, dealing in manufactured drugs, mainly from Germany, Switzerland and the Far East.

The second is a more loosely constituted group of syndicates and private individuals, mostly Chinese and Japanese, trading in contraband opium, raw and prepared, from Persia, Turkey, Siberia, Afghanistan and parts of the Celestial Empire, with a main base of operations in Southern China.

How an entire nation has been poisoned by dope will be revealed in the next article to appear Wednesday.

Which Shall It Be?

YOU will want a new coat this spring, because each 1930 creation has a distinction all its own. What to buy?—will be answered when you test the becomingness of the belted and unbelted coats, cape coats and those with jabots, furred or unfurred models and the many other new trends. Where to buy?—will be answered "Horne's," where all of these new fashions are shown in a number of fabrics at various prices.

Here are four coats typifying the variety of Horne's selections . . . and incidentally they are the most popular models in the four most popular price groups.

The Cape Coat

Not only young women, but those who like youthful clothes are acclaiming the cape coat this season. This model has the cape divided at back . . . but you may choose many other types of cape, if you prefer.

Miss' Model

Galyak-Trimmed

This sleek, lustrous fur trims the majority of the season's successful coat modes. This coat incorporates the fashionable high waistline with the elbow-length cape, that is fur trimmed in front and plain in back.

Miss' Model

The Jabot Coat

The softening lines of the loosely hanging jabot are particularly becoming in women's coats. This model trims its jabot with a band of kid galyak and uses intricate seaming to give a slenderizing effect.

Woman's Model

Low-Flared Style

Lines that cling to the figure, then flare easily and subtly near the hem account for the great favor accorded this new spring coat. The soft mushroom shaped collar is a delightful contrast in beige lapin.

Woman's Model

... Horne's, Second Floor ...

Reynier Gloves

In New Lengths

The exquisitely soft Reynier gloves, so favorably known to Horne customers . . . because they wear well, wash well, and are always available in the most fashionable shades . . . are here now in the new 6 and 8-button lengths.

Both lengths are shown in the spring shades of flesh, ivory, beige, sunbrown, gray, and black . . . and a model fastened with Cleopatra dome pearls comes in the 8-button length.

The six-button length is $6.00 . . . eight-button, $8.00.

... Horne's, Main Floor ...

For Easter.... Large 'Kerchiefs

With so much "influence" in Fashion now-a-days . . . we suggest that the smartest Easter 'kerchiefs (in size at least) show a decided bandana streak in their lineage! However, their colors are mild . . . delicate floral prints, old-fashioned dots, pastel stripes, and printed border designs. Or, you may choose one in a solid pastel shade with an appliqued flower in one corner. All with hand-rolled hems. Priced from $1.00 to $1.50 each.

... Horne's, Main Floor ...

And Now— Polka Dot Jewelry!

Polka dots are everywhere, this season . . . even on our necklaces and bracelets! They harmonize perfectly with our polka dot outfits—and are particularly effective with plain pastel costumes.

Some of the necklaces have polka dot balls on dotted link chains . . . or on composition ropes that give a "dotty" effect.

And the bracelets—that match exactly — complete these smart jewelry ensembles. In pastel and darker shades with white dots. 95c to $3.50.

... Horne's, Main Floor ...

Handbags Match Shoes

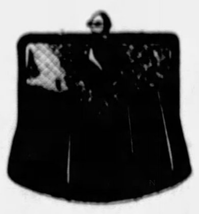
Matching the shoe and handbag is not a matter of choosing the identical design, but of assembling the same type of leather, similar designs and matching colors.

Patent Leather

Here's the fashionable "horse-shoe" model in patent leather . . . and there are many more gleaming bags to complete the ensemble. $12.50.

Contrasted Leathers

This season the most amazing collection of handbags is appearing with beige contrasting with brown, black or navy. Also, other contrasting colors. $7.50.



Snake-Trimmed Bags

Shoe calf bags with a bit of snake or lizard across the top, half-way down the front of the bag, or inserted demurely beneath the clasp. $7.50.

... Horne's, Main Floor ...

Wear the Opera Pump

Pumps are undoubtedly the accepted type of spring shoe . . . and they assume so many ways of trimming you can own pumps for every occasion and yet have no two pair seem alike.

Patent Leather

One of the newest shoe fashions is the favorite patent leather. This regent pump uses its shiny brightness to enhance your outfit. $12.50.

Contrasted Leathers

A pleasant way to vary the simplicity of the opera pump . . . with a band and bow-knot of lighter toned kid. This model in brown, beige, green, black kid. $12.50.

Snake-Trimmed Pumps

A happy combination . . . brown kid with brown snake vamp, or black kid with gray snake vamp. A smart model for street wear. $12.50.

GRUNDY, BROWN AID BY FISHER EXPECTED

Governor to Follow Mellon Course, Leaders Here Say; Winters Out for Davis

Political leaders here today were awaiting an announcement by Gov. John S. Fisher from Harrisburg on his stand in the state primary battle.

It was predicted he would indorse the candidacy of Senator Joseph R. Grundy for United States Senate and the gubernatorial candidacy of Francis Shunk Brown.

Indorsement of these candidates by W. L. Mellon presaged a similar announcement by Gov. Fisher, political observers declared.

Grundy is scheduled to be here this week to discuss with Mellon and his campaign managers, State Senator James J. Coyne and S. C. Jamison the selection of a chairman and committee for Western Pennsylvania.

INDORSEMENTS CONFLICT

Mellon will be allied with State Senator James J. Coyne in promoting the Grundy candidacy and with County Commissioner Joseph G. Armstrong supporting Brown. Armstrong, however, has indorsed the entire Davis-Brown ticket.

Davis and Brown were in Pittsburgh Saturday for conferences with local leaders and meetings with party workers.

Mellon called upon Brown in the latter's rooms on the William Penn Hotel and conferred for more than an hour. Davis was also in the hotel but did not meet Mellon.

Brown left here Saturday night for Philadelphia and Davis left yesterday morning to visit Controller Daniel Winters, who is convalescing in a Cleveland hospital.

WINTERS FOR DAVIS

Winters issued a statement indorsing Davis' candidacy. He said:

"I have known Jim Davis for many years. My Uncle Dan lived next door to his father in Sharon. I have watched him struggle from a steel worker to one of the outstanding figures in public life in America. Where should I be but on his side? I will be glad to do what I can for him."

Thomas W. Phillips, candidate for governor on an anti-dry ticket, will be in Pittsburgh tomorrow for a conference with his local leaders, according to an announcement by M. E. Shaugnessey, Allegheny County chairman for the Bohlen-Phillips-Dorrance slate.

GRUNDY, BROWN TOP BALLOT

tual selection of the envelope was made by Miss Esther Aurand, a clerk in the office of A. Boyd Hamilton, secretary of the State Senate. Gorman explained the action by saying the Senator preferred having a woman draw, saying "women are always lucky."

Drawings for candidates for other offices, made in the hall of the House of Representatives resulted as follows:

Lieutenant Governor—Charles F. Armstrong, Edward C. Shannon, Charles Dorrance, Frank P. B. Thompson.

Secretary of Internal Affairs—James F. Woodward, Philip H. Dewey, Charles C. McLain, Charles Fred White, Frederic A. Godcharles.

Justice of the Supreme Court—George W. Maxey, Albert Dutton MacDade.

Judge of the Superior Court—William B. Linn, J. Frank Graff, James B. Drew.

Porter, Sullivan, Campbell In First Ballot Positions

HARRISBURG, April 14.—Results of drawings for Allegheny County were: Thirty-eighth District, Republican, Congressman Stephen G. Porter, Herbert R. Simon.

Thirty-third, Democratic, Joseph H. Ake, Congressman Clyde Kelly, Kelly is unopposed for Republican re-nomination.

Thirty-fourth, Republican, Congressman Patrick J. Sullivan, Patrick J. O'Malley. Democratic, Congressman Sullivan, Michael B. Donnelly.

Thirty-fifth, Republican, Michael S. Joyce, Stanley M. Carrington, Congressman Harry A. Estep.

Thirty-sixth, Republican, Congressman Guy E. Campbell, John W. Hedderich, Jr. Democratic, Congressman Campbell, William E. Madden, Jr.

Thirty-eighth, Republican, Joseph G. Armstrong, Jr., Patrick F. Riley.

Fortieth, Republican, Senator Herman P. Brandt, Edward V. Stokes, Park H. Martin, Francis X. McCulloch, David P. MacQuarrie.

Forty-fourth, Republican, Paul R. Wagner, Senator William D. Mansfield, Mrs. Mary P. Walthour.

Mellon Praises Grundy, Brown In Indorsement

Following is the text of the statement issued by W. L. Mellon in indorsing the candidacy of Joseph R. Grundy for senatorial nomination and Francis Shunk Brown for governor:

"In response to many requests for a statement of my position in the present political campaign in Pennsylvania, I desire to say that I intend to support Francis Shunk Brown for governor and Joseph R. Grundy for United States senator.

"I have known Mr. Brown for many years and have great respect for his ability, fidelity and knowledge of public affairs. I am convinced he will make a splendid chief executive.

"I was one of those who persuaded Mr. Grundy to make a great personal sacrifice and accept appointment as United States senator. I felt then as I feel now that conditions in Pennsylvania and in the United States demanded the services of a man of Senator Grundy's character, exceptional ability, unquestioned courage and long experience."

PRAISES TARIFF STAND

"His remarkable record during his short time in the Senate has borne out this estimate of his great value to the people of Pennsylvania. He fearlessly met a situation which appeared hopeless, broke up by sheer ability and determination a coalition hostile to the interests of the people of Pennsylvania and secured the passage of a tariff bill which will help to reduce unemployment, keep wages at a satisfactory standard and maintain prosperity.

"There is such a direct relation between protection to Pennsylvania industries and employment at satisfactory wages that we cannot afford to lose the services of a man of the acknowledged ability and experience of Senator Grundy.

"We should not encourage the importation of iron, steel, glass, pottery, shoes, cement and many other necessities from other countries where wages are poor. We can and should make these products in Pennsylvania with Pennsylvania labor at good wages.

WARNS OF IMPORTS

"Unless we are vigilant with regard to the tariff we are inviting unemployment and possibly lower wages.

"When these products are made abroad they consume coal and raw materials produced abroad and deprive Pennsylvania miners and other workmen of that much employment and reduce the tonnage and employment of our transportation lines.

"There never was a time when it was so urgent that Pennsylvania be represented in the United States Senate by two senators of the caliber of those we now have, who are capable of protecting our workers and industries against a flood of imported products."

PINCHOT HITS SLUSH FUNDS

PHILADELPHIA, April 14.—(AP)—Former Governor Gifford Pinchot, candidate for the Republican nomination for governor at the primary on May 20, declared in a statement tonight that he had not intended to let public utility "money buy this election."

In his statement Mr. Pinchot said it was "the settled purpose of public utility companies to control opinion as a part of their plan to charge excessive rates."

Mr. Vare in Atlantic City announced Lieut. Gov. Arthur H. James will act as campaign manager for the Davis-Brown ticket.

Don't fool yourself!

Since halitosis never announces itself to the victim, you simply cannot know when you have it.

Get rid of halitosis—it may get you fired

What kind of people do employers like to have around them? Certainly not people with halitosis (unpleasant breath). You can't blame a man for firing an employee with halitosis to hire one without it—especially when such employees must deal with the public.

Don't fool yourself that you never have halitosis. It's impossible for you to know when you are a victim. Don't take the chance. Keep yourself continually on the safe and polite side by daily rinsing the mouth with Listerine, the safe antiseptic.

Being an active germicide capable of killing 200,000,000 germs in 15 seconds, full strength Listerine checks mouth fermentation and infection—both a cause of odors. Then it gets rid of the odors; it is an instant deodorant.

Thousands who used to be unwelcome because of halitosis are now acceptable anywhere, since using Listerine. Lambert Pharmacal Company, St. Louis, Mo., U. S. A.

Yellow Cab Service

This advertisement is published to provide the public with a correct understanding of the working force engaged in the resumption of Yellow Cab service. It is presented at the request of our drivers, who wish it clearly understood that they are regularly engaged in permanent positions and, to be falsely regarded as being engaged in strike-breaking, would do them and their families serious injury.

Every driver now engaged by the Yellow Cab Company is a loyal employe! We have no strike-breakers.

The following statistics are taken from the current payroll:

75.6 per cent. of the drivers now working were in our employ when the strike was declared January 12 of this year.

11.6 per cent. are men who, at different times, had been in our employ but were not with us when the strike began. They have returned to cab driving, at which they are experienced and capable.

12.8 per cent. are employes who have taken permanent employment with us. They are experienced drivers, with satisfactory recommendations.

Every driver now in our employ is a permanent resident of the Pittsburgh district.

These men, experienced in their work, loyal to themselves, their families and their employer, and satisfied with both wages and working conditions, maintain the right to honest employment without interference or insult.

They ask only to be regarded in proper light—as diligent, industrious American citizens, earning a living for themselves and families by serving the public.

HARRY BEEGLE, AUTO MAN, DIES

Harry G. Beegle, 56, a pioneer in the automobile industry here and a brother of May Beegle, concert manager, died last night in his home, 5538 Hobart street, Squirrel Hill. He conducted the Popular Supply Shop in Bigelow boulevard. He also was secretary of the Development Commission of Pittsburgh.

H. G. Beegle

Mr. Beegle was born in Bedford, Pa. He entered the automobile business here many years ago and had continued in that industry until his death. 17 DEAD TAKEN FROM MINE

TACOMA, Wash., April 14.—(AP.)—The last of 17 bodies, victims of an explosion in the Carbonado mine of the Pacific Coast Coal Company, was taken from the mine yesterday and placed in a temporary morgue.

Carbonado is a small mining village high in the foothills of the Cascades. Without facilities for caring for the 17 mine victims, the bodies were taken to Buckley and Enumclaw, nearby towns. Twelve of the victims were married. Besides the widows, 23 children survive. A broken air hose on a drill may have saved 60 other miners, mine officials declared. The day shift of 60 working on the Douty seam in the second level where the blast occurred, failed to fire the customary final shot because of a break in their drill hose. The smaller afternoon shift of 21 men, which went on duty at 4 p. m., took a new section of hose into the workings. Mine officials believed the crew repaired the drill placed charges and then fired them—and that this caused the explosion which killed the 17 men outright.

Dr. Brown said nurses and doctors were vaccinating residents of the area about Ninevah as a precaution. The order caused postponement of a parade of Sunday School children planned for yesterday.

Easter Rabbit Market.
The latest developments in the Easter rabbit market of Thompkins Corners will be reported.
Elmer Thompkins and Speed Yager, who hold the office of Cat and Dog Commissioners, have recently extended the field of their animal activities to include rabbits. It was Elmer's idea that raising rabbits for the Easter market would be both interesting and profitable.
The results have been interesting, but from the present outlook, it is doubtful whether the venture will prove profitable, for the supply of rabbits far exceeds the demand and the Cat and Dog Hospital is busily meeting daily additions to the local rabbit population.

HOLLYWOOD JOTTINGS ABOUT FILM PLAYERS AND LOCAL AMUSEMENT GOSSIP

Native-Tongued Talkies Limit Horizon for Film Stars

By DOROTHY HERZOG

(Copyright, 1930, by Premier Syndicate.)

HOLLYWOOD, April 14.

HAVING mulled over the matter, this department has decided to paragraph an economic, a linguistic film treatise of a decided gray, not to say cynical, tint.

I speak of foreign versions of motion picture talkies.

Since it is logical to assume that France and its colonies; Spain and its colonies; Italy and its dittoes, and so on have gone celluloid talky and demand such talkies be native tongued and not foreign (English), ask, since this hypothesis is fundamentally true, how will such a condition affect the world box office draw of current players?

GLORIA SWANSON is a draw in any country. Likewise, Mary Pickford, Doug Fairbanks, Gary Cooper, Lon Chaney, William Haines, Richard Dix, et cetera.

But what about the coming stars a year or two hence, when separate groups of players are engaged for the English, French, Spanish, Italian version of each picture made?

Stars will become indigenous to their country. Except in the rare cases where they speak other languages fluently. And by the narrowing down of their drawing power what about salaries? It is also logical to assume salaries will slide from four figures a week.

Verily, there is a fruitful gloomy outlook.

Gloria Swanson

VERSATILE LINGUIST

DOLORES DEL RIO is one star—among a select few who stands to gain by the linguistic talkies. Dolores speaks Spanish and French fluently. Her next picture will be a talky version of "The Dove," which Norma Talmadge made into a silenter several years ago. Dolores is in a pleasant spot. The character she portrays speaks broken English. She can do justice to it, in French and Spanish. Perhaps other members of the film will have to be recast for the foreign versions, but not Miss Del Rio.

ADOLPHE MENJOU speaks perfect French. He will be of duo value to a company for this reason.

JETTA COMES BACK

JETTA GOUDAL is gradually making a come-back through the medium of foreign talkies. She recently completed a French version of some M. G. M. picture (forget the title). She has received offers from other studios for similar histrionic services.

DON ALVARADEZ, whose success was temporarily halted by the talkies, is kept very busy these days. Don just completed the juvenile lead in a Spanish version of Buster Keaton's comedy, "Free and Easy." He is in constant demand.

Gilbert Roland

THE same holds true of Gilbert Roland, a fellow countryman. Gilbert is playing the English lead in "Monsieur Le Fox," which Hal Roach is megaphoning for M. G. M. The picture will be celluloided in five languages. Roland will play in the Spanish version and perhaps in the French. I don't recall whether or not he parley-vous.

FLUENT COMEDIANS

LAUREL & HARDY got in on the linguist band wagon almost at its inception. They've been making French and Spanish versions of their comedies for months. Which incidentally assures them of economic independence unmolested by the added costs of foreign casts.

ELISE BARTLETT has suddenly come into her histrionic own because of the talkies. Elise speaks fluent French and Spanish. With three languages at her command, she is a saving to any company. Warners must have realized this when they signed her first for "See Naples and Die" and then annexed her signature for a picture to be transposed into French.

THEY SPEAK SPANISH

JOSE BOHR, popular South American star, has become invaluable to Sono-Art. Mr. Bohr makes the Spanish versions of all the Eddie Dowling pictures. Which, as you can see, limits Eddie's popularity to English-speaking theatergoers.

BEBE DANIELS speaks fluent Spanish. Her grandmother is Spanish and they usually converse in that language. It is a short pronunciation from Spanish to French. Thereby stabilizing Bebe's importance to RKO.

SAVE THOSE PENNIES

LIST only a few players. There are more. But not a vast plural more. Hence it is to be expected that within a year's time (make it two for generosity) large film salaries will automatically slip into the approximate $50,000 a year category instead of six flat figures. Save those pennies. Save 'em, thespians.

Accidental Shot Kills Mine Clerk

WELLSBURG, W. Va., April 14 (AP).—The body of R. I. Rigner, 40, chief clerk for the West Virginia and Pittsburgh Coal Company here, was found on the floor of his office last night. He had been shot in the head. A riot gun was at his side. Coroner J. B. Walkinshaw and Sheriff I. W. Chernock announced death was accidental.

ADHESIVE TAPE

Polly Moran and Marie Dressler really are bound up in ticker tape but it sticks just the same. Polly and Marie are featured in "Caught Short," talking film comedy of a stock market crash, a Cosmopolitan production with Anita Page and Charles Morton. It will be seen here later.

OUR HEROINE DREAMS TECHNICOLOR INTO HARRIS FILM

By CLARENCE E. GRUNDISH

The Duncan Sisters, Rosetta and Vivian, are over in the Harris. They appear as a couple department store clerks, who think they might make good on the stage. Their picture, a talkie, is titled "It's a Great Life." But the life, as depicted, isn't so great. It has some amusing episodes, though.

It all starts off with the two sisters galloping out of a boarding house and dashing madly over New York streets. They are late for work. And their tardiness is the indirect cause of a motor car wreck and a piano smashup. (Isn't that just like the movies?)

It all ends with one of the girls getting delirious—going out of her head and imagining things. She imagines she is in bigtime, in the Palace Theater, that paradise of all vaudeville performers. Which sends the film's action into technicolor elaborateness. And elaborateness is the word. There is no theater stage in existence of such monster size as the stage the movie-makers put into the Palace.

In between all this is romance, light comedy and that sort of thing. The supporting cast includes Lawrence Gray, who makes a gesture at the singing and the acting, and Benny Rubin, who used to be master of ceremony in the deluxe stage-show days of the Aldine. And the Duncan girls, of course, go into the song stuff. And they are better singers than they are actresses, which, necessarily isn't a bouquet for their voices.

On the stage is Dick Ware with a show that manages to get by. At that, it does have some pretty good comedy stuff. And Mr. Ware, pleasant young fellow, sings about a idst rib and strives valiantly to make the production go over.

SHERIDAN SHOW TRITE; SALLY O'NEIL PLAYS AT DISADVANTAGE

By EDWARD GOSS

Swaggering, wisecracking, big-hearted Sally O'Neil, as a girl of an odorous, drunken port in the tropics, is tearing things loose this week on the Sheridan Square talk screen.

The picture is the old moth-eaten tale of a girl, to all appearances not nice, giving the devil several telling blows and grasping a wayward man from the toils of demon rum.

There is some excuse for dishing up the too much used story for public consumption, for dens in the tropics, with their brawls, have been applauded by thousands of movie goers; especially when one of noble birth sweeps up the sink of iniquity for his necessary booze and then takes a crack at the proprietor's nose, turns his eyes heavenward, and, with a fervent prayer upon his trembling lips, exclaims: "I have found my manhood."

"Girl of the Port" has every one of those qualities wrapped up in the same honor-worn way. The producers took the bit in their mouths, though. They made Sally's admirer a member of the British nobility and threw in a captaincy for good measure. It's not often that the patrons get to see an actor cast as both. The captain doesn't sweep up the saloon. He sings a risque song instead, thereby falling a bit lower.

Miss O'Neil tries to overcome the assignment handed her by the producers, but it's a tough job—almost too tough.

Y. M. C. A. to Open Camp on June 30

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., April 14.—The annual summer camp of Southwestern Pennsylvania District Y. M. C. A. at Indian Creek will open on Monday, June 30. More than 100 boys, mostly from McKeesport and Washington, Pa., gather each year for two months' vacation.

40,000 Austrians Hold Defense Parade

VIENNA, April 14.—(AP.)—A great demonstration by the Austrian Republican Defense League, in which 40,000 members participated, passed off yesterday without untoward incident.

The demonstrators, who were unarmed, assembled outside Vienna in five strong columns, accompanied by field telegraphs and telephones and all the communication facilities of an army taking the field.

Each column marched through a certain section of the outlying industrial districts of Vienna, keeping constantly in touch with the other four.

During the day the rival Fascists organizations kept discreetly in the background.

"DRINK TO YOUR OWN HEALTH"

With Walter Winchell On Broadway

MAN ABOUT TOWN

NEW YORK, April 14.

YOU get the biggest wallops out of the little things on this blazing boulevard. There's the night club torch warbler, frixample, whose charm, style, figure and ugh! entices terrific trade to the place in which she coos, but who Won't Be Bothered with the lads who dangle heavy sugar under her saucy nose. She is one of the Stein's novelties. She loves her husband! A former racketeer from the central states who shelved his profession for love of her and vowed he would go straight.

Well, the current unemployment sitch-ee-ay-shun has kept him idle and it is driving him a little mad. He wants to support her, but the breaks won't come. And the hours the frau must keep contribute to his misery. From midnight to dawn she has to give the night-loafers plenty of zip or a smile, but between numbers or as often as possible she begs your pardon to leap to a phone and comforts him.

A girl chum asked her why she didn't have her husband sit at one of the corner tables every night and wait until she was through.

"He just won't do it," the bride replied; "he figures that the crowd will say: 'There's her gigolo,' and I guess that's what they would say."

He makes himself useful, however, while she's at the night club doing "Snake Hips" and her other fascinating routines.

He stays home and does the housekeeping!

NEVER VEX CRITICS

THE locally liked musical comedienne who recently opened in a Chicago show boned it plenty by tittering at an old woman seated in a front pew. The actress, it is said, even made audible cracks, belittling the old lady. The next day, however, the old lady squared matters by devoting a mess of space to a denunciation of the girl's manners and talents.

The "old lady" was Amy Leslie, 84, who has been the most powerful dramatic critic in the Middle West for 50 years.

ABOUT MONICHERS

ONE who signs himself "Pete, the Pencil," hastens to defend the memory of "Gyp the Blood," who was Sing-Singe'd years ago for the murder of Herman Rosenthal. Pete the Pencil argues that our recent paragraph on the fear-inspiring names of gangsters was misleading, particularly with reference to "Gyp," whose real name was Harry Horowitz long before he had any thoughts of using "gats" or "snow." The nickname, it appears, was hung on Horowitz in Public School 184 because of his unusually swarthy complexion, and his resemblance to a Gypsy.

"The first time," writes Pete, "anyone knew of his 'nom de Rod' was after the sudden demise of Herman Rosenthal, when it appeared in the newspapers, purely the figment of a reporter's brain. Most of the blood-chilling names are born that way. Since the disposal of that famous case, the gents of the press seem to feel that every criminal must have a picturesque handle. If the boys are called Eddie, Henry or Walter, and should they through their own ineptitude have cause to be mentioned in the papers, they inevitably end up with 'Cock-eye,' 'Gimpty,' 'Daggers' or 'The Clutching Claw' before you Park Rowgues are done with them."

Well, mebbe so. Yet Joseph Solomon, one of Broadway's pets, has been called "Joe, the Gonof," for years and has never really gotten a break in the newspapers. "Gonof" is Yidiom for "thief," but the only thing Joe ever swiped was the other guy's thunder.

The current flip quip: "Did you see the Warner Brothers' movie of Ted Lewis in 'is Everybody Happy?' Well, they're making a sequel to be called: 'No!'"

PONZI HAS HEART

ONE of the Broadwayward lads just back from the same prison that housed Ponzi relates this about the Get-Rich-Quick Wallingford, who swindled many out of millions with his money-making scheme. A woman friend of Mrs. Ponzi went to Ponzi with her life savings, $2,500, and asked him to invest it for her in his company. He found some reason not to take the coin, because she knew his wife so well, and for months thought of excuses to keep from taking her lucre. The woman finally got someone to invest the dough for her and, of course, it was lost in the great explosion that followed. In fewer words Ponzi had a heart and tried not to gyp her. But Ponzi's bodyguard, a gangster, who protected and served him for many years, saved $120,000 from his large salary, and close as he was to Ponzi, wasn't wise to Ponzi's racket.

He invested the 120 grand in the same fooey firm, losing every dime of it, and fretted over his double-cross for years. Then, one day, he was arrested, but he welcomed the chance of going to the same prison so he could even matters with Ponzi, who, fortunate fellow that he is, was released the same day. Ponzi, however, is behind bars again, but in a who's whosgow far from his enemy.

ITS COLLER NOW

THE police have made the most popular late place in G'wich Village Turn Off the Heat. No longer may the brownskin lassies startle you with their thigh-grinding stunts. . . Gene and Polly Tunney have finally Gone Broadway, going gay on ginger ale at the Hollywood, the no-couvert charge smash hit place, where by midnight even the high bonnets and their lorgnette-juggling ladies are being turned away for lack of room . . . Add definitions of a Main Stem Femme: "When she has a lotta coin she plays the market. When she has a little dough she plays the ponies. When she's broke she plays the men . . . Someone asked La Guinan:

"Have you a particular feller?" . . . "A fellow who went around with me," she replied, "wouldn't be particular."

SHE FAW DOWN

THE daughter of one of the country's better known powerful prohibitionists faw down a whole flight of stairs in one of our nicest speakeasies and did her cheeks get red? . . . Get a load of Leo Reisman's dance arrangement of "There's Danger in Your Eyes, Cherie," at the Central Park Casino . . . That sepia who is Taking Himself Too Seriously because some of the alleged ladies flirt with him is begging for trouble . . . There are three night clubs in New York where you may rest assured the gunmen will never fire a shot.

The gal once was a favorite in the gayer places when your act wasn't a hit unless you strummed a uke. When the squaw of a famous man starts her abrogation proceedings the pretty-pretty will be front-paged as co-respondent. And she is distressed about it. Last night she turned on her It and fingered the lapel of a reporter's coat.

"Please, she begged, "please don't let the papers pan me. This is a man's world and we are here to please them."

O'NEILL PLAY, COMEDY STAGE ATTRACTIONS FOR WEEK

"Strange Interlude" swings into its third and final week in the Nixon tonight. Next week that house will be dark for three days, reopening for a three-day revival of "The Rivals," to be presented by another all-star cast including Mrs. Fiske, James T. Powers, Georgette Cohan and George Tawde, who were members of the all-star cast that appeared here in the same play several years ago. Rollo Peters will play the role then played by our own Kenneth Thomson and Andrew Mack, former popular singing Irish comedian, will be seen as Sir Lucius O'Trigger, characterized last by Chauncey Olcott.

"Charley's Aunt," a comedy that has made millions laugh since it was originally produced in England some years ago, will be the week's bill in the Pitt, with Hugh Banks heading the George Sharp Players in the central role.

The seat sale opened today in the Shubert Alvin box office for the one week engagement, beginning next Monday, with matinees Wednesday and Saturday, of R. C. Sherriff's drama of the World War, "Journey's End."

The management of the Shubert Alvin has arranged a return engagement of Thurston, magician. During his recent engagement so many were unable to obtain seats. He returns to the Alvin the week of May 12, for one week, with matinees Wednesday and Saturday.

SHAKESPEAREAN PLAY TO BE PRESENTED BY TECH

Under the direction of B. Iden Payne, of the Goodman Theater of Chicago, the Department of Drama, at the Carnegie Institute of Technology, will present Shakespeare's "Love's Labor Lost" in the Little Theater beginning Tuesday afternoon.

The production of a Shakespearean play is an annual event at Carnegie and to honor the Bard of Avon the date chosen for presentation is near that of the birth of the poet.

A large cast, including most of the students in the department, will take part in this production. Some of the costumes to be used in the play are from the Poel collection, acquired by the department after their owner, William Poel, the English actor and authority on Elizabethan times, had retired from the stage. Mr. Poel at one time visited the theater and assisted in the production of one of the plays, and there is at this time a notice on the wall of the costume room commemorating the event.

A matinee Tuesday afternoon for the Women's Club of the City of Pittsburgh and the Oakland Women's Club will be the opening performance. There also will be performances Tuesday night and Wednesday afternoon. Easter vacation will interrupt the run here, but the play will be resumed April 22 and will be presented six more times.

BYRD BARK WINS OVER STEAMER

DUNEDIN, April 14.—(AP.)—Dispatches from Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd's Antarctic expedition ships disclosed that the bark, City of New York, had beaten the steamer Eleanor Bolling to Papette, Tahiti.

The bark left here nine days before the steamer, the crew of which believed they could overtake the sailing ship on the first stage of the homeward journey to New York. The City of New York was hove to midway between here and Papeete for three days during a gale but sustained the faith her captain expressed before sailing from Dunedin that the "old ice ship always gets there." The Eleanor Bolling is due at Papeete today.

From Papeete the ships together sail for Panama, where Admiral Byrd will board the City of New York for the final leg of the trip to New York City. They are expected to reach home about June 14.

Admiral Byrd is resting at Rotura, the cite of a large meteorological station where William Maines, meteorologist of the Antarctic expedition, is conferring with meteorologists of other Antarctic expeditions. Haines proposes to issue a report on his observations when he arrives at Panama. Admiral Byrd will return here next Friday to spend a final week before sailing from Wellington for Panama.

Two boys found the body yesterday. It was apparent that Lukas had been dead for nearly two weeks.

TIMBER SWEPT BY FLAMES

UNIONTOWN, Pa., April 14.—(AP.)—A forest fire burning over a four-mile front raged in the mountains across the West Virginia-Pennsylvania line yesterday. State Fire Warden John C. Beatty said he believed the fire of incendiary origin.

The fire, spreading at times over an area from a mile and a half to two miles in width, was visible at Morgantown, W. Va., 20 miles away.

Another fire at Dunbar, Fayette County, burned over 60 acres, imperiling seven houses, but was controlled by volunteer fire-fighters, directed by state police. Ten fires were reported in the county by Fire Warden Beatty, who estimated the damage to timber at $35,000.

CHICKIE By ELENORE MEHERIN

CHAPTER LIX.

THERE was the buoyant lilt about Barry that delighted Chickie so when he danced. Now he came swinging lightly, as though there were no problems in the world. He said, breezily: "Listen, frail—have a bite downtown with your lover. That'll give us an hour, anyway."

"You have to work tonight?"

"Yes—"

She following without glancing at him. Her breath quickened.

They took a table in a small restaurant. And he launched impetuously into a dozen themes. He recounted whimsical scraps of information he had gathered in an old law book—laws about witches, dogs brought to trial—

She listened, the resentment in her growing. He didn't even notice her melancholy, didn't seem to perceive that her heart was bursting.

But finally leaning over and touching her hand, he laughed: "Well, frail, appreciative, aren't you? Five dollars' worth of entertainment and not a smile. Why so mute?"

"Nothing—nothing much—"

"Worked hard today, didn't you? Not even a moment to steal a glance alleyways, did you?"

She kept her head lowered, stirred her coffee. "Oh, I didn't know—"

Then he was aware and half guessed what was coming. He waited, the merriment in his face flattening to a moody resignation. Finally: "Oh, what's the use, Chickie? Why are you feeling so low? Isn't everything going all right?"

"Is it?" A little, high-pitched laugh. "Is it going at all?"

He was puzzled. "Why get excited about it now, Chickie? Well—we knew all along there'd be a good wait—"

"But months and months—nothing changed—"

"We're happy aren't we? We are living. Listen, Chickie, why create troubles? I don't see that we have any particular kick—"

Chickie Angered

"You don't—no?" Her lips moved. When she could control them she said brokenly: "It may go on like this years—we may grow tired and then we never will be married!"

He regarded her with leisurely astonishment. This maddened her. He said calmly, shrugging: "Well, if that's to happen and we're going to get bored with each other, I'd say it was a whole lot better if we aren't married—"

She half rose. She pressed her hands on the table. "Oh—you feel like that—do you?"

"What's the matter with you, anyway, Chickie? What's happened? Why bring this up? I thought we were happy as larks. You were!"

"You think so? You want it like this? You meant it to be like this?" She rushed on tight, shrill with excitement. "Oh, you don't care—you're satisfied! You have the gains—"

Suddenly his eyes blazed with hurt; with a mounting fury. He caught her hands. "Chickie, stop! That's enough—"

She shook him off. "All right. It is!" She grabbed up her purse and half blinded with tears went rushing to the door. The cool air touched her with forlorn shock. She hurried down the street, but her ears strained wildly, listening for steps that followed. At the corner she stepped behind a building. She looked back, clenching her hands. Oh, in a moment he would come, grab her arm, laugh at her.

Now she was a little cool and wanted this.

The door swung open. She pretended to walk on swiftly. She looked back. No one was coming.

Expects 'Phone Call

And she reached the car, let three pass, then five. Weight of iron seemed hung from her shoulders, bearing her down. She said to herself miserably, "Not coming—ah!"

At last she got on the car, squeezing herself in the corner. She didn't think. His eyes, blazing with fury, followed her. His hand, suddenly seizing her wrists, was there like a burn.

Her frenzy ebbed. She grew miserable, with a chill, fluttering disquiet. She tried to go back over the scene, she could only remember its shrill incoherence. And now it seemed unreal, incredible. Why had she done this?

The happiness of the past weeks flashed like sun in her face — the nights they had watched the water, her head on his shoulder; the long Sundays.

She was half moved to get off the car, dash back. Then she began to expect that he was following her. He would be at the house when she arrived. He would say impulsively, "Chickie, listen—we don't want this—"

But he wasn't there. He had gone back to the office. And now perhaps he was standing moodily at the window thinking of her. Oh he would be sorry. He would pick up the telephone—

She saw him doing these things. She wandered aimlessly about her room, stopping at the bed, at the bureau—waiting. The phone didn't ring.

The night became insupportable. She felt as though she were being flung now this way, now that. One moment her mind seethed with indignation; the next it was chilled and humble.

Discuss Divorce

When she lay in bed, going over it endlessly, fighting it off, then wooing it back she suddenly saw his face alive with merriment as he had come swinging toward her. She saw it like this, then flattening in that annoyed resignation.

Mary—what did she know—a lot she knew! Mary had plunged her into this—

She went into the office the next morning in a hard, steely quiet. She glanced to his window—saw a shadow. She felt her breath, hot, bursting.

At noon, typing relentlessly, she was nevertheless waiting for his form to come to the window—a boyish grin to light his mouth, full cut, sweet.

The noon hour passed. Janina said: "Suppose we chow, together, baby? You don't seem engaged."

Janina was talkative. A young girl both of them knew was suing for divorce. The papers were full of it as they had been of the marriage a year previous. This furnished Janina with a theme.

"This comes," she pronounced with her infallible air, "of allowing youngsters to sign away their lives. As I've always held, no man under thirty, no girl under twenty-five, should be allowed to contract a permanent marriage."

"Ho—Janina! Permanent anything! They don't!"

"But there's all this bother about divorce, all this unnecessary publicity. Does no good to any one. In my plan there would be trial contracts for the younger set. When the ties were found intolerable to either party, as of course they're bound to be sooner or later, they could be set aside. Why not? Since first loves never last and yet they will have their sway—"

Faintly: "Why shouldn't they last, Janina?"

"No foundation, ole dear. Nothing but the grand animal urge that sweeps everything out of its way. When it's appeased nothing left to hold the pair together."

"Lots of first loves last! How can you know that it's only a kind of attraction?"

Barry Does Not Appear

"By its folly, baby! By its blindness. By the insanity of its thrill. Typical case in your own mitts, old dear. Otherwise you'd grab off the man who could give you happiness plus, and you wouldn't be languishing for the grand and glorious Galahad of the empty pockets!"

Chickie shut her eyes, smiled vaguely. She managed to say: "That wise you are, Janina! But watch!"

"I am—"

Janina's words condemned him. Listening to them, Chickie wanted to steal away, never look at that window again. There was no gladness left on the earth.

All afternoon she worked in this bleakness. At 5 o'clock she said to herself coldly: "No—I'll not go down there! Let him phone! He might know I didn't mean all that—"

Yet her steps took her to the alley. She waited. Girls passed. She pretended to walk back to the office. She glanced upward to his building.

Cruelly it came to her that he wasn't coming. She was alone in the narrow street.

Another day passed.

The third she was beside herself. She wrote a note, tore it up. She went into a telephone booth after lunch. And went out again without calling him. She said to herself faintly: "It's over." It was like a doom.

You Can't Tell the Sheiks by Their Looks, Fay King Discovers

WE ARE ASTONISHED TO READ THE BURNING LOVE LETTERS A SENSIBLE LOOKING GIRL WRITES TO HER MARRIED LOVER!
FAY-KING
IT IS SURPRISING TO SEE WHO HAS A CLEOPATRA COMPLEX THESE DAYS!
GREAT LOVERS
BUT THIS VISION OF ROMANCE IS TOO SENSIBLE TO WASTE TIME VAMPING ANOTHER WOMAN'S HUSBAND!

By FAY KING

WHEN tragedy brings to light the principals of some unfortunate clandestine affair, it is perfectly astonishing to see how little the lovers look the part.

We find the most ordinary looking fellows, who would pass quite unnoticed in the casting director's office of a picture studio, are in reality greater sheiks in their own set than the stars so heralded.

Shy, demure, sensible-looking girls are discovered to be the authors of burning love letters and embued with the idea that Cleopatra has nothing on them when it comes to luring a local easy-mark Anthony.

On the other hand, some of the most gorgeous creatures, who look like exotic romance, are decidedly sensible. They wouldn't stoop to an affair with another woman's husband.

Burglar's Knowledge of Farmhouse Interior Questioned

"YOU know," Mrs. Tiver went on earnestly, "I believe sometimes you can sense when something is wrong, even when you don't know a thing about it. Do you ever feel that way?"

"Very often," I returned.

"Well! that was the way it was when that Mr. Hallam—that was what he said his name was—began to talk about the interior of your house intriguing him. I hadn't thought that much about it when he was drawing other people's houses, but I didn't care much about his drawing yours. And I made an excuse to get Sam and Jerry into the kitchen with the door shut while the man was getting his things ready to draw.

"'Don't either of you dare tell him anything about the farmhouse,' I told them. 'Whatever he draws, let him think it's all right.'

"'All right, all right,' Sam says, you know that funny little way he has when he knows he's beat. 'But I hain't going to tell no lie,' he says. 'I won't tell him where he's wrong, and I won't describe nothing, but if he don't get it right I'm going to say "you're wrong," and tell him how many rooms he's wrong. But I won't tell him which rooms, nor I won't take no quarter offen him for any room, because I won't be giving him value received.'

"Well! It was enough to make you believe in witches to see that man draw the inside of your house," my neighbor went on. He got the downstairs just about perfect, with the exception of that little pantry store room off the kitchen—he didn't have that in at all. And then he went at the upstairs slower as if he wasn't so sure. But he made out pretty well, except that he shifted the sides of the house around. Marion's small room and her mother's and yours was on the side where Mrs. Bickett has the nursery and Junior's bedroom and her own room while those rooms he drew on the other side. Sam got awful excited while he was looking at them, and I knew he was thinking of the quarters he might have had.

"But Sam didn't go back on his word. He waited until the plan was done and then he says—I ought to collect seven quarters, because you've got seven rooms wrong, but I hain't going to take any cent, because I'm not going to tell you which rooms are wrong.'

"I was looking straight at Mr. Hallam when he said it and for a second there was the funniest look in the man's eyes.

"He never said anything more about the house, and after that night he didn't do any more drawing of anything. But he got to making a lot of Jerry, flattering him up like a buttered parsnip about Jerry's being such a good authority on fishing and hunting and paying the boy to take him out into the bay for fishing. Jerry just about thought the man was made of apple pie. But I never thought Jerry would take him over to your house. He never said nothing about it if he did. I'm afraid. I'm afraid."

"Of course Jerry took him over there," my mother-in-law said tartly, then as Mrs. Tiver's cheeks and lips whitened, she added more kindly:

"But that doesn't mean that we blame Jerry. The man, of course, was a very shrewd person. Jerry was like wax in his hands. And your story has cleared up one question in my mind, and that is the way the man got in."

She looked from Mrs. Tiver to me and back again with a triumphant little air, and then settled back in her chair without explaining the naive little boast she just had made.

The Marry-Go-Round

By HELEN ROWLAND

This Is Your 'Weak Moment'

THIS is the dangerous season, when a woman doesn't know whether to put on the brakes or step on the gas. Her heart says "GO!" But her common sense says "STOP!"

caution right off its trolley. She is full of "weak moments."

In the Spring a woman does more foolish things than in all the rest of the year put together.

It is so easy for her to mistake the moonlight in some girl-fancier's eyes for the love-light—and to fall into something that LOOKS just like love!

Or to rush out and squander a Winter's savings on a lot of flowered frocks that make her look like "Little Buttercup," and a dozen picture hats that make her look like a "mistaken identity."

Or to stroll under the stars (beside another April Fool) in chiffon and thin slippers, courting romance and pneumonia—and trouble.

* * *

The truth is, that her soul needs a Spring tonic, her vanity needs a stimulant, and almost anything in the right dinner coat looks like the answer to prayer, or like "Pate," to her.

That's what Spring does to a woman—and to a man, too, for that matter.

It is the flirt of the seasons, the magic time, when you forgive your enemies, forget your age, fling away your money, dawdle over your work, "change partners" in the game of hearts, and laugh in the face of discretion and prudence.

When a woman's imagination wakes up—and her judgment seems to go into a deep coma.

When a man's heart begins to suffer from "growing pains," and his emotions go to his head and make him see double every time he looks at a pretty girl.

When the bachelor dallies with the thought that "two can live as cheaply as one"—and forgets how much more merrily one can live on the same money.

When the bachelor girl gazes at her pay envelope and wonders if freedom is sweeter than coffee and kisses for two.

When the Tired Business Man hears the call of the golf-green much more distinctly than the call of the office telephone.

And the weary housewife wonders vaguely if packing things away in moth balls, and putting up dining room curtains and fly screens is really ALL there is to life!

How to Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

Carbon Monoxide Poisoning

ONE can scarcely pick up a newspaper nowadays without seeing the account of some fatality from carbon monoxide gas.

DR. COPELAND

Only recently a man in Cleveland lighted the gas burner under a hot water heater in the kitchen of his apartment, and also the three burners of the gas range. While standing in another room he suddenly felt ill, and, realizing the gas was escaping, ran to turn it out. He neglected to turn out the burner under the hot water heater. At this point he was entirely overcome and sank to the floor, but at just that moment a neighbor luckily appeared, and saved his life.

You perhaps read of the cook who put something on the gas stove to boil, and then proceeded to lie down and go to sleep. The water boiled over, put out the gas flame, and the whole family was asphyxiated by carbon monoxide. There are hundreds of such cases, and what is to be done about it?

The very fact that carbon monoxide gas has neither odor nor taste makes it a real menace to public health. Disaster comes without warning.

The manufactured gas for heating and cooking used in almost every city where natural gas is not available contains as high as 20 per cent of carbon monoxide. Natural gas contains a negligible amount of it. Illuminating gas contains much of it.

The hazards from this poisonous gas lie not alone in the boiling over of the family coffee pot. There is danger from the furnace closed too tightly, in any leaking of a valve of the gas range or from the hot water heater. There is a menace, too, in the closed garage with the motor running, and on the congested city streets where so much traffic lies.

Civilization has brought these new methods of heating and lighting and motive power. With it has come new dangers to public health. The danger from carbon monoxide is very great.

In spite of repeated warnings, some persons will persist, without thinking, in starting the motor of an automobile running in the garage with windows and doors shut tight. Without realizing the deadly menace in the escaping carbon monoxide gas, they are overcome and expire.

It is a serious thing when there is a leakage or break in your gas range. If you have one of the old-fashioned flexible tubes to a gas heater you should make sure there is no escaping gas from it. See that your water heater is in good condition.

Pollution of the air from the exhaust of automobiles on congested city streets is a problem hard to control. We hope it will soon be solved by the automobile and gas manufacturers themselves. Already there are under way experiments on certain devices to lessen the trouble.

In cases of carbon monoxide poisoning there are certain things that must be done for the victim. A doctor should be called at once.

Prevention is even better than the cure. We can give warnings of the danger, but the public must take heed of the fact that careless use of these agents may result in ill health and even death.

Correct Manners

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

Correcting an Unfair Impression

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

I am single and live with my married sister. We will say her name is "Jones," and mine "Smith." Whenever my sister sends a large gift or floral piece, she puts on the small card "From the Jones family," including me. But when the gift is received only my sister and husband are remembered and thanked. It seems people do not think I belong to the family. Should we word it "From the Smiths and Jones?" This does not look or sound proper to me.

L. T.

IT would be very simple to correct this unfair impression if your sister would sign definite names on the card. For instance, if she uses a formal engraved card—say a "Mr. and Mrs." card—she would leave the names of herself and her husband, and write yours underneath them, formally, with the Miss as it is engraved.

Or, if she would send single cards, one of her own, one of her husband's, and one of yours, this would help matters.

Or, if she doesn't use formal cards when sending these gifts, she could write the formal names on a plain white card:

Mr. and Mrs. Ward Jones
Miss Cynthia Smith

Or, if she wishes not to send the gift formally, but to indicate the informal names, she might write on the card:

Dearest love from Beatrice and Ward Jones and Cynthia Smith

There is no reason why she should use these plurals, when it would be so simple to indicate each one individually.

Convenient Placing of the Salad

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

1. Is the correct place for the salad (when served with the meat course) at the right of the plate?

2. Is it not permissible to place it at the left?

B. M.

THE salad, when served with the meat course, may be placed at the side that is the more convenient one. Usually, in restaurants, waiters make a great point of placing the salad on the left of the guest. Why, I cannot understand. Surely it is not so convenient for the guest to eat the salad when it is on the left. If there is only one glass on the right, it seems to me that this is the more convenient place for the salad. However, it is purely a matter of choice and what we think is convenient.

The Request, a Guest's Privilege

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

I expect to have two men, friends of the family, for dinner some evening in the near future. The question that is puzzling me is what to say in regard to asking them if they care to wash their hands before eating.

C. O.

IT is not necessary, or especially polite, to ask this question. For we take for granted that our guests have washed their hands before they arrive at our homes for dinner.

However, under special circumstances, it is quite all right for our guests to ask if they may wash their hands before they enter the dining room. For instance, when we are dining most informally, and when a guest has, say, come from his or her office directly to our home, we should quite take it for granted that they may ask for the privilege of washing the hands before dinner. However, from the very personal nature of the request, it would seem better that the request come from the guests than that it should come from the hostess.

Enigma

LOVE is so new. When did it dawn,
This wonder that transforms all things,
This dream from which all dreams are drawn,
To lend to plodding thought bright wings?

Love is so old. Since time began,
Through Earth's uncounted dynasties,
All lovers have thus loved to plan,
All have built castles fair as these.

Love is so frail. A word may blight
The sweetest bloom on all life's tree,
A look may quench the soul's delight,
A sigh may end its ecstasy.

Lose is so strong. No space or time
Can kill that clear, enduring spark;
Enigma, frail or strong, sublime;
Its light alone illumes Earth's dark.

The lines of Lisa's simple beige sports frock appealed to her, and she loved the crêpe organdy collar and gilet all-over embroidered.
And then Poiret tucks butter cups in the hole of a tailleur
Oh! such darling ruffles, horsehair,
Wouldn't you dance the dawn in, in pale blue crêpe slippers, strass studded?

Household Hints

Linoleum can be polished with sour milk.

Rub the handles of your knives with turpentine if they turn yellow. It will make them white again.

A rip tomato will remove ink stains from linen. Cut the tomato in half and rub on the stain; leave for a few minutes and then repeat until the stain disappears.

To wash sponges, add a dessertspoonful of ammonia to the soap lather.

When damping clothes before ironing, warm water spreads through them better than cold.

Tea leaves may be found invaluable for cleaning varnished wood if they are saved for a few days and soaked in a pint of hot water for half an hour.

The Beauty Box

By HELEN FOLLETT

MORE and more, the universal sisterhood is stepping along toward individual beauty—beauty of personality. The forward step was necessary, since good looks are almost a drug on the market. External perfections are admirable and women will chase after them as long as the world wags on. Now they're out after charm, something that does not depend upon the outline of facial features, or what the scales say when you step on them. The new ambition is aroused by the fact that, whereas, in the past a person asked "Is she pretty?" he now inquires, "Is she interesting?"

ACTIVE decay in teeth, the doctors say, is due to deficiency in the diet. The teeth are not getting the good groceries they require for their vitality and well-being. These substances are found in fruits, vegetables and cereals. When the teeth are brushed, the gums should be massaged, either with a toothbrush of fairly soft bristles, or with the fingers dipped in tooth paste.

FACIAL surgeons in Paris, who take tucks in ladies' faces to wipe out wrinkled areas, reap a harvest from American women. The travelers can have the work done there without the next-door neighbor at home being any the wiser. Some operations are successful, some are not, according to the condition of the skin and the skill of the doctor who makes the incisions and takes the cute little stitches.

HAND and arm massage: Anoint with a heavy cream and using one hand as a bracelet, massage from wrist to shoulder. Pat on almond meal over the cream, apply steaming hot Turkish towels for five or ten minutes. Remove cream with tepid water, dry and powder the arms with talcum. During the massage rub the cream into the cuticle about the finger nails.

TO whittle down the waistline and the hips, all those exercises that pull hard on the muscles of the torso are effective. Arms and legs get exercise during the ordinary activities of the day, but abdominal muscles have a soft snap, as far as work is concerned. That is why hips spread and tummies bulge; the old elastic bands have lost resiliency and have gone saggy.

Tomorrow's Horoscope

Tuesday, April 15.

A VERY lively and eventful day in both business and personal affairs is presaged from the predominant sidereal operations. The energies will be under high stimulus with the spirit of enterprise leading to large adventures. Under this impetus there may be progress and prosperity in spite of small anxieties and setbacks. The private affiliations may have some unusual or spectacular development, but, withal, may bring substantial pleasure or advantages.

Those whose birthday it is may look for a year of progress and prosperity under the stimulus of heightened initiative and quickened energies. All affairs will be lively, and the personal contacts spectacular or unconventional. But, withal, there should be many reassuring experiences and advantages, despite small anxieties or changes.

A child born on this day should be energetic and ambitious, and should reach substantial position through its own indomitable will and its own personal originality and initiative, personal as well as business. It might make important success in real estate, mining, machinery or agriculture.

SIDE WALKS of PITTSBURGH

by WILLIAM DFARR

WE FEEL that the time has come to declare that the welfare of this great nation is being imperiled by the stein song of the University of Maine. We appreciate all that the song has done for us, but enough is enough. Every time we hear the name Rudy Vallee we picture him, in all his innocence, lifting his stein to the good old University of Maine. What we yearn for these days is the radio that automatically becomes deaf once the stein song comes over. Oh, for the good old pre-stein song days.

Elmer Kenyon, who was a sedate teacher of English at Schenley High School a year or so ago, is having what might be called, without taxing the mind, the time of his life as a lecturer for the Theater Guild. Mr. Kenyon is really a press agent, for he precedes the Guild plays to this town or that and tries to drum up interest with his speeches.

It is no easy hop, skip and jump from a high school room to ballyhoo, but we submit that Mr. Kenyon has leaped the gulch gracefully and successfully. In fact, we told him yesterday he was a born press agent. We told him that after he told us this:

"When I arrived at one of the Y. M. C. A.'s in St. Louis to give a speech, the beaming chairman told me a very good audience had turned out to hear my speech—200 young, healthy men. It seems they were having a program of boxing bouts the same night, and I was to make my speech between bouts. However, the chairman assured me that everybody had come to hear me—the bouts were incidental.

"I stepped into the boxing ring immediately after two mastodonic heavyweights had entertained the audience. I was deeply puzzled as to how, in this atmosphere, I could interest the audience in any of the Guild's plays.

"However, I began by telling of the old-time boxers I had seen at the Bijou in the melodramas of 20 years ago—Terry McGovern, Sullivan, Fitzsimmons and all the rest. The audience seemed to like this. And then I went on to describe how boxing, as a battle of strength, was a contrast to 'Marco Millions' (a Guild play), which was a battle of the mind. And from then on it was easy to tell all about our play."

JOHN HARRIS, the well-known acrobat, reports that this actually happened in a downtown restaurant the other night. A young man about town was having dinner with a beautiful woman when his sweetheart happened to enter the restaurant. The sweetheart, too, had another friend for the time being, but when she saw her first love her eyes blazed and before an interested audience she let loose a torrent of adjectives and adverbs.

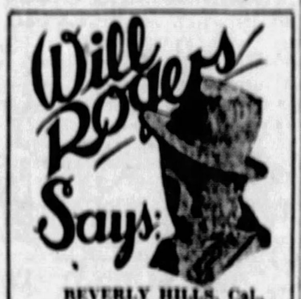
"You this and that," she accused her sweetheart, and for five minutes she rambled on.

"But, honey," the young man interrupted, "you're keeping other company yourself, aren't you?"

"Now don't try to change the subject," the sweetheart replied.



BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., April 14.

AT Sacramento Saturday 19 Army planes reached an altitude of 30,000 feet. It was 40 below zero, and all used oxygen tanks. When one flier used to reach that altitude we thought it was a miracle. Yet here were 19 flying in formation. These are the greatest air maneuvers ever held. That's one mighty satisfying thing about our country. Our fine young men can get us ready for wars faster than our diplomats can talk us into them. It took 40 experts and statesmen three months in London to sink the poor Utah and Florida. These 19 would have sunk London, including all the delegations, before breakfast any morning.

Ardeth Consents to Work in Jeanette's New Shop

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

Ardeth Carroll is being wooed by Neil Burke, who rooms with her Aunt Stella. Almost every night when she returns home from work she finds him waiting in the hall for her, and he often causes her to be late for dinner. Aunt Stella gets angered and scolds Ardeth for holding back the meals. Ardeth feels depressed. Ardeth goes for a machine ride with Neil. Passing through a park Ardeth gazes at Kent Gleason, a college football player, whom she knows to see. Neil shows signs of jealousy. Later, when Neil kisses her, Ardeth realizes that she does not love him. Jeanette Parker, society girl, calls at the store to see Ardeth. Jeanette is revengeful against her own sister, Cecile, who is taking the spotlight of prominence from her.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER V.

"COME back for that sandalwood fan you were looking at last week, Miss Parker?" Ardeth asked as she came up to Jeanette.

"No. Something more important. You," Jeanette blew a cloud of cigaret smoke down her long, thin nose and looked mysterious. "Ardeth, love, you and I are going into business together."

Ardeth regarded her with puzzled golden eyes.

"I'm fed up on society stuff," said Jeanette loftily. "I'll kick and scream if I have to go to another tea or a dance or a bridge game! I've become an Earnest Worker, Ardeth. I'm going to open a shop and you must come and run it for me."

Ardeth looked her astonishment. "A shop? You!"

A Parker turned shopkeeper! Jeanette smiled. Very pleasant to have this girl's obvious admiration. Soothing to vanity bruised by years of playing second fiddle to a younger and prettier sister.

"Yes, infant. A shop—I" she nodded. "I told you I was utterly fed up on the social end. You've no idea how I'm run ragged, Ardeth. The price of popularity, I suppose!" She shrugged with an air of comic helplessness. "But I happen to have a mind which demands food—and I'm out after a career, darling." She flipped the ash from her cigaret airily.

The other girl stared at her, uncertain how to take this.

Ardeth could not begin to guess at the tangled events which had led up to this moment.

A Pose
An Excuse to Shun Social Events

What Jeanette would not admit—even to herself—was that this sudden decision on her part was a pose. It was to be an excuse for not shining socially as did the younger and prettier Cecile.

Jeanette was already practicing little slighting remarks about "idle women" which she would toss off to admiring male acquaintances — hoping they would take the hint and mark the difference between her own efficiency and her sister's frivolity.

"Her business" would provide a convenient excuse for refusing invitations to dances and houseparties where she would be a wall flower.

"I'd love to go, of course—" Jeanette would say airily, "but I'm a working woman now, you know . . . My business . . . I'm so devoted to it . . ." She would give a little expressive shrug. That line should go well with men.

She went on. "I'm going to open a small specialty shop in the finest shopping district. No especial line, you know, but the newest and most expensive novelties. The latest perfume. Or slipper buckles. And Spanish shawls. And I want you, Infant, to come and tend shop for me."

Puzzled
Ardeth Does Not Know What to Do

She knew what she was doing, did Jeanette. She did not intend being tied down to daily duty behind a counter.

So long as it pleased her she would play at "keeping store." But she wished to be free to put on her hat when the mood moved her to drift to the St. Francis or the Fairmount in the afternoon to boast of her business over the tea table.

Ardeth was to be the crew. Jeaneete would be all the officers.

"I'll pay you whatever you're getting here . . ." she went on capably. "I must have you with me—"

Ardeth had turned away and was absently shoving about package of incense with one slender figure. Her face was carefully business-like, but her heart had set up an exciting pounding.

Instead of Jeanette's torrent of words she was listening to a tremulous inner voice. Ken Gleason—he had been in the Parker group yesterday. If she went with Jeanette—some day Ken might come into the shop—he would speak to her. Was this to be the way?

She tried to tear her distracted thoughts away from him. This was an important move . . . Here, where she now was, there was an assured future. If she went with Jeanette she would be dependent upon a rich girl's caprice.

How the sun had gleamed on his hair yesterday. And that strange moment when his deep gaze had met her own and had been unable to glance away.

"Well . . .!" Jeanette's voice was half amused, half offended.

Ardeth had the impression of being in a grasp of some fate too strong for her. The sense that she was being breathlessly hurried along—to what?

Consents
Promises to Go to Work For Jeanette

"I—I—All right, Miss Parker—" she heard herself stammering. "I'll take it. When do you want me?"

Jeanette's black eyes snapped. She was suddenly feverish for action. "When you can get away from here. I want to open in time for the Fashion Show. I know of a place on Grant avenue I can rent . . ."

"The end of the week, then." There was a frightened and exulting note in Ardeth's voice.

"Done!" Jeanette rose and crushed the cigaret in an ash tray. "I'll run along and start the wheels turning. I'll see you tomorrow—"

She departed in a glow of action and importance. Already Jeanette was boasting in her mind to an imaginary audience. "—I hired this girl I had in mind and inside of a week the place was running, my dear! I'm like that when I start anything—red hot decisions—"

Ardeth was swept by doubts and fears. Yet under the thoughts which she tried to make deliberate and staid, was beating the consciousness of Ken Gleason. Fate . . . rushing her toward him . . .

Disapproval
People at Home Are Pessimistic

That night, at the dinner table, she announced her decision to an unappreciative audience.

Aunt Stel regarded her from beneath knit brows. "Be sure you don't come to grief with your high and mighty ideas," she said darkly. "Your fine friend will get tired of her scheme over night an' you'll find yourself holdin' the bag, my girl!"

"Think you're going to bust into society?" inquired Bet sourly. "I suppose we'll be reading all about you running with the Burlingame crowd now you're so popular with the Parkers! Well, they aren't marrying shop girls, let me tell you that!"

Ardeth's golden eyes blazed under level brows. "You'll tell me anything, Bet—providing it was nasty enough!" she said in a low, shaking voice.

And the real battle came with Neil. He was waiting in the dark hall when she let herself into the house the next evening.

She gave a little startled cry as he stepped out of the shadows and grasped her arms. In the thick light his face was white, and the black eyes burning down into her own were wild.

Hundreds Get Thrills As District Turns To New Fad for Sport

Yo Yo has only been in Pittsburgh about two weeks yet, in this short time, it has become a fad that is quickly spreading to every nook and corner of the city.

Hundreds and hundreds are Yo Yoing who didn't know, two weeks ago, whether Yo Yo was a name of a newly scaled mountain peak or that of a horse at the Wheeling race track.

PRODUCES THRILL

However, if you have not yet made the discovery, Yo Yo is a brilliantly painted little wooden double disc with a groove in it for a winding string. Attach one end of the string to the finger, wind the string into the groove of the disc, give the Yo Yo a quick toss and get the thrill of seeing the Yo Yo smartly roll back to your hand. The more times you can make it roll back, without stopping and rewinding, the more proficient you are as a Yo Yoer.

Dick Powell was among the first to go Yo Yoing. Two weeks ago he left Pittsburgh for a two weeks' vacation on his Arkansas farm. He took some Yo Yos with him and came back a day or two ago ready to Yo Yo with all-comers for dollars or marbles.

Saturday afternoon there was another Warner Brothers - Sun - Telegraph Yo Yo matinee at the Enright theater, and something over 1,000 boys and girls were given these little toys in exchange for the special coupons they had clipped from this newspaper.

YO YO PARTY

Next Saturday afternoon there will be another Yo Yo matinee at the Enright, and next Monday there will be special matinees at the Warner Brothers neighborhood houses listed in the coupon.

Boys and girls who want to go Yo Yo with all the rest of Pittsburgh can get in the game by clipping this coupon from the Sun-Telegraph and taking it to any one of the theaters listed.

And if you are not Yo Yoing within a day or two, you'll be the exception.

Woman Is Injured In Fall on Sidewalk

Mrs. Hazel McCormick, 29, of 811 Locust street, suffered bruises on the knees when she fell on the sidewalk in front of the new county office building, Diamond and Ross streets, yesterday. After being treated by a physician, Mrs. McCormick was able to go to her home.

DICK POWELL

Yo Yo-ing is a favorite pastime of Dick Powell, who is vacationing in his home in Arkansas. The new fad hit Pittsburgh just before he left the city, but he took a Yo Yo with him when he departed.

Children in Home Calm as Bolt Hits Chimney

Lightning which destroyed the chimney of St. Rita's Home for Infants in Tannehill street, failed to hurt the appetites of 147 children in the place.

Sisters in charge of the home quieted the children when the lightning struck the chimney during the storm last night. Save for the chimney, the building was not damaged.

The children, whose ages range from infancy to five years, assembled for the evening meal, remained calm and continued with their dinner.

Shady Side Church Marks 40th Year

Special morning and evening services brought a close to the fortieth anniversary celebration at the Shady Side United Presbyterian Church, Center avenue and Cypress street, yesterday. The anniversary sermon was delivered yesterday morning by Dr. A. Gordon MacLennen, pastor. James C. Mace was in charge of the young people's service last night. The quartet of the Shady Side Presbyterian Church united with the choir of the church for a musical program.

HOME PERMITS GAIN $50,000

An increase of $50,000 in home building permits granted last month over March of 1929, has been announced by H. L. Ley, superintendent of the Pittsburgh Bureau of Building Inspection. The number of permits issued was one less than a year ago.

Ley holds the increase as a sign that the decline in such building shown in January and February, as compared with the same period of 1929, is over. January outlays for residence building were said to be about 50 per cent of those in 1929, while February fell to about 36 per cent. In March, 107 permits were issued, with a total value of $784,800, while in March, 1929, the 108 permits amounted to $735,200.

FIVE ESCAPE BULLETS OF POLICE

Girl Thrown Out as Speeding Car Turns Corner in Wild Dash; Four Others Sought

Two youths and two girls who, in their flight from police injured a man and struck half a dozen machines with a stolen car, were being sought today. One of the girls was tossed out of the machine on the South Side where the chase, which began in West Homestead, ended with the abandoning of the machine.

Motorcycle Patrolman Harold Russell, of West Homestead, chased the car toward Pittsburgh. He fired two shots at it in Hays borough and three more as it sped onward toward the city. One of the occupants hurled a jack handle at him, the missile striking him in the leg. They also tried to run him down, he said.

Andrew Perko, 29, of 5010 Blair street, walking in River Road, was struck by the machine and hurled down an embankment. He was rushed to the South Side Hospital.

GIRL THROWN OUT

South Side police were investigating another accident near the junction of River road and Carson street when the speeding car approached. A crowd of curious was scattered, and fenders were torn from four automobiles. South Side police then joined in the chase. In Carson street the stolen machine hit a street car, careened and hit another machine. A 14-year-old girl was thrown to the street as the machine rounded a corner into Twenty-sixth street. Because of her youth, the Sun-Telegraph will not publish her name. The machine was found a short time later at South Seventeenth and Jane streets, where it had been abandoned.

Oakland police are searching for a "hit-run" driver who abandoned his car after injuring three persons at Fifth avenue and Neville street last night. Adelaide Cowell, 15, and her brother, E. J. Cowell, 22, of 525 Peebles street, Wilkinsburg, were cut and bruised when their car was hit by the other machine, which then swerved into the car of Mrs. Flora Weber, of 4614 Henry street, injuring her baby slightly. The driver then leaped from his machine and ran.

Stage to Win Over Purged Talkies, Star Says

Theaters of the future are going to be smaller and exclusively for the intellectual, if Will Hays, movie czar, carries out his promise, Ernest Glendinning, lead in "Strange Interlude," believes.

"The theaters are going to be smaller, I think," he said yesterday, "and then the slogan probably will be 'A place for adult entertainment'; that is, in the event the talkies are limited to the child-like, which Will Hays indicates. Perhaps the movie czar is only trying to stave off a superimposed censorship, but if he intends to keep the talkies sweet and simple, the legitimate theater will be the only form of intellectual entertainment. That there will be fewer producers—and these less mercenary—also is to be expected."

Glendinning is playing "Charlie" in the O'Neill drama at the Nixon. And he is playing the Nixon for the first time in his career.

"I was interested in coming here because I'd heard a lot about the house. More so now, because over the door at the stage entrance I found a picture — a lithograph of my father who played in this city in 1894. Strangely, although he was younger than I am now, his hair was powdered for the role—as mine is in the latter part of the Interlude. It seems good to play the same boards he did.

"But that's only one coincidence. On the street the other day I heard a fellow call 'leatherneck' to me. We were Marines together at Paris Island during the war. It was C. W. Hofl, a businessman here. We played golf together. It was good, only the ball had too many 'asides.'

"The funniest was last night. Has everyone in Pittsburgh a cough? Miss Risdon (leading lady) spoke a line:

" 'Shh—Is that the baby I hear?'

"And then the biggest male in the audience let out the biggest cough I ever heard."

BUDGET SOLVED BY TECH GIRLS

Six persons can live on a weekly food budget of $12.50 with very attractive menus, senior girls in the Household Economics department at Margaret Morrison Carnegie College, have discovered. And if a little skimping is done, they say, the average family can get along quite nicely on $9 or $10 every seven days.

For several months, as part of their class work groups of six girls at a time have resided in the "Practice Home" on the Tech campus, conducting food budget tests and learning the problems of household management. In conjunction with this, students have worked out actual food budgets for several Pittsburgh families, who are living within this budget.

Even with such a meager outlay, students explain, menus are not beans and coffee. Chicken can be served once per week, and steak, chops and other delicacies find a place on the table. Perhaps the biggest feature discovered by the girls is that it costs more to be a vegetarian than a meat eater. Choice vegetables come higher than meats, they have discovered.

Art Exhibit at Institute Dissolves Centuries

By PENELOPE REDD.

Centuries dissolve under the living touch of the painter's brush in the exhibition of works by old masters in the Carnegie Institute.

Penelope Redd

The collection embraces the distinguished and moreover the undisputed great in its range from fifteenth century Italy to eighteenth century England. Thus Cosimo di Medici, through the virility of Bronzino's art, finds himself projected into the companionship of Mrs. Siddons, the Greta Garbo of Georgian England.

Italian, Dutch and English differing as much in temperament as in history, are reconciled by the peculiar unity that time-free intelligence of the artist imposes upon them. Vital portraiture releases men and women into the timelessness of the graphic arts.

Of the Italian paintings, the "Portrait of a Young Woman" by Perugino implies the essence of the Renaissance by any famous name, legend, or anecdote, to overshadow the Perugino's part, attention is concentrated on the fragile, aloof beauty that seems to belong particularly to the orchid-like creatures of the Renaissance.

A DIPLOMAT'S PORTRAITS

In the Dutch section, Reubens is seen in the mobility of his talent, as a bland diplomat in the "Potrait of Infanta Maria Anna," a Spanish princess. There is somewhat of the sobriety of Velasquez in "Portrait of Anton Trieste, Archbishop of Ghent," a devastating indictment of character; while Rubens', in a broad, direct style, has set down for all time the genial Michel Ophoven in friar's scapular.

Again we find beauty in yet another aspect in Ingres' informal study of his colleague, Paul Lemoyne, the sculptor. There is none of the conventional hauteur so frequent in Ingres' society portraits.

Two of the finest of the English group, "The Hon. Charlotte Chetwynd," by John Hoppner, and "Captain William Kirkpatrick," by George Romney, are from a private collection in Pittsburgh. The portrait of Charlotte Chetwynd, an engaging child, is undoubtedly the choice example of Hoppner's paintings in our community.

Lawrence's portrait of Mrs. Siddons, whose expressive countenance is personalized in a human way, has a careless grace that ingratiates itself with the contemporary mind.

MRS. MONTEITH

One of the exceptional women's portraits by Sir Henry Raeburn, that of Mrs. James Monteith, is a high point in the exhibition. Mrs. Monteith's portrait, painted about 1820, when Raeburn's art was at its experienced best, bears all the charm of the highly feminine fashion then prevailing.

Despite the picturesque quality of her costume with its Empire nuances of short waist and puffed sleeves decorated by beguiling ribbons and lace with a luscious red drapery introduced for contrast, Raeburn has achieved far more than a decorative painting. He has included the clues to Mrs. Monteith's character in the lurking sauciness that threatens to break the bonds into a very human gaiety.

Mrs. Monteith, by Raeburn, is as remote in kind as she is remote in space from the unknown Italian beauty painted by Perugino.

The excellent landscapes in the exhibition will be considered later.

PROTEST DELAY TO TOWN HALL

The two year preliminaries regarding the town hall without a definite decision as to where or when it shall be built has stirred W. H. Newmyer, chairman of the North Side Town Hall Committee to action. In a statement issued today, Mr. Newmyer declared that the people of Allegheny County were getting impatient and that it was time some action was taken.

Newmyer declared that the delay was causing continued loss of the advertising value of the hall and the benefits which would come from keeping abreast of other cities in having a public auditorium."

"The citizens of Allegheny County have manifested the utmost patience in the matter of 'watchful waiting' for something definite regarding the selection of a site for the city-county auditorium," Newmyer said.

"They are ill with town 'hallitis'—they believe our county commissioners should quickly prescribe the remedy."

AGED INVENTOR FOUND DEAD

The struggle of life was over today for Walter Burrow, about 60, who, according to deputy coroners, had eked out an existence as patent attorney and inventor.

He was found dead today on a cot in his little office at 426 Fourth avenue, which had been both home and shop, through the kindness of a real estate firm, which charged him no rental.

Burrow came to Pittsburgh about six years ago from Norfolk, Va., where he was well known and of a prominent family, deputies learned. He spent much of his time aiding in the patenting of a walking hobby horse, as a children's toy.

The aged man had told little of his past, but it is believed he was unmarried. His death was attributed to heart disease. His body will be held in an effort to find relatives in Norfolk.

Camera Question Box

The Sun-Telegraph's "Camera Question Box" each day will ask a question of public interest to Pittsburghers and will photograph those interviewed.

Today's Question: Can a family of six persons live on a weekly food budget of $15 per week within any degree of comfort?

Thomas Lippert

THOMAS LIPPERT, editor, Oakland: A family of five persons can't live on $15 and keep a decent standard. However, they could exist, but that is about all. They wouldn't get much enjoyment out of their food.

GEORGE SUITT, Forbes street: No, I don't think they could. All they'd be able to eat would probably be beans, coffee and bread, with possibly a few cheap cuts of meat thrown in between. Fifteen dollars isn't much money when there are six to feed.

George Suitt

Miss Bowser

DOROTHY BOWSER, home economics student, Carnegie Tech: Yes a family can. In our classes on home management, we have discovered that such an arrangement is possible and that the family can live very comfortably. One family I know of lives very well on $8 per week.

VIRGINIA BEAM, Oakland: If anyone doubts a family of six can live on a $15 food expense, just let them take a trip to the Tech practice home. The girls there will tell you that it's not only possible, but is actually being done. And they eat well too.

Miss Beam

Miss Barr

MARY BARR, student, Carnegie Tech: I have seen families of five or six persons get along nicely on as low as $9 per week. Of course, they didn't eat filet mignon or anything like that, but what they did have was very tasty. Yes, it's possible.

GERTRUDE GERHUM, Oakland: In my home practice class I've watched the results accomplished. In Carnegie Tech's practice home the girls are limited to a $12.50 per week budget for food. They have chicken once a week, drink a pint of milk every day and have a variegated diet.

Downpour Brings End to Heat Wave

Lower temperatures will prevail today as a result of the heavy thundershowers of yesterday and last night. Weather Forecaster W. S. Brotzman's prediction called for cooler weather today and tomorrow. Yesterday was another record-breaking day as far as warm weather was concerned. The high mark during the afternoon was 82 degrees, the highest temperature on record for April 13.

PATRICIA PITT'S SPRIGHTLY COMMENT ON PITTSBURGH'S SOCIETY HAPPENINGS

Bride-Elect To Be Much Feted

ALTHOUGH Lent no longer padlocks up every scrap of fun during its duration of 40 days and 40 nights, large balls are not held, or debuts. But more intimate entertainments are frequent. Small luncheons, dinners, bridges and parties for brides-to-be dispel the Lenten pall.

This week will not hold so many entertainments as the past days have, for it's holy week. There'll be a few entertainments though, and of course Saturday will bring many more since Lent ends at noon on the Saturday before Easter.

Providing social interest this week will be pre-nuptial entertainments for a bride of Easter Monday, Helen Rebecca West, daughter of the Charles H. Wests, of Forbes street, who'll marry Alexander Logan Wilson, of New York, formerly of Pittsburgh, a week from this very day.

Day after tomorrow Mrs. John Logan Wilson, mother of the bridegroom-to-be, will entertain with a tea in her home in the King Edward Apartments. And Mrs. William J. Powell, sister of the bride-elect, will entertain with a rehearsal dinner in the Longue Vue Club.

Others who'll entertain for Helen, who made her bow to society several seasons ago, will be Louise Evans, Donald Straub, Bettie Guiler and Bettie Dunlap, and Katherine Schley and her fiance, H. Allen Machesney, Jr.

ONE of the events at Asheville which will attract many northern folks will be the cherry blossom ball on April 22 in the George Vanderbilt Hotel. Among those from Pittsburgh at Asheville, enjoying riding and golf and horse shows, are Dr. and Mrs. Alexander C. Blair, the Paul Stevensons, and Virginia Stevenson, and they are all at the Grove Park Inn.

Resort Attracts

Stopping at the Asheville-Biltmore are the H. F. Robertsons and the N. Rices.

Mrs. William Welch Collin, Jr., of Sewickley, is expected home from Hot Springs on Thursday.

Home from Florida are the James A. McClungs of Edgeworth.

And I've heard that the James Barlow Cullums have as their house guest Mrs. Charlotte Bennett Roff, of New York.

WHILE most folks are returning home for Easter, many who've been in town for some time or all winter are planning Easter vacations. One group has left for a 12-day Easter cruise to the West Indies. In the party are the Dean Sturgises, Mrs. Charles Lenahans, the Samuel D. Fosters, Mrs. P. C. Patterson, Miss Jessie Patterson, John Benfield, W. S. Wingate, the Robert E. Bingers, the junior Albert G. Riecks, Carl E. Rieck and Mrs. Howard J. Diebold. Sailing for Bermuda Saturday were Mrs. H. M. O'Bleness, of the Schenley Apartments, Mrs. Anna Tranter and her small son, Joseph Tranter.

MISS HARRIETT COLWELL RICHMOND, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Phillip Richmond, Madeira street, became the bride of William Seth Lampe, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl C. Lampe, of the East End, Saturday afternoon at 5:30 o'clock in the home of the bride's parents with the Rev. James Best, of the First United Presbyterian Church, of Wilkinsburg, officiating.

Married In Home

The ceremony was performed before an embankment of cibotium ferns and crotons with seven-branch candelabra bearing cathedral candles on either side.

An empire gown of ivory crepe was worn by the bride, who was given in marriage by her father. She carried a colonial bouquet. William Pfarr was the best man.

Playing the wedding march was Miss Veronica Burke, of Kentucky avenue, who accompanied Mrs. Richard Burgis, of New York, who sang before the ceremony.

A reception followed the wedding with covers laid for 16 at the bride's table, centered with spring flowers. Mr. and Mrs. Lampe are motoring to Miami, from where they will go by airplane to Havana. After June 1 they will be at home in Beechwood boulevard.

A MOST attractive wedding took place Tuesday afternoon when Miss Josephine Evans Fresh, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Fresh, of Ligonier, became the bride of James Wallace Hopkins, of Pittsburgh, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stewart T. Hopkins, of Wilmington, N. C. The ceremony took place at 4:30 o'clock in the Fresh home with the Rev. Carl Albert Schoog, minister in the First Methodist Church of Ligonier, officiating.

Ligonier Wedding

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attired in a French model of eggshell satin in princess mode. Her veil of tulle was held by a cap of rose point. She carried a sheaf of calla lilies. Miss Adeline Fresh, as her sister's maid of honor and only attendant, wore a frock of dust pink chiffon with puff sleeves and a net yoke with a long skirt. She carried spring flowers with delphinium matching the large blue velvet bow on her Italian lace hat.

Thomas Stewart Hopkins served as his brother's best man. Mrs. Richard C. Burgis, of Long Island, N. Y., sang, and Miss Donna Smeltzer, of Pittsburgh, played the wedding music. A reception was given after the wedding and later Mr. and Mrs. Hopkins left for New York where they sailed on a Carribean cruise. They will be at home after May 1 in the Arlington Apartments.

Out-of-town guests were Mrs. Archibald M. Evans, Cumberland, Md.; Mrs. Benjamin H. Evans, of Lonaconing, Md.; Mrs. William D. PRAISE OF U. S. TO WIN PRIZE

NEW YORK, April 14.—(AP.)—To encourage the writing of a book to reveal "The Soul of America," the National Arts Club has announced it is offering a prize of $3,000 for the best literary work of that title.

The award is to be made by a committee of members of the National Arts Club consisting of William Allen White, chairman; Mary Austin, Hamlin Garland, Ida Tarbell and Henry Goodard Leach.

The work may be clothed in any literary form: Novel, history, poetry or critical essay, but it must be constructive, the announcement said.

The sponsors of the contest feel "that the post-war literature of the past decade has been given largely to magnifying national fau' and to a cynical criticism o' passing ohases of our national life."

In the deluge of such books, the announcement said, the underlying character of America, its achievements and its ideals, have been submerged.

It is hoped the prize "will serve to bring out another and older view of the aspects of our civilization which are fundamental and admirable."

Record Crowd Attends Federation District Junior Meeting

AT every conference of junior clubwomen, the regular observer of club doings marvels anew (and continuously) at the self-possession, the alert thinking, the businesslike qualities and the comprehensive outlook of these intrepid infants of the club world.

More than 150 juniors crowded the Outlook Alliance room and overflowed into the hall of the Congress of Clubs on Saturday afternoon for the third annual junior district conference of the State Federation of Pennsylvania Women, every minute of which held something of interest.

In passing, may one ask are the juniors to have one fault in common with their elders? Only one-half of the unexpectedly large number had made dinner reservations, in spite of the fact that they had been requested to do so. To the eternal credit of Mrs. Milton C. Reno, clubhouse manager, be is said that, with the help of the cheerful and ever-faithful Joseph, she rose to the difficult occasion nobly and fed the entire number satisfactorily and satisfyingly.

Mrs. J. M. Steim's call to order, a group of melodious numbers by the Crafton Junior Choral, introduction of the state chairman, Mrs. R. Maurice Snyder, and her vice chairman, Mrs. R. B. Perry, and several state and county officials, a splendid little talk by Mrs. J. E. McKirdy, district senior president, all were part of the opening ceremonies. Mrs. C. C. Taylor, sightless chairman of the work for the blind, gave a few words concerning her work, and urged every clubwoman to become a patron of blind skill, which, she said, is neither service nor charity, but simply the purchase of a necessary article at standard price, which purchase gives recognition and approval of handicapped citizens in their efforts to be self-sustaining.

The junior problems discussion so ably led by Miss Minnie Stein, president of the National Council of Jewish Juniors, was revealing of the way in which these juniors work. Each one on the program gave an excellent talk, quite to the point, one of the most interesting being that of Miss Dorothy Brown, of New Kensington, who told of the co-operation of the townspeople in establishing and maintaining a local library. The juniors raised more than $1,000 at a charity ball. This is to go towards their pledge of the librarian's salary. Miss Charlotte Shallenberger, accompanied by Miss Janet Spaugh, sang most pleasingly.

Discuss Problem

The dinner session included Mrs. Snyder's talk, largely a summing up and answering of the afternoon's discussion given in Mrs. Snyder's crisply and humorously characteristic manner. Mrs. David Denman, president of Westmoreland County Clubs, gave an original talk in which she fitted club ethics into the likeness of many childhood games. There were violin solos by Miss Alberta Mock, accompanied by Miss Mary Marvintz and, to close, an original and clever skit in rhyme by Mrs. W. Riley Alter and her daughter, Miss Lois Ann Alter, which contrasted "The Old Club and the New."

CHECKED MATERIAL GAINING POPULARITY WITH SUITS

Sketched in Paris

Paris Bureau, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

PARIS, April 14.—Checks are still endorsed by the smartest women. We have lately observed ever so many quite plain suits that achieved quite striking results with the aid of a touch of checked material, the checks preferably in black and white or blue and white. Of course, as charming as checks are, such patterns should be avoided by all but those of slender figure. Those who are not so fortunately blessed should seek refuge in the flattering effects achieved by vertically striped patterns.

THE tweed suit is seen all over town here, as at home in the Ritz or the Crillon, as in the country or Riviera resort. Such suits owe their passport to fashion, to impeccable cut and individual treatment, and, above all, a complete absence of fussy and unnecessary detail. Jackets go to any length to achieve smartness, the younger generation, of course, delighting in the jacket of short and jaunty length, which is really more in keeping with the informal note characteristic of the tweed suit, even if it has wandered into the nicest places.

BOTH of the tweed suits sketched are characteristically charming, and both were worn by very fashionable women while lunching at the Ritz, which has been quite crowded of late. The first suit is of bottle green, rough tweed, and has an amusing blouse of green and buffed check crepe with a scarf worn outside the coat collar and tied in front with a large bowknot. The wearer carried a larger handkerchief of the checked crepe, and later thrust it into a pocket placed low on coat, from which it hung, half in and half out, in a careless manner quite suitable to tweeds and checks, and similar materials. The coat was straight and a short two-thirds length. Two or three pleats were noted on each side of the skirt.

THE second sketch illustrates the charms of a heavy navy blue and white tweed suit, worn with a shortish jacket and an interesting skirt. The latter is straight, buttoning just in front of each hip, and has set-in groups of pleats at the back and front. The blouse of white satin had a one sided neckline and two diagonal rows of fine, pleated frills across the front. A diagonally cut piece of the tweed is sewed flat around the neckline and down the front of the jacket, curving off to the side seams to form pockets.

HAITI ELECTION POSTPONED

PORT-AU-PRINCE, Haiti, April 14.—(AP.)—The election of a temporary president for Haiti today was temporarily postponed yesterday by the adjournment of the Council of State under order of President Louis Borno.

Acting to prevent the council from electing anyone other than Eugene Roy, compromise choice of the Borno group and the opposition, the president preferred to put off the election of Roy rather than force the issue in the council, which has recently become restive under his control.

Anxiety among the opposition leaders was allayed by the adjournment. As the situation now stands, President Borno constitutionally will be out of office on May 15, when his term ends, and his successor must be elected before than date. If the present council continues to be recalcitrant, he can appoint enough new members to assure Roy's election.

Old Jinx Awaits Bucs. • Maranville's Durability.
Lucas Always Hoodoo. • Dykes Expects Fight.

BREAK IN 1929 RAISES PIRATE HOPES

BUT for recollections of a happy change in the fortunes of the Pirates in their final two games against Red Lucas last year, Pittsburgh baseball fans might feel none too confident of a successful start by the Buccaneers when the 1930 season gets under way tomorrow. For this same Lucas is scheduled to face the forces of Jewell Ens in the opening game at Cincinnati, and among all the National League pitchers who have confronted the Rovers during the last three years he has been by long odds their worst jinx.

Red Lucas

Not since Art Nehf trimmed them 12 times in succession while hurling for the Braves and Giants a decade back has any flinger maintained so consistently a mastery over the Picaroons. Lucas did not equal Nehf's string of 12 straight victories at the expense of the Pittsburgh club, but he did not fall very far short of doing so, for before the Corsairs succeeded in turning the tables on him last September 1 he toppled them 10 times in a row.

OFTEN the Bucs managed to give the Red Chucker a hard fight as is shown by the fact that seven of the 10 straight games they dropped to him were lost by only one run, but regardless of the form displayed by the Pittsburgh pitcher opposing him Lucas appeared always to be just a little bit better. When the Freebooters finally broke his streak last fall it marked their first success against him since June 22, 1927.

And at that they had to go 12 innings to do it. Remy Kremer relieved Ervin Brame in the ninth round, in which the Reds tied the score, and then he fought it out with Red until the twelfth, when the Bucs tallied twice and won out, 9 to 7. The triumph over their old hoodoo appeared to give the Pirates new confidence, for four days later, or on September 5, when Lucas again confronted them in opposition to Brame, Ens' warriors chased him off the premises by pounding him for nine hits and eight runs in three and one-third innings. Jake May finished, and the Bucs won easily, 10 to 5.

Heinie Meine

IN VIEW of those two wins in five days over a foe they had not beaten in more than two years, there is ground for the hope that Heinie Meine will be able to come through on the big contract of downing Lucas again tomorrow.

Certainly local fans will feel more confident about the outcome than they would have felt if the long string of defeats at the hands of Lucas had not been broken last fall. But at that there remains a question to be decided tomorrow as to whether the Bucs are going to keep it up or Lucas is going to start another winning streak.

FOLLOWING is the record at Pittsburgh's last 13 games against Lucas, from the time they defeated him in 1927 until they downed him twice last September after losing 10 games in succession to him.

June 22, at Pittsburgh—Lost to Hill, 9 to 11.
July 3, at Pittsburgh—Won from Dawson, 5 to 4.
September 7, at Pittsburgh—Won from Hill, 6 to 5.
October 1, at Pittsburgh—Won from Aldridge, 2 to 1.
April 14, at Cincinnati—Won from Miljus, 5 to 0.
May 20, at Cincinnati—Won from Grimes, 3 to 2.
August 11, at Cincinnati—Won from Grimes, 1 to 0.
August 26, at Cincinnati—Won from Brame, 4 to 3.
1929—
April 22, at Cincinnati—Won from Hill, 9 to 4.
June 18, at Cincinnati—Won from Brame, 2 to 1.
June 28, at Pittsburgh—Won from Brame, 10 to 1.
September 1, at Cincinnati—Lost to Kremer, 7 to 9 (12 innings).
September 5, at Cincinnati—Lost to Brame, 5 to 10.

THE new baseball season starting in earnest tomorrow following the American League curtain raiser between the Senators and Red Sox in Washington today, will find the four major league spitballers of last year still surviving—Burleigh Grimes, Urban Faber, Jack Quinn and Clarence Mitchell.

In the minors, however, the ranks of the moist-ball specialists have been further thinned by the passing of another year. When the Pacific Coast League opened its campaign last week, only three active spit-ballers were on the registered list announced by President Harry Williams, these being Ray Keating, Frank Shellenback and Al Gould.

BUZZ ARLETT is still registered but is now an outfielder and first baseman. Doc Crandall and Harry Krause have dropped out since last season, following the retirement of Vean Gregg the year before.

Krause and Gregg, former major leaguers, were the only left-handers of prominence except Mitchell to develop spit-ball deliveries.

Rabbit Maranville

NOT only does Rabbit Maranville, former Pirate shortstop with the Braves, already hold the distinction of being the oldest infielder in the major leagues, but in the opinion of Doc Painter, trainer of the Yankees, he is not yet near the end of his string. Maranville will be 38 next November 11, is starting his twentieth season in professional baseball and has played in 2,068 major league games. Last year he missed playing in only eight of his club's 154 contests. Painter rates the Rabbit and Babe Ruth as the physical marvels of baseball, and says Maranville is the only player who compares with the Bambino in ability to throw off injuries and keep going day after day.

JIMMY DYKES, who has risen from the role of handy man to the dignity of a regular position for the Athletics, and who for the first time since 1922 will be privileged to remain at one place in the lineup throughout this year, naturally picks the Mackmen to win the flag again, but believes they will have a harder fight on their hands than most baseball men appear to anticipate.

"I think we'll win, but only after a great race," says Dykes. "We are better than we were last year, but the Yankees are better, too, and I also look for a lot of trouble from Cleveland and Detroit.

"I NOTICE that we are being quoted at 1 to 2 in Wall street pennant estimates," continues Jimmy. "Pretty short odds, I think. I share the opinion that our club is good, but I don't believe we're that good. I am confident that we'll come through again, however.

"Don't be surprised if Howard Ehmke pitches a lot of games. I

NEW YORK, April 14.—To one who waits, the second is always a minute, the minute an hour and the hour a day, and so the hands of the clock seemed listless, almost reluctant to a nation of fans who today awaited their annual tryst with professional baseball. For one day only, drama comes to baseball and touches it with the magic wand of romance, after which it blandly settles down to odium and routine for the next six months.

That day falls due tomorrow, except in the city of Washington where with the betisiers Red Sox opening, they decided to beat the gun this afternoon, possibly because they feel they ought to make sure of beating something before the end of the season. The rest of them won't go for 24 hours and, to hear their managers tell it in the strict privacy of the newspapers, they can hardly wait.

BUCS NEAR TOP

The fact of the matter is that about 10 of the 16 clubs might as well hire out to the Cotton States League. They won't be with us long enough to hear the third cheer in the customary series of three.

The Cubs, Giants and Pirates are natural first-division clubs in the National League. Some of the others have a fighting chance, the rest of them have none.

In the American League, the Athletics and Yankees are inevitable contenders, with Cleveland, St. Louis and Detroit apparently to run a three-team race toward a two-prize finish.

As a matter of fact, the form sheets say there are no contenders at all, just a couple of champions that won so far off in 1929 that they ought to be arrested if they don't repeat. None of the challenging clubs have been substantially improved. Some of them even have slipped back a little between seasons.

Take the National League, for example. The Giants still are looking for a centerfielder, and may lack the right answer at another key-position, second base. The Pirates have just traded away one of the best right-hand pitchers in baseball, taking in exchange one of the most ordinary of the left-hand pitchers in baseball. Their infield could be bolstered, in fact I suspect that some of it even ought to be mattressed. The Cards also need infielders and pitchers. The spirit of rampant youth might help a little, too.

YANKS NOT SURE BET

The significant feature of this situation is that the improved clubs are those who will have to come all the way from the second division before they can challenge anybody's leadership.

This is pretty much so in the American League, too, where we find the Tigers and White Sox generally conceded to have bettered themselves over the off season.

Nick Altrock Says:

WASHINGTON, April 14.—Our Washington Club has the honor of twisting the corkscrew into the 1930 season and opening it up today. We play a one-day stand with the Red Sox before President Hoover and tomorrow both teams go to Boston to give the Democrats a chance to see us. I am still trying to unravel the results of the training season. For instance, Connie Mack's team got beat in their city series with the Phillies, which leaves the Athletics the champions of the world and the Phillies the champions of Philadelphia.

Nick Altrock

Well, I have read the predictions of all the big league managers and I see there is not going to be any second division this season.

Hoover to Throw First Ball for Nats Today

WASHINGTON, April 14.—(AP)—Herbert Hoover, who in addition to being President of the United States, is an enthusiastic baseball fan, limbered up his throwing arm today for his annual big league assignment of tossing out the first ball of the season's first game.

There was a big blank space in his usually crowded engagement list, for when the chief executive goes to a ball game he likes to stay until the end, and usually does. The situation was complicated today, however, by a slight cold, which kept the President indoors over the week-end, and which, with bad weather, might force him to return to the White House after a few innings.

On the corresponding occasion last year, the President surprised the stands with the accuracy and speed of his throw.

Grantham Ailing, May Not Play

By CHARLES J. DOYLE
Staff Correspondent.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., April 14.—Doubt as to whether George Grantham would be able to participate in the Pirate opener tomorrow cast a shadow on the otherwise happy Pittsburghers as they passed through this Tennessee city about noon today en route to Cincinnati.

Suffering with la grippe, the fleet second-sacker was running a fever late last night. The team physicians treated Grantham during the night and this morning he partook of a hearty breakfast, yet he was not entirely out of the woods. The doctors say there is a possibility that Grantham will be unable to play, but Manager Ens is more optimistic regarding the keystone tender.

With Lloyd Waner and Pie Traynor out, Ens and his mates would consider it a severe blow were Grantham to be missing in the inaugural. Skipper Ens, however, shows the same wise philosophy regarding the batter.

The Bucco, weary of travel, and tired of exhibition play, are due to reach Cincinnati at 9:40 eastern time. Little time will be lost by the fatigued players in reaching their beds to rest for the big ordeal of tomorrow.

Skipper Ens and the others were glad to note that Sir William Klem would be in charge of festivities in Redland on opening day. As a rule, Klem adds a luster to any baseball occasion, especially when he is presiding behind the plate. If you took a vote of the players, you doubtless would find that a vast majority prefer to have him calling balls and strikes. Klem will be assisted by Dolly Stark and Bob Clarke, the latter being one of the league's new officials.

EN ROUTE WITH PIRATES, April 14.—Well, folks, it looks like some little wifey is gonna be without a new spring bonnet, after all. You see, the kid that was savin' out of his meal-money to buy a percolator and hat for his bride took a little chance in a five-and-ten game and got stung for six berries in two sessions, or just enough to keep him from puttin' the hat over as a surprise party. Gambling is not allowed on this club, but the players can play a little game if they wish. We are allowed to open for a nickel and bet 10 cents, which is just pastime, and a fella has to have rotten luck to drop more than $2 in two hours, but the kid was anxious to knock off four or five dollars and he was stayin' in every pot.

When Chauff Asten passed out those nice fresh lettuce leaves that was to do us for meal money until we got to Cincy, five of us rookies started a game with the meal-money doin' the favors, as most of us were down to silver when Chauf got the envelopes from Sam Dreyfuss. Well, the young fellow with the lovin' wife began to have bad luck at the start and after playin' three hours he was out three berries. The next day he sat in again and lost three more and that leaves him just about enough smackers for cakes until the season opens and then we start to signing checks. You see, we eat on the train from New Orleans to Cincy and you can't get hot dogs and milk or any other two-bit lunches on these diners. The rest of us felt so tough over it that one of the gang suggested we make up a purse of $6 so he wouldn't be disappointed, but he's a kinda spunky bird and might not take the money. Anyhow, he's still holdin' on to that percolator and the wife will have one nice present when he meets her in Cincy tomorrow.

BAKER BOXES HAMBRIGHT

By HARRY KECK,
Sports Editor.

Aside from shows at Motor Square Garden, Washington, Pa., Wheeling and Cumberland, there's very little doing in the Tri-State district tonight.

Sergt. Sammy Baker, of New York, and Vincent Hambright, of Cincinnati, lusty-belting welterweights, both favorites with the local fans, come together in the windup of the Garden show and the fans are looking for a healthy display of the manly art of socking and rocking.

Vincent Hambright

Baker's two recent battles in the same ring with Joe Trippe were slugging classics. He won both of them, meanwhile setting the fans on their ears. Hambright, a Filipino, broke in here by trimming Tom Malco, of Soho, in a bout at the Coliseum that was call'd a draw. He returned to bounce Jimmy Belmont, of Braddock, off the floor so often in the opening show at Duquesne Gardens that the fans lost count and were astonished to see Jimmy on his feet at the finish.

BOTH HARD HITTERS

Although both Sammy and Vincent are out-of-town performers, their bout is a "natural" by way of accomplishment here, and it is difficult to imagine them putting up a dull evening against each other. Both have been here since Saturday winding up their training work.

The youngest of Pittsburgh's golf professionals, and one of the finest, is the smiling Irish lad, who has charge of that job at the Edgewood Country Club—Jimmy O'Donnell. While youthful in appearance, Jimmy is an oldster in golf experience, and in playing and instructing holds a high rank in Western Pennsylvania golfdom. Edgewood is his first regular job as professional, and he is starting his third season in that berth, having been given the post when his brother-in-law, Herb Lawson, resigned in the fall of 1928. O'Donnell got his start at the Thornburg Country Club, when Carl Sanderson, pro there at the time, made him caddiemaster. He left Thornburg to go to Edgewood in the same capacity in 1924, but was also elevated to assistant professional. With Johnny Capebianco, former Edgewood caddie-master and now professional at the Meadville Country Club, O'Donnell has been spending his winters, since 1922, at Daytonia Beach, Fla., where he has built up a fine winter business. When the W. P. G. A. first started its caddie welfare drive and asked caddie-masters and assistant professionals to assist in the work, O'Donnell was elected first president of the Caddie-masters' Association of Western Pennsylvania, an office he held down until he became a professional. Those who know Jimmy also know he's a real fellow.—VERN SWARTSFAGER.

SCHENLEY PARK LINKS TO OPEN WEDNESDAY

MUNY LAYOUT IN SHAPE FOR INAUGURAL

By VERN SWARTSFAGER

Hey there, all ye public linksmen, have ye heard the good news? The Schenley Park municipal golf course will be opened with all sorts of ceremonies on Wednesday—day after tomorrow! So saith Director of Public Works Edward G. Lang, who pronounced upon the early inaugural yesterday after inspecting the city's links with Professional Al McBride and Superintendent of City Parks James Moore. The layout was in such splendid condition, the turf being just right, that the director was favorably impressed and like a good general gave out favorable marching orders, as had been anticipated.

The heavy rain of yesterday afternoon and last night did much to assist in the work of preparing every course in the district for early heavy play, and Schenley was not on the outside looking in when it received just as much benefit from the water fall as the other layouts. John Kauffmann, greenkeeper, has been working exceptionally hard this spring to get the course set for the free linkers, and, while there may be a couple of temporary greens at No. 1 and No. 18 for a while, it is anticipated he will have them ready for play on permanent putting surfaces before the season is far along. Kauffmann has improved on No. 1 green and hopes for better results this season.

It was a gala day throughout the district yesterday and permanent greens were thrown open to members at district country clubs with more or less abandon. Every member and his brother turned out, to the extent that the layouts were crowded as to resemble mid-June rather than Mid-April golfing days.

Tee to Green

Aroma Country Club's course is going to be in better shape this year than it ever has been, and the members are jubilant. Art Snyder, Aroma's greenkeeper opened all of the regular greens except the second yesterday and they were in splendid shape.

Golfers throughout the district will find putting on regular greens a bit slow at this time of the year, with few exceptions, due to the fact that most greenkeepers will not cut their turf short until early in May or later. This, of course, is to the best advantage for any course.

Joe Trichan, Aroma's good looking manager (and what a popular host he is!) has listed some important social events for this week. Tomorrow the Westinghouse Homewood plant will hold a dinner dance. Wednesday a dinner dance will be held by the Alpha Tau Omega fraternity, and on Saturday night more than 150 are expected for the Westinghouse East Pittsburgh plant's bowling league dinner and dance.

Tom Nichols, president of Aroma, took in 16 holes for his first shot of the year yesterday—and liked it a lot. Gaither Davidson, of the coroner's office, and Van Smith, of Horne's, were out. Dave Broudy, Shanley orchestra conductor and violin impresario, beat Ben Bright, and Joe Hiller, who writes this noble game now and then, won his end of the match. George Underwood was all smiles, as usual.

Westmoreland was crowded to the hilt all day. Professional Pete O'Hara had his hands full giving lessons and seeing that play was expedited. Harry Blumenthal tried to break par—but didn't.

Groundkeeper Smith has Westmoreland in excellent condition. He intends to keep it that way throughout the season, and especially for the women's championship.

The gang was out again at South Hills—South Hills always has a big Sunday crowd. Enoch Kirkpatrick, C. E. Brown, new member-to-be of the W. P. G. A. executive committee, President John Hayes, of the W. P. G. A., Abe Health and Doc Umpleby were reported as having "done their stuff" in great fashion.

Walter H. Mcmahon, chairman of the house committee, says Charliers Heights never was in better shape, and Professional Duke Zimmerman assisted in starting a "mighty mob."

C'mon stands! Let's go!

Oakmont's beautiful course was crowded with some of the finest golfers in Western Pennsylvania—and that's saying a big mouthful—yesterday as the qualifying matches to come Mday of the Oakmont stars have cast their eye on the state amateur title, to be played in June at Allegheny. The course, as usual, was in near-perfect condition.

EARL (EDDIE) GOODRICH ON SHORTY O.

With six winners, two second places and as many thirds in the first four days of racing at the Golden Jubilee meet in Wheeling, Jockey Eddie Goodrich bids fair to continue the great campaign he launched at Havana during the winter season, when he turned in 54 victories. Goodrich rode three victors on each of the first two days of the Wheeling meet.

EARL GOODRICH RIDES WAY TO TOP

By JESS CARVER

A non-committal young man, a native of Ponca City, Oklahoma, born there just 18 years ago, Earl Goodrich, nicknamed Eddie for no reason at all, is riding his way into the topmost circles of the American turf, and is engaged at the present time in bootin' winners across at the Golden Jubilee meeting at Wheeling.

Eddie Earl has been riding for two years. He won't say much about himself, in fact, dodges the scribes to the extent that said scribes are prone to dub him a bit conceited. He spurred 54 winners across during the winter season at Havana, Cuba, and began his American campaign by leathering three winners across on successive days at Wheeling. In the four days of running at Wheeling, he has turned in six winners, been in the place twice and shown as many times.

RODE SHORTY O

Goodrich's first mount at Wheeling last Wednesday, was the Dolloway stable's filly, Swift Current. Swift Current wasn't so swift, and finished out of the money. That was in the first race. In the second, he was up on Brigand, W. A. McKinney's black gelding, and Brigand also failed to get his black nozzle over in time to send his backers to the pay-off window.

Goodrich didn't have a mount in the third race, but in the fourth, astride Shorty O, Eddie brought the speedy black in first in a driving finish, beating out Tetra Glass, the favorite. In the next race, with a leg up on Twelve Sixty, he sailed home another winner. Fleeting Fire ran fourth for him in the Inaugura' Handicap, but in the final race of the day, Goodrich caused joy to surge to the hearts of those who had their cash riding with him on G. J. Jenkin's black mare, Elfreida G. when he booted the 4-year-old daughter of Brumado-Spangles in first to collect a price of $12.40.

THREE MORE WINS

The next day, he repeated his triumphs, astride Lucky Drift, Oblique and Gideon, and was mounted on Cu-veur when the latter finished third.

Friday, he was in the money twice, finishing second with Jim Miller and Panorel. On Saturday, he had his poorest day to date, getting into the pay-off but once, and that astride Vera C, a show horse.

Goodrich began his riding with the Miller Brothers 101 Ranch show. He is under contract to H. W. Miller, and has been since he turned jockey a year ago. Off the track, he is a sartorial masterpiece, being a snappy dresser and looker.

Strange to say, he is not particularly interested in emulating the great Earl Sande.

"Look at what happened to 'at baby!" Eddie will tell you. "Who wants to get all busted up?"

CLUB MANAGERS OPTIMISTIC IN STATEMENTS

Associated Press.

Although the reaction in some places will be different later on, there is not a down-hearted manager in either major league as the baseball season opens. Not all the leaders of the clubs think they have a chance to win, but hope during eternal before the base-hits begin to battle in earnest and, with an exception here and there, the pilots expect their clubs to do better than was the case last season. The managers speak:

National League

JEWEL ENS, PIRATES—"I see every reason for being optimistic and with a fine array of hitters, combined with youth and speed, the Pittsburgh team ought to be up there in the race, provided our players do not start with too many injuries."

JOE M'CARTHY, CUBS—"Additional strength leads me to believe the Cubs will repeat and, barring accidents and breaks that are unforseen, the Cubs will come down to the finish a winner."

JOHN M'GRAW, GIANTS—"We are cheerful as we prepare to open the season. Marshall will prove a good second baseman for us and the improvement in Ott's play is one of the most striking things I have seen in baseball."

GABBY STREET, CARDINALS—"I am not saying that we will win the pennant, but we have a good team and will figure in the race. I expect to see our pitchers do some great work."

BURT SHOTTON, PHILLIES—"I expect my club to finish in the first division, and if we don't get up there, the second division will be much stronger than I expect it to be."

WILBERT ROBINSON, ROBINS—"Brooklyn has been tremendously improved over last year's club and I will be very much surprised and disappointed if we are not in the thick of the fight. Our invalids are well and we have added much strength."

DAN HOWLEY, REDS—"The Reds are quite a bit stronger than last year, I believe, and we all look forward to a real try for the first division. Given good pitching we will surprise the fans of Cincinnati."

BILL M'KECHNIE, BRAVES—"We will have to feel our way along for a while, but we have started the rebuilding program and we may be able to show some immediate results."

American League

CONNIE MACK, ATHLETICS—"The Athletics are not claiming a pennant because we realize every team has strengthened and we look forward to a close race."

BOB SHAWKEY, YANKEES—"Expect the Yankees to be in the race for we have added strength in new players and I have no fear about our pitching."

STANLEY HARRIS, TIGERS—"It would be foolish to claim a championship, for no same man can discount the strength of the Athletics and Yankees, but I believe Detroit will be in the race. We are much better than we were at this time last season."

ROGER PECKINPAUGH, INDIANS—"We may have been lucky to finish third last year, as some say, but we have a good ball club and I am hopeful we can cause a great deal of trouble for the other clubs."

BILL KILLEFER, BROWNS—"It is true that we haven't as much punch as I would like to see, but we have good pitchers and a lot of hustling young players. We should do well."

WALTER JOHNSON, SENATORS—"I am sure Washington will have a hustling ball club, with good sprint and punching and I am confident it will make a better record than in 1929."

DONIE BUSH, WHITE SOX—"No one can question the fact that the White Sox are a stronger club. Hitting, of course, will decide our place at the finish, but at any rate we shape up better than seventh."

HEINE WAGNER, RED SOX—"Our team looks better now than it has at any time during the four years I have been connected with it. The players will hustle and I am hopeful of results."

TRAYNOR OUT OF OPENER

Manager Ens went back to an easy plan for his pitchers in the last contest of the training season.

He gave Brame, French and Spencer each three rounds of action and he arranged his house in such a manner as to give each of his three receivers a three-inning trick. Rolly Hemsley, who will catch Heinie Meine in the opener tomorrow, took the first three rounds.

Aside from Lloyd Waner, the Pirates are rushing to Cincy in good health. George Grantham has a slight touch of the grippe but George was rested in the past two days and is figured to be at the old keystone sack when the fireworks begin to pop tomorrow afternoon.

Ens last night was quite confident that Manager Dan Howley, of the Reds, would throw Red Lucas at the Freebooters in the opening game. Jewel thinks there is a possibility of Howley putting Pete Donohue on the slab in the jump-off contest, but he believes Texas Pete will be reserved for the second game of the season.

REDS HANDICAPPED

Howley seems to be handicapped somewhat with minor injuries. Harry Heilmann and George Kelly being short-time casualties. The reports from Cincinnati stated that both of these sluggers will be "in there" tomorrow.

Meine and Hemsley are all set for their part in tomorrow's baseball drama. Meine has been resting a lot since he twirled in Mobile, but Hemsley has stayed on the job. The tall righthander has been successful against the Rhinelanders, this fact causing Skipper Ens to pick him for the opening job.

The Buccos yesterday wound up what in several ways was the most extraordinary barnstorming tour in the history of the club. The weather was so propitious that not one of the 30 games was postponed on account of rain, in fact the Pirates have not seen any rain since they left Paso Robles.

Seventeen Pittsburgh victories were recorded in the 30 contests played at the various cities and towns. Of this number, the second team participated in two and broke even. A crowd of approximately 5,000 saw the Pirates in their final encounter, the weather at New Orleans being perfect again.

CARNERA MEETS CHEVALIER

OAKLAND, Cal., April 14.—(AP.)—Primo Carnera, Italian boxer, will carry his 270 pounds into a ring here tonight for his fifteenth American appearance. He will meet Leon Chevalier, 230-pound San Francisco Negro.

Carnera was won all his American fights by knockouts, and there is little reason to believe that his opponent of tonight will last more than one round. Chevalier has been knocked out many times before.

Carnera's retinue of managers has been accused of picking "soft ones" for the big Italian, but whether this is so or not, a large throng is expected to attend the scheduled 10-round bout.

With choice seats selling at $5, Promoter Louis Parente has made arrangements to accommodate a crowd accounting for gate receipts of $20,000 or more.

Kitson, Former Big League Pitcher, Dies

ALLEGAN, Mich., April 14.—(AP.)—Frank R. Kitson, 61, former big league pitcher, died suddenly at his farm home near here last night. He had suffered from a heart ailment the last five years.

Kitson began his baseball career with the Western Michigan teams. He successively played with Baltimore, Brooklyn, Detroit and Kansas City.

Jock Sutherland Confused With Criminologist

Now they are confusing our Jock Sutherland with a criminologist.

The University of Chicago Saturday added a new member to the faculty in the person of Dr. Edwin H. Sutherland, criminologist, of the University of Minnesota. An Associated Press bulletin this morning, mentioning Sutherland, Chicago and staff, without giving the first name, led to the birth of the report that Jock had been signed to coach the Maroon football team.

The rumor scurried to cover when Dr. Sutherland laughingly denied that he was to leave Pitt, and passed out when a message from Chicago explained that the Minnesota criminologist had been confused with the Pitt coach, or vice versa.

TOM ROBINSON

The victories of Northwestern in both the Big Ten and National Collegiate swimming meets were a fine bit of work. The Purple had a well-rounded team headed by Schwartz, whose classy performances in the sprints indicates that he will be the outstanding sprint candidate for our Olympic team of 1932—a worthy successor to the old champion—John Weissmuller. He ranks with Laufer, Kojac and Spence today.

With old Bachrach, the I. A. C. teaching wizard, just about retired from the game, Tom Robinson, who has coached and trained the purple mermen so successfully these recent years, pops up as his most likely successor. Robinson talks, eats, sleeps and lives aquatics and common sense methods have made champions of a lot of lads who had no training whatsoever before they came under his most capable wing.

THE LOWDOWN ON THE BUCS

lege kid and knows a lot, but Bernard says they's a lot of things you pick up by mixin' with all kinds of people that you can't get in college. Most of the kids on the club has done a lot of listenin' with their eyes poppin' out, but I guess it's my nature to make wise cracks and maybe it don't hurt in this old game.

I notice that Larry French and Dick Bartell and other recruits who sound off most of the day are gettin' along pretty fast. There's two birds only 22 and they have more confidence on the field than some guys that have been doin' it for 10 years. But for some of those boys that live in towns where they pull in the sidewalks at eight bells every night this trip has been a pip. And yours truly is much wiser now than he was two months ago. Jewel was sayin' the other day that a lot of people wouldn't know I was lefthanded on account of the sensible way I act at times.

I asked Jewel if he realized how many big men in history was lefthanded, but he says in those days they didn't have fungo sticks for birds to lose a lot of good baseball with. He was lookin' right at Larry French when he pulled that fast one. You see, Larry can hit fungoes farther than anybody in the league, and when somebody dares him he hits one clear off the ranch.

All of us rookies got a taste of the big league stuff in the games with the Cubs in Los Angeles, but I think we'll all be in for a big thrill tomorrow in Cincy. Jewel says there may not be enough new uniforms for all the kids, but we'll all be there on that bench razzin' the Reds. Larry French and I are pretty good jockeys. We made some wise cracks to the Cubs in L. A. and they tried to slow us up by tellin' us that we'd be ridin' buses in the Sally League while they were out in front in the National. I think we got a rise out of Hornsby when I asked him to show me the stance he uses against Grove and Earnshaw.

I'm thinkin' up a lot of good ones to use against the Reds. The stuff we pulled from our dugout against the Cubs didn't hurt us none in those games. Of course, they hand some smart stuff back, but you gotta be able to take them on the chin in any game. If Leo Durocher starts to sound off I'll have him stopped. You know, he's the snappy guy that hit about six and seven-eighths for the Yanks, but he was battin' .400 in the jockey league. I'll tell him that the Louisville bat factory is opening up a branch in Cincy since they read he joined the club. That oughta stop him cold, but if it don't I'll have two or three others wrapped up.

son. Both finished well out of the money last year. The Yankees are supposed to furnish much of the contention, yet they have a new third baseman and left fielder, an old failure at shortstop, and the question of whether Ruth will be Ruth and the pitchers will stand the racket.

So far as I can see, the Yanks simply have too many questions and not enough answers.

The Indians have a few questions, too, with a kid combination at second base and the matter of whether Fonseca, the batting champion, will come up smiling from his recent illness. The Browns need another outfielder and their infield isn't championship class; the Tigers won't come forward without pitchers and a shortstop; the White Sox have the same weakness as have the Robins, outfield defense, and the Senators simply have outlived themselves. Meantime, the Red Sox remain—the Red Sox.

The trade of Grimes to Boston will make the National League race tougher, but this shouldn't disconcert any champion that has the hitting and pitching of the Cubs. Hornsby may have developed an ingrowing heel, but if Hartnett really has come back, the Cubs ought to sidle into the pennant. That young man means a lot to the Chicago pitchers.

Speaking of which, the Phils have almost none, a fact that probably will keep them out of the first division. The Reds have none too many, either, but the real weakness of this outfit is found in their fielders, who cannot hit and their hitters who cannot field.

As for the champion Athletics, the left side of their infield isn't fool proof. But they won a pennant and a world championship with it last year, so they probably will decline to worry about this in a very pointed manner. Besides, how can a club go wrong with those pitchers and hitters?

GALLATIN COPS

LOCALS REACH FINAL ROUND OF PLAY

DETROIT, April 14.—The Gallatin Soccer Club of Pittsburgh qualified to represent the West against the winner of the Eastern eliminations in the final of the National Amateur Cup, by defeating Detroit German United here yesterday 7-3.

Gallatin's bustling attack was responsible for the victory. Frank Benick and his mates never giving the Detroit defense a chance to settle down. Benick proved a great leader, scoring three times. Lorenzi Grandy, Chisolgi, Grandy and Rossi also scored.

The Germans played a scientific brand of soccer, but were weak around goal.

Gallatin probably will meet the Boston Club in the final for the title, now held by Heidelberg. Benick, however, will be lost for the season. He suffered a double fracture of the leg and is confined in a Detroit hospital. The lineup:

Gallatin—7.		Det. United—3.
John Bemica	G	Weitmeier
Pecovich	R	Weyersberg
Murphy	L.B.	Wahl

Sport Vignettes

From Bowie comes this classic, vouched for by two inspectors of the Maryland Racing Commission: . . . Gent and lady approached the $50 mutuel ticket window last Saturday and gent slapped down $900 and said he wanted to play a horse . . . "What horse?" asked the ticket seller . . . "Any horse." . . . Ticket seller thereupon gave him $900 worth of tickets on Squab, which won the first race . . . The animal paid $6.90 and the gent got back $3,105, a quick turnover of $2,205 . . . Now, that's what might be called a system . . . Washington fans will turn out today for a preview of the baseball season, arranged so President Hoover may see Bill Regan, of Brookline, cut off Senator hits at second base for the Boston Red Sox . . . If Ray Kremer doesn't pitch the opener for the Pirates against the Reds at Cincy tomorrow, Heine Meine will, provided neither Ery Brame nor Larry French gets the assignment . . . Does that answer the question? . . . If the Pirates only had retained Oil Smith, with Percy Lee Jones on the roster now they could lay claim to having two of the most exclusive old family names on their payroll . . . Matty Mario, the New York welterweight, originally out of Charleroi, who flashed his stuff against Jimmy Belmont at Motor Square Garden last Monday night, has been around some and seen things and done things . . . The record book shows that he has boxed Jackie Fields, the champion, on the Coast and also lists among his foes Floyd Hybert, Georgie Ward, Buck Duane, Paul Guiotta, Billy White, Harry Wallace, Pep O'Brien, Harry Wallack, Eddie (Kid) Waner, Bruce Flowers, Billy Draako, Alf Ros, Danny Cooney, Eddie Frisco, Billy Alger and Buster Mallini . . . Bernard Kelly, Jr., of McKeesport, is doing Mario's business here and would like to match him with Young Saylor, the new knockout demon, of Charleroi . . . George Panka, the Homestead heavyweight, asks us to correct an impression given here last week that he is the Big Slavish Man of the ring . . . It should have read Big Slovak Man . . . There is a difference, according to George . . . President Barnard instructs his umpires to stay out of the infield this season . . . That's just like the league chiefs; always doing things in a halfway manner . . . Baseball players complain the umps in the infield are in the way . . . Average fans feel the same way about 'em anywhere in the park . . . The closest an American League umpire should be allowed to get for the good of the game is San Francisco . . . Comebacks in the headlines: Tom Lipton, Oxford-Cambridge crew race and Marathon races . . . They're going to keep the center jump in basketball next season so the newspaper photographers will be able to take flashlight pictures of this edifying spectacle . . . Believe it or not, but both the Tech and Pitt interscholastic swimming meets now are out of the way and Capt. Pete Bowen, the Pitt hot-foot, leads his Panther varsity track team against Ohio State in the first outdoor track meet of the season at the Stadium next Saturday . . . Every time someone makes a crack about track athletics, Pete gets so sore that he goes out and knocks another sixty-eighth of a second off the 100-yard dash record . . . So far this col'm has been Pete's greatest incentive in this respect.—HARRY KECK.

RIPLEY ON AIR TONIGHT

highest paid air entertainers, a rival of Amos n Andy, who are his close friends.

Warner Brothers signed him for talking shorts at one of the highest salaries ever paid for such work.

In addition to these sources of revenue, Ripley has royalties from his books, "best sellers" from lecture and vaudeville engagements and from sale of various "rights" to exploitation of his name and work.

Ripley, a native Californian, began his dizzy climb to fame as an artist and entertainer more than 20 years ago, but it was not until three years ago that he began earning more than the President of the United States. And his whole career hinges on what was literally a "lucky break," for it was a broken arm which ended his career as a professional baseball player and sent him looking for work as a newspaper artist. During his diamond career he had a tryout with the New York Giants.

The artist-millionaire is preparing to leave on another of his annual world tours, his objective this year being Russia, one of the few countries he has not visited in search of material for his "Believe It or Not" series. There are labels of hotels in 69 countries on his baggage.

Ripley is unmarried. He lives at the New York Athletic Club. It takes five secretaries to handle his mail, larger than that of any individual in the United States, not excepting the President or any movie star. Two other secretaries are at work constantly, verifying the things used in "Believe It or Not." But Ripley does all of his selecting and drawing himself.

There will be no duplication of material in the "Believe It or Not" air or movie series. Ripley claims to have so many recollections of strange lands, strange people and curious facts stored away in his files that he could broadcast his Believe It or Not "queerosities" for the next 10 years without repeating himself.

During the forthcoming series of "Believe It or Not" half-hour entertainments, Ripley promises to dig deep into his storehouse of oddities and bring forth a collection of some of the strangest facts ever heard over the radio. The unbelieveable truths about certain musical selections, in particular, will be told probably for the first time.

So that his non-musical listeners will fully understand every point he makes, a modern orchestra will company Ripley on his weekly journeys and play the scores of the various scenes he mentions.

The first broadcast will be held tonight at 7:30 o'clock over the National Broadcasting Company's red network of eight New York State and New England stations.

with a fancy display of counter punching, meets a more formidable opponent in Georgie Bretsch of the North Side, in the second bout, and Sammy Paris, of the Hill, and Al Iovino, of Swissvale, are in the opener. OTHER SHOWS TONIGHT

Young Rudy, of Charleroi, and Freddie Edwards, of Chester, W. Va., box the 10-round windup in the Coliseum at Washington, Pa., tonight. Gorilla Jones and Gene Cardi are in the feature event of the Wheeling show, being run as an added attraction to the horse racing meet, and Chuck Burns and Harold Scarney are the topliners at Cumberland.

According to Jimmy McKeever, chairman of the committee in charge, the testimonial boxing and vaudeville show for Loudoun Campbell, former local boxer, positively will be held in the Moose Temple next Saturday night. The Moose Temple Boxing Club had announced that it would run a professional show there that night featuring Jackie Rodgers and Marty Gold in the main bout, but McKeever says his committee has a forfeit up for the hall for the night, placed a long time ago, and tickets distributed and sold and cannot make a change in the date at this time. Strictly amateur talent will perform at the benefit. It was announced this morning that the Rodgers-Gold bout will be set back to next Monday night, when Motor Square Garden will be opened to boxing.

Trailer Is Feature Of Sportsmen's Show

The split coach trailer, one of the features of New York automobile show, will be shown for the first time in Pittsburgh at the Sportsmen and Outdoor Life Exposition, which opens Saturday at Motor Square Garden under the auspices of the Pittsburgh chapter of the Izaak Walton League.

When the locomotive became highly efficient the dining car and sleeper were added as a natural evolution. And now the split coach trailer bears the same relation to the automobile. It can furnish sleeping accommodations for 10 persons, and is equipped with a refrigeration plant, and water tanks with a capacity of 11 gallons.

Long's Sport Comment

never saw him look better than he does this spring. Grove is still throwing birdshot, and when right he is unbeatable. I've heard that said about several pitchers, but I know it is true of Grove. All around, I think we're well set for a winning fight."

Clarence Kummer

EARL SANDE isn't the only star jockey of the past who plans a come-back. Clarence Kummer, who rode to fame on the super-horse, Man o' War, is training daily at the Aqueduct track with the same end in view, but he faces an additional obstacle in the fact that before he can get back into the game he must regain the favor of the Jockey Club, which refused to grant him a license in 1926. Kummer had finished the 1925 season with a clean record, but conduct off the track was said to have incurred the displeasure of the racing chiefs. The specific reason for the refusal of a license renewal was never made known. Kummer, in his heyday, enjoyed a ranking equal to that of Sande or La Verne Fator. He guided Man o' War to his 20 victories, and once described having the mount on that famous horse as being "just the same as riding in a Pullman."

Forbes

General Trend Towards Mild Improvement.

—By B. C. FORBES—

MID-APRIL finds employment increasing, agricultural prices more steady, business inclined to perk up a little. Wall Street hesitating to mark up quotations farther until it has been clearly established that industry is headed definitely upward.

Sentiment, outside of stock market circles continues to become gradually more cheerful.

JUST as different divisions of the stock market now frequently move in opposite directions, so industries are showing sharp irregularity.

The oil industry is perhaps entitled to first mention among those exhibiting betterment, and giving promise of still further betterment. Leading operators are now more disposed to cooperate in keeping down overproduction and in naming reasonable prices. Prospects, although still beset by some uncertainties, are distinctly brighter than at any time in several years. Incidentally, several mergers of great magnitude are planned subject to approval by the authorities.

MOTOR manufacturers feel warranted in increasing production quite substantially. The assumption now is that sales will prove more satisfactory than was anticipated a month or two ago. The next six weeks will tell the story. The probability is that as goes the motor industry, so will general prosperity during 1930.

LARGE scale construction has begun to expand very encouragingly. Many of the projects outlined at the Hoover conferences are now being launched.

The steel industry continues moderately active, although prices are weakish. Railway buying has diminished because of the disappointing volume of freight moved thus far this year and of the anxiety of railway managements to make the best showing in the way of net earnings.

IN most other industrial fields improvement is not yet pronounced. Reports that the 18 cents copper level is becoming untenable were energetically circulated in Wall Street last week. The cotton and woolen industries are still quiet. The leather industry shows little recuperation. Retail trade reports are spotty, but Easter buying may lift the April figures to acceptable totals. Commercial and bank failures are unpleasantly heavy. Dividend reductions figure unpleasantly often in the news. Bank statistics supplement railway statistics in emphasizing that general activity still runs quite a bit behind a year ago, when things were booming.

THUS, the picture is two-sided.

STOCKS moved erratically all through the week. They ended slightly lower every day with the exception of Wednesday, when there were spectacular demonstrations by pools in several prominent issues. Pools have multiplied and have been unusually active. Not only have standard stocks occasionally been marked up rapidly, but minor issues have been taken in hand here and there and run up sensationally.

In the highest financial circles strong-arm methods by bull pools are not encouraged. The feeling is that the stock market has already moved ahead of the business procession sufficiently far for the time being and that it would be better not to attempt to excite wild speculation at this stage.

The prevailing opinion still is, however, that the general trend in industry, in business, in employment and in stocks will be moderately upwards during the balance of the year, especially if agricultural prices do not suffer another disturbing relapse.

EASY money still rules. Call loans range from 3½ to 4 per cent against 7 per cent a year ago; time rates are 4 to 4½ per cent against 8½ to 9 per cent. Choice commission paper is quoted 3¾ to 4 against 6 last year. The reserve banks' ratio of reserve is 81½ per cent, contrasted with 73¾ per cent 12 months ago. Brokers' loans, which increased $26,000,000 last week, stand at $3,994,000,000, whereas at this time last year they aggregated $5,427,000,000, no less than $1,543,000,000 of this decrease having been in loans made by non-bankers, a very desirable development.

Intimations are frequently heard that the Federal Reserve Board will strive to bring about still lower rediscount rates in order to pave the way for the flotation here of reparation bonds. Such action is improbable and not wholly desirable. Funds are cheap enough for speculative purposes and it is questionable if lower rates in Wall Street would have any important influence upon lenders for business purposes throughout the country. That money will remain plentiful in leading financial centers during the year is taken for granted.

SPEEDY disposal of the tariff would be welcomed. Wall street hardly believes that President Hoover will veto the measure finally laid before him, unsatisfactory though the "limited revision" admittedly has been.

Merger announcements of unusual importance are expected in the very near future.

OUR FIRST GAS LAMPS

Streets of Pittsburgh were first lighted by gas on April 5, 1837. The night was gloomy and dark, but the new lights brought cheer and gratification to the people.

The gas was manufactured from coal. Natural gas was then obtainable in abundant quantities in the Pittsburgh district, but devices to control successfully its pressure and flow had not been perfected. Natural gas for commercial purposes was first used here about 1886. That innovation especially benefitted glass manufacturers, who had previously depended largely upon coal. Natural gas, however, had been known in this country at least since the days of George Washington, who spoke of seeing a "burning spring of water" in West Virginia.

When gas lights were first turned on along our streets, this bank was five years old and has since co-operated in the success of several prosperous gas companies.

EVENING SUN-TELEGRAPH MARKETS

Stocks Head Up

Lone Star in Demand

MARKET RISES AFTER EARLY DECLINE

Scores of Issues Dip 1 to Nearly 8 Points Before Prices Turn Upward

NEW YORK, April 14.—(AP.)—The stock market opened irregular today, ran into a moderate volume of selling in the morning and then turned upward in the early afternoon. In the early decline, scores of issues dropped 1 to nearly 8 points on a combination of profit taking and bear selling, but offering quickly dried up and the market turned upward under the leadership of the farm implement, tobacco, communication, aircraft and chain issues.

There was little in the week-end news to influence the price movement. Reports from steel centers indicated some pick-up in activity this week but the demand for copper continued light with producers showing little disposition to cut the price of the red metal which has been maintained at 18 cents a pound for the last year. Retail business showed marked improvement with the approach of the Easter holiday.

RATE UNCHANGED

Call money renewed unchanged at 4 per cent, with indications that the rate would be maintained or work higher. Only a moderate volume of funds was offered, with the demand fairly heavy. Payment of state income taxes, due tomorrow, was believed in some quarters to account for the temporary stringency.

Allied Chemical which scored a spectacular advance last week in belated response to an excellent annual report, dropped 7½ points on realizing. Union Pacific fell nearly 5 points and Eastman Kodak 4½. U. S. Industrial Alcohol dropped nearly 4 points to 98⅛, duplicating the year's low price. Calumet and Arizona and American Locomotive sank to new ground for the year.

Diamond match was an outstanding strong spot in the afternoon recovery, jumping nearly 9 points to a new high at 194¾. J. I. Case ran up 8½ points and International Harvester moved up 3½ to a new top at 113⅛.

TOUCHES 1930 HIGH

American Telephone was marked up nearly 5 points to a new 1930 peak price at 274¼. Electric Power & Light was again heavily bought, selling more than 3 points above last week's final quotation. International Telephone crossed 77 to a new high for a gain of nearly 3 points.

American Tobacco issues jumped about 7 points each to new highs for the year. Mathieson, R. H. Macy, National Air Transport, Lehman Corporation, Missouri-Kansas-Texas common, United Aircraft, Auburn Auto, Celotex and New York Dock all sold 3 to 5 points higher, several of them touching new peaks.

Low priced stocks were most in favor in the late afternoon and advances of 1 to 2 points to new highs for the year were made by numerous issues including Gimbel Brothers, Hahn Department Stores, Aviation Corporation, International Paper "C," Grigsby-Grunow and Oliver Farm Equipment. Trading was the dullest in several weeks and the ticker kept well abreast of the market into the final hour. The close was steady. Sales approximated 3,800,000 shares.

9% More Gasoline Needed by U.S. This Year

WASHINGTON, April 14—1930 demand for gasoline is estimated at 476,700,000 barrels, an increase of 9 per cent over 1929 demand, according to a report sent to the Department of the Interior by the Federal Oil conservation Board.

This quantity of gasoline can be supplied from a domestic crude oil production of 942,800,000 barrels, or 2,583,000 barrels per day, it was reported. This schedule calls for a refinery run of 807,600,000 barrels, or 2,024,000 per day.

Remington Rand Expected To Show $1 a Share In Final Quarter.

REMINGTON RAND is well regarded in quarters bullish on the office equipment shares as a group. The company is now beginning to reflect appreciably the changes brought about in its affairs during the pa year. It is expected that the company henceforth will be able to realize a substantially better profit on its business due to measures which have been taken to consolidate many of its operations and consequently reduce costs. Confidence of the management in the future outlook for the company is apparent from its action recently in placing the stock on a regular $1.60 annual dividend basis. The company earned $2.60 a share in the first nine months of its fiscal year which ended on March 30 last and is expected to show net of about $1 a share for the final quarter, figures for which should soon be available.

The most favorable news bearing on the business outlook in quite a while came in the form of a statement by the Western Union Telegraph Company reporting a heavy pick-up in the use of the wires to put through buying orders. This change is interpreted as indicating that many merchants find their stocks low and in need of immediate replenishment with the Easter season now at its height. Officials of Western Union who were rather blue a week or so back, are now of the opinion that unseasonable weather and the lateness of the Easter holding this year as compared with 1929 were potent factors in holding back the spring revival in trade unusually late this year. While the bulk of the increase in telegraph business has come from the merchandising trade it is also to be noted that renewed speculation stocks has accounted for no small part of the improvement indicating a revival of out-of-town interest in stocks on a formidable scale.

ANALYSIS of the balance sheet positions of 572 corporations in 31 industries, just completed by the Standard Statistics Company, Inc., develops some interesting data. It is shown that between the end of 1928 and the close of last year, the cash position of these corporations was reduced by about 8.9 per cent, while inventories increased 11.5 per cent and the value of plants, less depreciation increased by 6 per cent. No cause for concern is seen in the smaller cash resources of these corporations, the point being made that the shrinkage probably is reflected in expenditures for new plant, improvements, etc. Increased inventories, however, are subject to bearish interpretation for the reason that the inventory position has been steadily rendered less satisfactory. The immediate situation is not an uncomfortable one, but it is argued this particular condition will not warrant further aggravation without some measure of danger.

Friday's 5,676,000-share market, the second largest of the year to date, was one of the most unsettled and confused sessions of the current period, and, after floundering around for the greater part of five hours, the industrials closed lower. A mild panic on the Tokyo stock exchange was accepted as a convenient hook on which to hang a bear raid on industrial stocks and the bulls with difficulty held the selling move in check. Kennecott Copper dipped three points under the former low for the year, and the weakness in other copper stocks suggested a possible recession in red metal prices. A "tired" market is generally improved by a good rest. In anticipation of such an outcome, or until the market gives a clearer indication of its next movement, many of the Wall Street observers prefer to stay "on the fence." The motor stocks appear groomed for higher prices.

IN the opinion of the advisory staff of 21 large brokerage houses, United States Steel is regarded as the best all-around common stock investment of the day, with American Can, and Union Carbide close behind. Radio Keith Orpheum was selected as the stock expected to have the largest gain on a percentage basis during 1930, with International Nickel, Grigsby-Grunow, and Radio favorably looked upon in this classification. Issues with the best possibilities for the greatest advance in actual points included Auburn Auto, Deere & Co., United States Steel, and Electric Bond and Share in the order named.

Although the move of Standard Gas and Electric, well advertised before it spurted into new high ground for the year Friday, a study of the relative market valuations of other important utility organizations will bear out the statement of its sponsors that it is behind the market. Earnings for 1929 were close to $6.50 a share, which places its current market price at the most conservative ratios of any of the active utility shares.

DAILY TRUE STORY

"Spring!"

ABBEY WHITTAKER looked at the thermometer fastened outside of her kitchen window.

"Forty-four!" she murmured, and shivered, although the kitchen was warm.

"Seems if it ought to be warmer this time of year."

Alexander did not reply.

He did hop down from the chair cushion, however, and sharpen his claws on the kitchen table.

Abbey Whittaker and her cat, Alexander, were the sole occupants of the neat white house on Sylvan street. They had lived there alone for four years, since Abbey's father had passed on.

Abbey went through to the front room with a dust cloth and swished listlessly at imaginary dust. She glanced out of the window. Not a sign of buds on the white lilac nor the syringa bush. And there was the lawn, frozen, dusty dead grass.

Abbey sighed.

On the marble-topped table lay a catalog with a cover of sweet peas—her annual seed catalog. Abbey took it out into the kitchen and sat in the low rocker by the window where she could look out into her neat and deep back yard.

Every year she arranged her annuals differently. It was her delight to plan ahead, even to make diagrams on paper and be ready to spade up the soil according to the new diagram as soon as the frost was out of the ground.

Abbey Whittaker was 30, which she admitted readily enough. She was lonely, which she wouldn't admit even to herself. If she would fluff out her still glossy chestnut hair around her naturally red cheeks, she would have been pretty, but she preferred to draw it back neatly.

If only—

The doorbell. She admitted Mrs. Parkhurst, who lived seven houses down the street and had been a bride the same year that Abbey's mother was married.

Thoughts of Loneliness

"I told Jonas," Mrs. Parkhurst said, "that March came in warm, like a lamb, and so we're bound to have cold and snow into April."

"Oh, dear," murmured Abbey.

"I should think you'd be gettin' lonesome, Abbey. If only some nice big family had bought the Simpson house instead of that crusty old bachelor, Bruce, it would make it nicer for you."

Abbey actually blushed. That was exactly what she had been thinking when the doorbell sounded and she hated to admit of loneliness in her thoughts.

"I don't mind — we haven't spoken ten words during the time he's been there," Abbey said.

"But what with the church on one side and that hermit-like mysterious Mr. Bruce on the other, it's awful lonesome for you, Abbey."

"Mr. Bruce isn't mysterious, Mrs. Parkhurst. He works in the old stable he has made into a shop—he said once it was something about engines or motors."

"Well, that's what he says—land knows what he really does do. Might be makin' liquor for all we know—might blow up and send th' village afire, might—"

She paused to think of some other calamity.

"He bought those two lots across the street," Abbey told her.

"He did? Do you suppose he'll build a dirty factory there and ruin our street?"

"He didn't say and I didn't ask him. He minds his business, but he works late now and then, and keeps me awake with his hammering."

"I'd give him a piece of my mind, Abbey. Don't let no brute of a man run over you!"

Abbey smiled. She was thinking of poor little, wizened up, frightened Mr. Parkhurst.

When Mrs. Parkhurst finished her tea and cake and told Abbey tha' she ought to get rid of Alexander, because she read that cats carried disease, she was ready to go.

"I wish it would come Spring," Abbey said.

Abbey Is Shocked

"I'm not hankering for it—it's mud time, tracks into the house and Jonas gets all dirty pottering in the silly garden."

Abbey watched her tread heavily down the street.

"Old fool," she muttered, and then was frightened. She recalled that somewhere in the Bible was threatened dire punishment for calling another a fool.

There was heavy pounding in the back yard and Abbey looked out.

Mr. Bruce was building a fence. It was a hideous fence. The boards didn't match, some were painted, others not. Abbey was shocked.

She put on her hat and coat and went out.

"Is—is this to be permanent, Mr. Bruce?" she asked.

"Hope so," he said, briefly.

"It isn't very attractive."

"Doesn't have to be."

"It sort of spoils the effect—the two yards seemed so much longer and prettier instead of shut in, Mr. Bruce."

"Well, Miss, a fence is handy for many things. It's all on my land. Sorry you don't like it, but I've got a perfect right to build it."

"Oh, yes, I know—and you've got a right to paint your house yellow with purple spots and dump ashes and tin cans in your front yard, but it doesn't help keep Sylvan Street nice and pretty!"

"Huh!" grumbled Mr. Bruce.

Abbey marched into her house with angry pink spots in her cheeks.

"Men are so ditistable—all except you, Alexander," she said.

The next day the fence was evened off at the top and painted a soft shade of green. Abbey felt sorry that she had spoken the way she did about it.

For two more weeks she was out looking over her frozen up back yard and although she saw Mr. Bruce each time she never once spoke to him.

Then came three days of rain. After that came a week of warm weather. Two days of a downpour of rain and another sunny day.

The thermometer at Abbey's kitchen window showed a temperature of sixty-six.

Regrets Fence

Abbey collected her big basket of seeds, her garden tools and kneeling basket and went out.

Soon she was busy with stakes ang lines, and with spading fork and bags of fertilizer. She regretted the fence but had to make the most of it. It kept the early morning sun from her iris.

New rows of bulbs went into the ground, and the annuals were seeded. Some plants arrived and were set out.

A forgotten round patch of grass became starry with crocus.

"Hello there!" said a voice.

Abbey had been kneeling, back to the fence. She whirled around and tugged at her skirts, wondering if he had been staring at her legs.

"How do you get so much done? Did you start those glads in the house? You'll have tulips in a couple days, and is it damp enough there for that cephalanthus?"

Mr. Bruce was hanging over his new fence staring at her garden.

"Why, Mr. Bruce, do you know about cephalanthus? Does it need more dampness? I wondered why it didn't do any better—"

Abbey had gone over to the fence to speak to him.

"If you'd put that shrub next to the north foundation of your kitchen ell it would hide the bricks and keep enough in the shade to grow better, Miss Whittaker. I didn't notice your garden last year."

"I was sick last Spring and couldn't start it — thanks so much for your advice. I'll get a man to move the cephalanthus —"

"Ain't I man enough? Now's as good a time as ever," and Mr. Bruce hopped over his new green fence and started to spade a place for the shrub.

The next day Abbey asked Mr. Bruce what those long rows of mounds were.

"Sweet peas," he said.

"Do you dig down six inches, put in drainage pebbles and then loam?" she asked.

"No—that's new to me, Miss Whittaker."

"My sweet peas will beat yours," she boasted, timidly.

"Isn't the air wonderful?" Abbey exclaimed.

He agreed. His sleek, glossy cocker spaniel wagged his tail at Abbey and Alexander come out and sat on the fence.

Removes Fence

"Look out for your dog, Mr. Bruce. My cat is an awful dog hater—well, for land sakes!"

Alexander was rubbing up against the little black spaniel and he was licking the cat's head.

"They got chummy long ago. Thought you'd notice it," he said.

"I've always wanted twice as much garden," Abbey said, and then blushed again. "I didn't mean to hint about the fence," she added.

"The only thing that can take me from my motor experiments is a flower garden," Bruce confessed.

Abbey was sorry as she ate her dinner with Alexander at her feet—sorry she had been so catty about the fence. She worried about it that night and in the morning she was so startled when she glanced from the kitchen window that she dropped the water glass.

The fence had been removed!

Mr. Bruce came over as she worked.

"Like it, Miss Abbey?" he asked.

"If—if you did it because of the mean things I said—"

"Shucks, you were right. Say, why can't we make it all into one garden? Run rows of larkspur and balsam and such things right across both our yards? Each of us would get twice as much good out of it—and I've always wanted a big garden, same as you!"

"It would be lovely," Abbey agreed.

They worked together for hours in the warm sun. They rejoiced over the lilac buds and over some of the earlier flowers already coming up out of the ground.

"Look here, Abbey," Mr. Bruce said suddenly as Abbey was sitting on his wheelbarrow, "we can have a lovely garden here this year, but why can't we have a better one over there next year?"

"I—I don't understand, Mr. Bruce."

"Shucks, may name is Tom. Here's what I got in mind: My land across the street is 200 square. I'd build us a nice house——"

"Mr. Bruce!"

"Listen, Abbey, I wish you'd marry me—we can plan the new house and the big garden better. Next fall we'll rent these houses, and, since I don't have to work at motors, we might put in most of our time making a big flower garden—and enjoying it——"

Alexander rubbed up against the black spaniel. Abbey watched them.

"What say, Abbey?"

"Yes, Tom."

Action for Boulder Dam Appropriation Is Needed

Now is the time for Congress to pass the initial appropriations to start construction of Boulder Dam and get the economic benefit of putting men to work on a vast public improvement that will not increase taxes.

Boulder Dam will finance itself.

The secretary of the interior has worked out at least a practicable plan for disposition of Boulder Dam power. It has been accepted by the agencies in Southern California through which the entire cost of the Boulder Dam project will be repaid to the government.

Details of power contracts in accordance with the accepted plan should be worked out with all possible speed, and the contracts signed. When this is done, Secretary Wilbur immediately will ask Congress for appropriations with which to begin actual construction of the great dam.

He will present to Congress his valid contracts, with the reasons for his confidence that they will yield revenues that will AMORTIZE THE ENTIRE INVESTMENT OF THE GOVERNMENT WITHIN 50 YEARS.

Speed in finishing with detail and signing the contracts is ESSENTIAL.

Congress will adjourn about June 1, and unless the request for the Boulder Dam appropriation is made sufficiently early, the project WILL HAVE TO WAIT ANOTHER YEAR.

Desiring to provide for probable future needs of Arizona and Nevada, Secretary Wilbur has reserved for each of them 18 per cent of Boulder Dam power.

As demand arises either state can call for such power as it can use, and if later the need for that power ends it can be returned to the California lessees and claimed again as needed.

Sixty-four per cent of the power is subject to firm contracts between the government and California lessees, not to be affected by "draw-back" calls from outside the state.

Conceiving that after flood protection for Imperial Valley the provision for domestic water needs of Southern California cities will be the most important function of Boulder Dam, Secretary Wilbur has given the right of way to the metropolitan district in power allocation.

He insists that it must have all the power it will need to pump the full flow of its aqueduct over the intervening mountain hump.

To the metropolitan water district Dr. Wilbur allocates 36 per cent of all Boulder Dam power. In addition, he is awarding the district first call on as much as it needs of the portion of the 36 per cent of firm power which Arizona and Nevada do not use, and also first call on secondary power.

Los Angeles and 11 smaller municipalities will get 19 per cent—the smaller ones getting 6 per cent collectively and Los Angeles 13 per cent.

The Southern California Edison Company is allocated 9 per cent for itself and other Southern California private power corporations.

Until the metropolitan water district and Arizona and Nevada use all their power, Los Angeles and the Edison Company will divide the unused portions EQUALLY BETWEEN THEM.

The government will install the power machinery.

The Los Angeles Bureau of Power and Light will operate power units for itself, the metropolitan water district and the smaller municipalities, and will construct the transmission lines and transmit all of that power.

It is to be remembered that the most vital interest of the city of Los Angeles is in the metropolitan water district, of which it constitutes close to 85 per cent in assessed property valuation and in population and water needs. Los Angeles has reason to be satisfied with the Wilbur allocation.

The government and the city of Los Angeles will dominate the power enterprise at Boulder Dam.

On the other hand, the spread of benefits to include the smaller communities, some of them served by the power corporations, will unite Southern California behind the project and insure the financial and economic success of Boulder Dam and the Colorado River aqueduct.

Dr. Wilbur has sought to promote that unity.

Bathtubs

A Landmark in American History.

Bathtubs are usually considered a modern invention. Even within the memory of men now living the old Saturday night dip in a basin of water is still recalled. But recent researches show that the bathtub is of considerable antiquity. The Emperor Nero had one, and Napoleon had several. In our own country Alexander Hamilton was the owner of a tin tub, painted blue, and considered a dangerous novelty by many leading citizens.

Dolly Madison was the first "first lady" to install fixed bathtubs in the White House, and it is interesting to learn that when Andrew Jackson became President he had the "durn things" thrown out, saying that they represented something obnoxious to the common people. Times change. It would be hard to imagine the most democratic of Presidents nowadays making bathtubs an issue on which to win political support. He would probably lose an election if he insinuated that they were not a necessity in every American home.

It seems to us that the rise of the bathtub is more significant in American history than any of the events that historians dwell on. And the most hopeful sign, too. We offer it as evidence that, in spite of crime, in spite of divorce, in spite of fool laws and the thousand and other idiocies of life in our country, we really do progress. There is hope for a nation of bath addicts, and the bathtub is its symbol.

He Was Honest

Officials Were Shocked.

A doctor in Trenton, N. J., has upset the city tax department by a protest—not that his tax was too high, but that it was too low.

The doctor explained that a year ago, while associated with another physician, he asked for a reduction of his assessment. Since then, he has opened his own office and bought additional equipment.

"You were so decent about it that I thought the only decent thing to do now was to come and tell you about it," he said. "I want my tax raised."

When officials recovered they promised to adjust it to his satisfaction. But it is likely these cases don't happen often. A few more like that and the average tax collector—or anybody else—would die of the shock.

Human nature can't stand too much unmitigated honesty—it's not hardened to it.

Traffic Systems

A PHILADELPHIA archeologist dug 50 feet and discovered the ancient city of Ur.

Then he dug 10 more feet and was killed in the traffic.

"Bugs" Baer

That's our fattest problem today and it isn't on a diet.

The ancient and honorable City of Los Angeles figures it can duplicate some relief by eliminating the left turn which has caused so many delightful and refreshing civil actions.

Lot's wife made the first left turn in history. With the usual salty remarks to the traffic cop.

We favor the one-way street. That's all right with us because people never want to see us again anyway.

Might not be a bad idea to keep pedestrians off the street during banking hours.

Walking, at its best, is a bad habit. At its worst, it means a neat pressing and ironing by a laundry truck.

The business of following the arrow isn't going to get us anywhere. In fact, the Pilgrims didn't like the idea when it was first introduced by the Indians.

Big Chief Wannatooka let fly the first one through John Alden's hat and John followed the arrow right home.

The trouble with traffic regulations and conditions is that somebody is always improving them.

In the old hoss-and-buggy days you could go anywhere your mule wanted.

Now you skitter down the main drag where an automatic policeman winks its last warning. When you get to the corner and start to bend your gears you are arrested for turning a corner without 30 days' notice.

In the old days a red light on a street meant that the street was being dug up. Now it means that a $10 fine must be dug up.

There have been red and green lights in drugstores for a thousand years. That's why we have got the habit of not paying any attention to them.

We think the city should get a new traffic system and immediately discard it in favor of a better one.

IN THE AMERICAN TRADITION

By Herbert Kaufman

THE United States and Great Britain, enabled by a common tongue to reach common understandings, and Japan, which thinks diplomatically with an ANGLO-SAXON mind, are able to convince each other that they would hold no marked cards up their sleeve and agree to DULL their NAVAL SPURS.

But Chanticleer, arrogant, suspicious, cocky to the last, refuses to shorten gaffs.

Consequently, three-power limitation leaves the continent stewing in its old broths of jealousy and chauvinism.

French and Italian hopes of lighter budgets and reduced taxes are thus indefinitely rebuffed.

President Hoover may bring home a flitch of "triangle" bacon instead of the "five-star" brand which he ordered, but that's the sort which best suits our political digestion. It isn't infected with the TRICHINA of foreign entanglement of GALLIC CHOLERA, and it carries no embarrassing GUARANTEES on the label.

THE respective signators of the projected treaty conserve independence of future action and continue to paddle their own canoes.

The three nations simply decide to quit regardless of battleship and cruiser competition and retain STIPULATED relativities of maritime strength.

Ramsay MacDonald saves the Empire a hundred and twenty-five millions—the Hoover administration will soon be able to apply at LEAST that amount to income tax relief, and the Mikado's folk, manfully struggling under fiscal burdens, which national productivity never COULD afford, can divert the salvage to industrial and educational expansion.

We have notified France that our mind is still in the frame of Washington's—that the Old World cannot slap WILD DEUCE mortgages upon this country's youth and wealth, and the earlier her statesmen and our button-hunting Francophiles realize THAT, the better chance of our resuming reciprocal confidences and admirations.

THE Illinois elections also sound warning that we don't intend to enter the League of Nations or any of its SUBSIDIARY traps.

And that shrewd augur and wrath-cloud reader, Senator Watson, of Indiana, loses no time in so INTERPRETING the significance of the McCormick landslide, which DARES the Republican party to press the World Court issue.

The New York Assembly likewise indulges in a little handwriting on the wall, by indorsing the Culliver bill, which proposes a constitutional convention to repeal the Eighteenth Amendment.

Bishop Cannon and Dr. Wilson may laugh the gesture to SCORN, but even though the proposition IS fated to die aborning, its GHOST still stalks the land and haunts legislatures until prohibition mitigates present severities of enforcement or incites repudiation.

THE Jones act MUST yield its claws to popular demand, despite Attorney General Mitchell's academic views to the contrary.

Mr. Wickersham, after a year of fingering the community pulse, realizes that the fevers and fervors of reform are MOUNTING, and speaks with authority of a DISPASSIONATE survey, when he recommends antidotal action from a revised federal code, with punishments proportionate to Volstead violation.

Meanwhile, the DIGEST poll daily measures the growth of national revulsion against the Anti-Saloon League dictation and clerical power behind the throne of Democracy.

Prohibition is MANIFESTLY in no immediate peril of repeal, but its revocation is CERTAIN, if it does not soon dissolve partnership with intolerance and heed the counsels of moderation.

You can LEAD the American people to water, but you can't FORCE it down their throats.

∴ LISTEN, WORLD ∴

By Elsie Robinson

WE'RE always condemning people because they don't come up to our ideals, getting mad at them because they won't fit in with some delightful picture which we've painted.

All our lives we've cherished that picture, priding ourselves on its perfection. Then along comes a new friend, or a new wife or husband, and at once we decide that they are Our Dream Come True. And for a while such seems to be the case. Then gradually we realize that we have made a mistake. Why, they're not what we thought they were at all! They're full of faults. Horrid faults. Silly little ways. They've bad tempers. And they fib. And tell stupid jokes. And are lazy and untidy, and oh, so inconsiderate. In fact, they fall short of all our lovely standards.

So we feel ourselves cheated and become indignant and consumed with self-pity. How can they fail us so when we've trusted them to live up to our ideals! How dreadful — how ungrateful of them to act like that when we had put them on a pedestal. What coarse creatures they are not to have appreciated our beautiful pedestal! All we asked of them was to be perfect and let us worship them. And instead they insist on expressing their own unworthy natures—thereby outraging our feelings and betraying our trust. So we wail and wheeze — NEVER REALIZING OUR OWN FOLLY AND UNFAIRNESS.

We are very proud of ourselves because we put people on pedestals and indulge in romantic ideals, but there is really little beauty or sense in such an attitude. We don't erect pedestals because we're wise and noble—we erect them because we're lazy and cowardly. It isn't hard to invent romantic ideals. It is a most pleasant form of fantasy in which all adolescents indulge and through which they find escape from unpleasant reality. It is very hard and painful to face reality and accept life as it is and people as they are.

So, to escape such difficulty, we make pedestals — AND PUT OUR BEST BELOVEDS IN THE DOG-HOUSE IF THEY WON'T STAY ON 'EM.

We have no more right to park people on pedestals than we have to cram them into straightjackets. And they do not wrong us, nor prove their own unworthiness, if they refuse to stay parked or crammed. People have a right to be themselves. That is their supreme right and their first duty. And we have no right to interfere with such expression in order to gratify our own sentimentality or bossiness. IT IS BETTER TO BE A FIFTH RATE, HONEST EXPRESSION OF YOUR OWN SELF THAN A FIRST RATE COPY OF ANYONE ELSE'S IDEAL.

THE SCIENCE OF LIFE

By H. G. WELLS
In Collaboration With
Prof. Julian Huxley and George P. Wells.

WE HAVE already spoken of the extraordinary transformation that overtakes the young sea-squirt.

Here the sedentary adult animal, bearing only faintest indications of its real relationship, passes its early life in a tadpole-like form which shows all the salient points of the chordate plan, the notochord, tubular nervous system along the back, and the gill-slits.

If the gelatinous sea-squirt is not a degenerate chordate, why should its larval form be so entirely chordate? What creative idea is served by this hesitation in its development?

H. G. Wells

A much less all-pervading example, but none the less a very pretty one, we have already cited in the early horse-stock.

The three-toed Merychippus had an elaborate grinding pattern on its permanent premolar teeth; but the pattern of the milk-teeth was simpler, like the pattern of the permanent teeth in geologically earlier and more primitive horse-ancestors.

Here we can actually put side by side the adult ancestral form and its young descendant recapitulating it before passing on to the more highly evolved structure.

A beautiful example of recapitulation comes in the life-history of the common feather-star. This is an echinoderm belonging to the crinoid class.

The great majority of the class spend their adult lives rooted to the bottom; they are the stalked sea-lilies which wave their graceful, branching arms far down in the abyss, and in the past they were so abundant as to have built up whole layers of rock with their skeletons.

From such forms as these the freely-swimming feather-stars have evolved. But the feather-star, too, begins its adult existence with a fixed stage. For some weeks it lives and grows rooted to the bottom like a sea-lily. Only later does it abandon this sea-lily guise, break off from its stalk, which is left to die, and become a free-creeping feather-star.

An interesting case among plants of the preservation of phases of the ancestral life cycle which are now necessary, is that of the maidenhair tree or gingko. This lovely tree, with its leaves like little fans, is extinct in the wild state, but has been preserved to us by being cultivated as a sacred tree in the gardens of Chinese temples.

It is a naked-seeded plant, related to the pines and firs. As in all other seed-plants, its fertilization is effected by means of pollen.

The pollen-grain, as we have already explained in Book Two, if it alight on the pistil of a female flower, sends down a long tube toward the egg-cell embedded in the ovary.

From its original single nucleus are produced by division: two of these nuclei act as male gametes, either of them capable of fertilizing the egg.

In almost all seed plants these male gametes are merely more or less ordinary neuclei which pass down the tube to the ovum; but in the gingko and the cyads the nuclei, associating themselves with some of the surrounding protoplasm, become transformed into two actively swimming, ciliated sperms, like the sperms of a fern or a moss or a seaweed, which swim on within the tube to fertilize the egg.

They would get there just as surely, we judge from the higher plants, if they had no cilia. These tiny sperms are as revealing as the gillslits in our own embryonic neck.

They show that once upon a time, a very remote time, the ancestors of seed plants lived in the water, where free-swimming sperms provide the natural method of achieving fertilization.

And here, long after the pollen tube had been evolved to provide a dry method of fertilization for dry land plants, the motile character of these transitory sperms survive to recall the watery past.

Even in some much more modern plants, like the sunflower, though cilia are no longer formed, the fertilizing male nuclei still assume corkscrew shapes in recapitulation of the coiled, swimming sperms of many lower plants.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, April 14.—Diary of a modern Pepys: Awake before daylight and out with my wife to walk through the glistening dew of the park, the earliest up since days on the farm. And on Columbus avenue two tipsy girls in a taxi called to me: "Good morning, old high pocket!" at which my spouse laughed uproariously.

Passing the Hotel Hargrave, where we first lived in New York, we stopped for breakfast but felt perfect strangers; there being not a familiar face. And I wondered if others are touched by a melancholy in visiting old scenes, it being so disturbing I have not visited my home town in 20 years.

Home to labor and came Eva Steinmetz and Otis Ralston and later to the Chatham to Charles and Kathleen Norris' tea and an outpouring of the literati there. Then on to a play, an expensive production that was booed and hissed, and so affected me I slept fitfully through the night.

My moments at the radio recitals have furnished nothing memorable but there is an exception which offers hope. A pugilist at the Garden was knocking his opponent goofy and finally put over a haymaker to the chin. Rushing to the microphone the victor gurgled: "I'll be right home, mamma dear."

* * *

A prosperous Wall Street is reflected in generous tipping and vice versa. Doormen, waiters, hat checkers and others whose incomes consist largely of tips have found gratuities cut in half since the market bust.

* * *

A go-getter hat checker—he has often garnered $100 a week with his concession in a speak-easy—tells me of a trick to bring customers back, especially in the winter. Where overcoats are tailor made, the name of the owner is inside the pocket. He peeks at names, memorizes them and when an owner departs calls out cheerfully: "Come again Mr. Soandso." And the old soandso does.

* * *

A number of wealthy men refuse to tip coat room attendants. Among the hold-outs are a theatrical magnate, a bank president, a famous inventor, an ex-judge of a supreme court and, O, yes almost forgot—One Eye Connelly.

Frank Case, proprietor of the Algonquin, was the first hotel man to display a coat room sign: "Please do not tip attendants." He was also first to abolish the bar in his hotel, long before prohibition. It is noticed, too, that despite the newer hotels about him, his continues to prosper.

While motoring upstate, Harry Hirshfield inquired of an old gentleman along the highway if he might take a certain road to Albany. "Yes," was the reply, "but bring it back. We had a heck of a time getting it."

* * *

What many consider the most finished dramatic review of the season was dashed off in 20 minutes to catch an edition. And there is no good reason for not blurting out the names of Gilbert Gabriel as the critic who did it and "Green Pastures" the name of the show he reviewed.

Personal nomination for the most obliging sales clerk in town—Dave Levy at Nat Lewis' on Broadway.

There are few newcomers to New York who do not spend the first year wondering why they came and the next five wondering why they didn't come sooner. Nobody comes to the metropolis, however, without head waggers warning them they are making a grave mistake. And sometimes they are right.

"Biographies," write Tim D., of Dallas, "are now being written about everybody. Maybe they will soon begin immortalizing columnists. Indeed, cheer up, they may even get around to you."

Bruce Barton is all ready writing mine. The title is: "The Man Nobody Reads."

ONCE OVERS

By J. J. Mundy

BECAUSE you have no children do you feel that you have no interest in undertakings for the benefit of children?

Have you schooled yourself to think that charitable undertakings in your town or village have no claim on your purse strings?

Because you have provided enough for your old age by your own efforts, do you think that it is not up to you to aid those who are less fortunate?

Do you belong to the class that believes that everyone who finds himself or herself unfortified in unproductive years must have been a spendthrift, and as such not deserving of help?

Perhaps you were fortunate and had parents who gave you a good education and put you on your feet financially. At any rate, they endowed you with brains and gave you the upward boost.

Those who have not been so favored are not necessarily improvident.

And if they are lacking in the money you think should be theirs at their age it may be due to small wages and misfortune, not to any fault of their own.

You may have had better opportunities to make progress and prosper and it is your duty to do your utmost to help those less fortunate.
